JUDGE PROBES STORY OF GANG THREAT TO BAIN

Knows Nothing of It, Says Banker's Son.

A report that Edward "Spike" [illegible], south side gangster, had [illegible] John Bain had of a debt of twelve [illegible] which he paid last June, [illegible] over sale of one of [illegible] after [illegible] had been closed was investigated into this [illegible] after [illegible] for Judge [illegible] Feinberg. [illegible] The judge is [illegible] to [illegible] of assets of [illegible] Inc., a holding company [illegible] which was placed in the hands of a receiver on Aug. 7. After a number of witnesses had been questioned in a futile effort to find assets [illegible] to the receiver, the judge called Robert Bain, son of the ex-banker, to the witness stand.

Questioned About Report.

"Were you living with your father at 5644 Pleasant street, [illegible] the time the banks were closed?" Judge Feinberg asked.

Bain said that he was and [illegible] to answer to other questions [illegible] was cognizant of most of his father's affairs at that time.

"Did [illegible] the banks closed, did certain men come to your home and demand a sum of money?"

"I never heard of such an incident," replied Bain.

"You are sure?" persisted the judge.

"If it had happened I think I would have known it," replied the witness.

Surprised by the Story.

After further questioning, he revealed:

"I did hear that such a thing had happened, that a gangster had come to the house and forced my father to get some money from the banks. But I was surprised, and if such a thing had occurred I think my father would have told me about it."

"Where is your father now?" asked the judge. The elder Bain testified in court on Tuesday.

"In the hospital awaiting an operation," said the son.

"Well, I don't want to bother him in his present condition," Judge Feinberg said, "but I wish you would see him about that incident."

Young Bain promised that he would do so.

Never Names O'Donnell.

It was reported that the gangster mentioned was O'Donnell and that he had deposits amounting to $20,000 in one of the Bain banks when they closed. On the day after the closing O'Donnell, according to the story, appeared at the Bain home and insisted upon getting his money back. After some argument Bain got him the money, it was rumored.

The phrase, "I don't recall," recurred constantly during the hearing. Robert Bain aroused Judge Feinberg by his repeated use of it.

"If 'don't recall,' just what do you recall?" asked the judge. "Do you mean that you don't know or are you referring to the phrase for convenience? I want the facts, young man, and I mean to have them."

The witness insisted that he used the phrase to mean "I do not know."

Asset Search Continues.

Apparently Judge Feinberg questioned the directors and stockholders of [illegible] Inc., and was able to discover one who had paid cash for stock in the company.

Robert Bain, another son of the banker, added an explanation which [illegible] something of the manner in which the corporation was conducted.

"I told what my father told me to do," he said when Judge Feinberg expressed surprise at his ignorance of certain of the company's transactions. Bain said he had subscribed for stock in the corporation without knowing what he was doing, except "in a general way."

"I did what your dad told you to do as a good, dutiful son," commented Judge Feinberg.

"Whatever my father judged was right, I did," reaffirmed the son.

Tells of Threats.

Bain said he had as assets a home and an automobile. He left the home at 6344 West 64th place because he "was threatened," he testified.

LAWMAKERS' BLUES FILL AIR IN SPRINGFIELD

Fear Voters' Stand Next Spring.

BY PARKE BROWN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—Gloom settled over the capital of Illinois tonight on the eve of the special session of the general assembly. There were comparatively few early arrivals and those that did come in were doubtful and worried. To some observers they seemed to act like a group of surgeons and white garbed nurses about to go into the operating room to cut up a patient who might or might not pull through. The best they would hazard was that they hoped things would be all right.

As they look at it tonight, the early comers fear they will have to pass the state income tax law and the tobacco tax proposed by the Emmerson revenue conference as the central structure of a plan designed primarily for the relief of the local governments of Cook county, but which also will benefit many of the downstate counties.

They Fear the Voters.

But looking at their problem from the political standpoint, the legislators feel a bit chilly about their pedal extremities, because nearly all of them—all except the senators from the odd numbered districts—have to stand for reelection within a few months. The primary is in April. The opposition to the income tax, plus that against the tobacco tax, constitutes an army that will be a power at the polls.

In addition, the few Chicagoans who have come in tonight fear that they may arouse the ire of their home political organizations if they support the measures to do away with the present taxing machinery in Chicago —five assessors and three members of the board of review—and substitute an appointive board consisting of a single assessor and two reviewers.

However, they were relieved tonight to see no signs of any organization opposition to this proposal.

Bosses Seem Willing.

No messages have been received from the Chicago bosses demanding the slaughter of the reconstruction plan. At least for the time being, there is a feeling that those bosses feel the old system is doomed and are willing to aid in working out a new system of levy and review.

However, this bit of consolation has not lightened the gloom that hangs over the lobbies of the hotels where members congregate. It seems to be the general opinion now that previous estimates of a six week session have been ultra-conservative.

It has been suggested by several veterans that, with the governor's call so all inclusive as it seems to be, there will be introduced a medley of bills that will require at least two months work to handle.

There also is a serious doubt whether any of the bills approved by the Emmerson Chicago conference will be ready for consideration this week.

Call Feared Premature.

There are those here who believe the governor's special call was premature, that he summoned the lawmakers together before the principal program was ready and acted chiefly because of a down-state desire for rush action on the pauper relief statute without waiting for the completion of relief program agreed on by his executive committee headed by Joseph K. Brittain.

Nevertheless, Gov. Emmerson still feels that if the two houses will get down to hard work for four or five days a week, they will be able to complete their job this month. In answer legislators point out that next week will be broken up by Armistice day and that Thanksgiving day probably will cause an early week-end recess three weeks hence.

In others words, the legislature does not appear to like its job and its operations might even drag along into the holidays.

OPPOSE INCOME TAX

Entraining for Springfield last night Chicago legislative leaders of both parties took slaps at the proposed income tax law sponsored by the governor's revenue commission, because it omits corporations from those taxed. The small-salaried workers must bear the burden, according to the assemblymen, who termed this an injustice.

Michael L. Igoe, Democratic minority leader in the house and a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination, said:

"The entire report of the commission appears to be a program for the

Chas. Netcher Dies; Is Victim of Rare Fever

Charles Netcher, president of the Boston store, died last evening at the Michael Reese hospital. He was 39 years old. His death followed an eighteen months' fight to rid himself of an attack of Malta, or undulant, fever, a disease once fairly common in Mediterranean regions, but comparatively rare in the United States.

Mr. Netcher was informed that he had contracted the disease, probably by drinking milk from an infected animal, a year and a half ago. In his search for a cure he went to Europe and more recently spent a number of weeks at the Johns Hopkins university clinic in Baltimore.

No Hope of Recovery.

He was told at Johns Hopkins more than a month ago that he had practically no hope of recovery. He returned to his home at 40 East Burton place, but within a short time was removed to Michael Reese hospital. The immediate cause of death was the failure of his heart, weakened by the long siege of fever.

The long hours which he put in at his work at the store in the first months after he learned that he had contracted the disease undoubtedly weakened him and contributed to his death, his physicians said.

Born in Chicago in 1892.

Mr. Netcher was born in Chicago on April 11, 1892, the son of the late Charles Netcher, founder of the Boston store, and Mrs. Mollie Netcher, now Mrs. Mollie Netcher Newbury. After attending the Sheffield scientific school of Yale university he entered the store. Under the training of his mother, who took charge of the business following the death of his father in 1904, he became president of the concern ten years ago.

He married Miss Gladys Oliver in 1919. The widow and two children, Francice, 12 years old, and Mollie, 8 years old, survive. Mr. Netcher is also survived by his mother and two brothers, Townsend and Irving Netcher.

The funeral will be held Saturday in St. Chrysostom's Episcopal church. The hour of the services had not been definitely determined last night.

Disease Discovered on Island.

Malta fever, the disease which caused Mr. Netcher's death, got its name from the island of Malta in the Mediterranean, where it was first discovered. In the nineteenth century it took a heavy toll among the British garrison on the island, until the micro-organism which caused it was discovered and the cause of the disease traced to milk from goats harboring the germs.

A stop was put to the disease there by banishing goats' milk from the military and naval diet, and at Gibraltar similar occurrences of the disease stopped when the importation of goats from Malta stopped. The disease is believed to have been brought to the United States by importation of Maltese goats to Texas. Cattle are also infected occasionally.

The disease is characterized by intermittent periods of high fever, from which it takes its other name, undulant fever. Other symptoms are somewhat similar to those of typhoid fever. It is not always fatal, but physicians know no sure cure.

Roquefort Cheese? Ruling of Dead King Fixes Recipe

ROUEN, France, Nov. 4.—(AP)—It took the testimony of a dead king of France, Charles VI., to decide when a Roquefort cheese is not a Roquefort cheese. Manufacturers of cheese which is made from cows' milk were called to court by competitors. The latter produced "letters of patent," under the hand and seal of King Charles, in which it was set forth that real Roquefort cheese had to be made from the milk of ewes.

Borrows $193 to Pay for Funeral; a Thief Takes It

Henry Stremel, 2006 Sheffield avenue, went to a loop bank yesterday and borrowed $193. The money was to be used to pay for the funeral of his wife. With the money in his pocket, Stremel boarded a Lincoln avenue car. Near Ashland avenue he felt a stranger tugging at his pocket. Stremel tried to hold the man, but the latter broke away, jumped off the car, and fled. With him he took Stremel's borrowed funeral money.

U. S. MISSIONARY IN CHINA KIDNAPED AND KILLED BY BANDITS

NANKING, China, Nov. 5 [Thursday.]—(AP)—United States Consul General W. R. Peck was advised today that J. W. Vinson, missionary of Lexington, Va., was killed by bandits who captured him Sunday near Haichow, Kiangsu province.

News of Vinson's slaying was contained in a telegram to Peck from Dr. Lorenzo Morgan of the American Presbyterian mission at Haichow, of which Vinson was a member. It was Dr. Morgan who reported the kidnaping Sunday. Presumably Vinson was killed yesterday, as Morgan's telegram reporting his death was dated yesterday. It was delayed in transmission from Haichow.

Consul General Peck informed the Nationalist foreign office of the missionary's death and requested the government to seek details of the slaying. Vinson is survived by his widow, also a member of the mission staff at Haichow, and three children.

Jurors' 30 Ct. Cigarets Cost $246 in Talk

Jurors in Chicago courts can no longer smoke at the county's expense. They must buy their own. This was decided by the county commissioners yesterday.

The action was proposed by Mrs. Glenn E. Plumb, a commissioner, during committee meetings as the commissioners were about to discuss a five year $45,845,000 road construction program. She took the floor as Commissioner Homer J. Byrd prepared to present a tentative report of the highway department listing 103 projects.

"I would like to know about a bill for feeding a jury," she said. "What shall we do with it?"

Michael O'Connor, clerk of the board, explained that the county had contracted to pay for petit jurors' meals in the county building while those of the criminal court are fed in the jail.

Reveals Cigaret Bill.

"This is no petit jury," Mrs. Plumb shouted. "The bill is for $26. I'd call that a grand jury. There's an item here for two packages of cigarets at 30 cents. Do we have to pay for smokes too?"

"Don't you like the brand?" Commissioner Daniel Ryan asked. "You know if a jury can't reach a verdict they reach for . . ."

"And you know they must keep kissable," added Mrs. Mary McEnerney. "Think of their wives."

"I don't like the brand," said Mrs. Plumb. "But I do think if a jury can eat that much on the county they ought to buy their own cigarets. They ought not to eat that much anyhow—that's $2 for each juror and 50 cents ought to be enough."

The discussion on the cigaret item continued for fifteen minutes. It was brought to a halt when Commissioner Ryan said that the 30 cents meant nothing, inasmuch as the county had no funds available to meet the bill. The commissioners agreed that the county should not provide tobacco.

Estimates Cost at $225.

A statistician estimated the discussion on the 30 cent item cost the county $225 on a compilation of the salaries of the commissioners and department heads present. The compilation was made on the assumption that the officials work eight hours a day 300 days a year.

"The estimate is wrong," J. L. Jacobs, county efficiency expert said. "It should be $246."

The $45,845,000 road construction program was dismissed with almost no discussion. The preliminary report was referred to the regular county board meeting today.

Legion Fights for Vet Held in Beer Case

The Cook County Council of the American Legion adopted a resolution last night protesting against the action of Assistant United States District Attorney Walter Wiles for his recommendation before Federal Judge Barnes last Tuesday that Charles L. Wiley, world war veteran, be held on a charge of conspiracy to violate the prohibition law.

Earlier, Mayor Cermak, prompted by the same incident, ordered Commissioner James P. Allman to investigate the activities of six city policemen assigned to the offices of the dry administrator.

How Incident Started.

The incident started over a janitor, Boleslaw Lidikewicz, 3901 North Kimball avenue, who was sentenced to 60 days in jail and fined $100 for possession of two half barrels of real beer. When Wiley interceded for him, admitting he had asked Lidikewicz to make him some beer, prosecutor Wiles insisted that Judge Barnes hold him for conspiracy. Wiley, who is a tenant in the Kimball avenue building, was released on bail, and later Prosecutor Wiles was withdrawn from the case.

Last night's Legion meeting, attended by 200 commanders and past commanders of posts, was marked by acrimonious discussion, in which Wiles was assailed as a "puppet of Dr. Clarence True Wilson," dry leader. One paragraph of the resolution stated:

"We understand that Comrade Wiley sent for Comrade Nelson Metz, commander of his Legion post. Comrade Metz went to Assistant District Attorney Wiles and, we are informed, found him seated at his desk, fondling a sheet of clippings from the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals.

Asks "Public Protest."

The resolution in conclusion called for a "public protest" against Wiles' action as a "manifestation of the same intolerant and un-American spirit which actuates the advocates of a small navy and a lowering of the national defense," and asks district attorney "to right the wrong that has been done."

Treasurer Patrick O'Reilly read the resolution, which was offered by Thomas J. Wren. O'Reilly declared he resented the attitude of the national administration on prohibition, and asserted the action of the national convention at Detroit in attacking the dry law "was weak." "We Legionnaires are already feeling the results of that weak stand," he said.

Cermak Launches Inquiry.

Mayor Cermak's interest in the Wiley case followed information that city policemen assigned to the prohibition bureau, helped make liquor raids without warrants. The raid on Lidikewicz was made without warrant, but according to Prosecutor Wiles, it was legal. Wiles said that Policeman George Melican assisted in the raid. It was said yesterday that the city policemen attached to the prohibition bureau are sometimes sent downstate on prohibition investigations.

Mayor Cermak said that he had some understanding that a few policemen were assigned to the prohibition department. "But I didn't know that they were making arrests without warrants," he commented. "The policemen were working for the government before I took office. I intend to make an investigation." Immediately he ordered Allman to look into the matter. The order was one of Mayor Cermak's first actions following his return to Chicago from New York.

DEMOCRATS SEE 1932 VICTORY IN TUESDAY'S VOTE

Dry Law Opponents Also Cheered.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—As a possible harbinger of the election of a Democratic President next year, the Democratic trend in the elections yesterday claimed paramount attention today wherever the politically minded gathered.

Democratic leaders saw a sure omen of success next year in the capture by the Democrats of one of the three Republican house seats at stake in the congressional by-elections, in the election of Democratic governors in New Jersey and Kentucky, in the wrestling from the Republicans of control of the legislatures in New Jersey and Connecticut, and in the displacement of Republican by Democratic mayors in numerous cities in Massachusetts, Connecticut, and New York.

Cites Historical Precedent.

Particularly prophetic did the Democrats pronounce their gain of a house seat in the 8th Michigan congressional district, which foreshadows the election of a Democratic speaker and the organization of house committees by the Jeffersonians. The overturn of the house majority in an off year election frequently has been the forerunner of a change in party control of the presidency.

Republican leaders minimized these reverses of the G. O. P., dwelling instead on the retention by an increased plurality of the Longworth congressional district in Cincinnati and the retention of Republican control of the New York assembly.

Fess Blames Prohibition.

The Republicans comforted themselves by ascribing their loss of the 8th Michigan district to the prohibition issue. If it hadn't been for the fact that their candidate was a dry and the Democratic candidate a rampant wet, the result would have been different, according to Senator Simeon D. Fess, chairman of the Republican national committee. In proof of which contention, he pointed to the Longworth district, in which the prohibition issue did not figure, because both the Republican and Democratic candidates were dripping wet. There, the issue was narrowed to one of indorsement or repudiation of the Hoover administration and Hoover won the verdict by 20,000, compared with the 3,500 plurality the late representative, Nicholas Longworth [Rep.] received last year.

Mr. Fess thought that a pretty good indication of what the verdict on Mr. Hoover will be next year, throughout the country—that is, of course, wherever the issue is unclouded by prohibition.

Recall Longworth's Story.

Incidentally it is interesting to recall Mr. Longworth's explanation of his narrow plurality. It appears that, although a wet, he was not wet enough to suit his constituents. He was accused of favoring the Anti-Saloon league in his rulings as speaker of the house on dry legislation. He denied the truth of the accusation, but said it had cost him thousands of votes.

Wet leaders here were jubilant over the five victories registered in the elections yesterday. Matthew Woll and I. M. Hornburn, respectively chairman and secretary-treasurer of organized labor's national committee for modification of the Volstead act, joined in a statement in which they contended that congress could not overlook that wet majorities had dominated Tuesday's congressional contests.

Wet leaders said the election was "a warning to pussyfooting Republicans who think they can fool the people on this issue." The Republican gubernatorial campaign in New Jersey and the Republican congressional campaign in the 8th Michigan district were cited as instances of futile "pussyfooting."

Wet Vote Grows Dangerous.

The gain of a wet seat in Michigan, coupled with the wet gains made in the 1930 congressional elections, brings the number of avowed opponents of prohibition in the house up to about 150, compared with 100 in the last congress.

Some wet leaders in congress, including C. J. Linthicum of Maryland, believe it will be possible to pass a three per cent beer law modifying the Volstead act at the coming session of congress and to take preliminary steps for repeal of the 18th amendment at the next session. A hard fight over the prohibition appropriation is predicted during the coming session. An effort to cut the prohibi-

sion budget to a figure which would at least be in line with the cuts given other activities of the government under the Hoover economy régime is sure to be made.

The tremendous Democratic victory in Jersey surprised even the Democrats. They won the governorship by 250,000 or more. The Democrats carried the Fifth congressional district, which is to elect a successor to Representative Ernest A. Ackerman, Republican, on Dec. 1, by an overwhelming plurality of 9,000 votes. The outcome has raised grave doubts of whether the Republicans can retain this seat in congress.

Hoover Has No Comment.

President Hoover devoured the newspapers, but otherwise manifested no interest in the election results, according to the White House secretariat and to callers who saw him during the day.

The Democratic national committee exuded exultation. Jouett Shouse, chairman of the executive committee, emphasized that the Democrats had gained everywhere and lost nowhere, and added:

"The majority of the house of representatives is definitely Democratic now, and I think we are safe in assuming that any changes in that lineup will be merely in the direction of further Democratic gains.

"In short, the picture shows that the trend away from the Hoover administration which was so marked in the election of 1930 continues and so gives a clear indication of what may be anticipated for the national election of 1932."

To the Republican national headquarters Chairman Fess was unable to impart his own optimism. It was stated there would be no comment by the committee on the elections results.

Drys Have Slim Satisfaction.

About the only satisfaction the drys could find in the results was the defeat of Al Smith in his effort to procure the rejection of the reforestation amendment to the New York constitution sponsored by Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, leading candidate for the Democratic nomination for President. The national prohibition board of strategy proclaimed that this eliminates Smith "from the list of 1932 presidential possibilities."

The universal opinion among politicians is that Gov. Roosevelt is strengthened materially as a presidential aspirant by his victory over Smith on the question of the reforestation amendment, inconsequential though that question is outside of New York. The point is that had the governor been defeated the impression would have been created that Smith is sufficiently powerful to deprive Roosevelt of the support of the New York delegation to the Democratic national convention and hence sufficiently powerful in all probability to prevent the nomination of the governor.

Raises Roosevelt's Standing.

With Smith beaten the contrary impression is created, that the governor possesses the backing of his party in his state and has little to fear from the opposition of Smith.

The incident has served to give special prominence to the rift between Smith, the titular head of the Democratic party, and the young aspirant to the presidency who three times placed Smith in nomination for that office and whom Smith induced to run for governor in 1928, thus making Roosevelt a presidential possibility. The causes of Smith's coolness to Roosevelt are shrouded in mystery. Some think Al wants the nomination, others that he merely wants to name the candidate and prefers another: Newton D. Baker or Owen Young or Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland.

That Smith is organizing to beat Roosevelt, if possible, is now apparent. That is believed to be the reason for the visit of Mayor Cermak of Chicago to New York during which he proclaimed that Illinois Democrats want a wet who is acceptable to Smith—Senator J. H. Lewis, for example. Unfortunately for the mayor, Senator Lewis immediately declared prohibition a secondary issue.

ROOSEVELT WINS A MINOR POINT TO GAIN BIG VICTORY

Defeating Al Smith Gives Him Ascendancy.

BY TOM PETTEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 4.—[Special.]—National and state Democratic strongholds buzzed today with discussions of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt's victory over former Gov. Alfred E. Smith on the reforestation amendment in yesterday's general election.

Mr. Smith, titular head of the Democratic party, who is considered by many political observers to have "lost face" by his failure to control the issue, withheld specific comment on his tilt with Gov. Roosevelt in his after election statement.

"The constitution is the people's law," said Mr. Smith, "and can be altered or omended by direct vote of our citizens. They have exercised their right in accordance with their judgment. I am a Democrat. I believe very firmly in the rule of the majority. The general result of the election throughout the country is gratifying to Democrats."

Roosevelt Elated.

Gov. Roosevelt was plainly elated at the result of his contest with the former governor. He was asked if he considered it a personal victory?

"O, get out," said Mr. Roosevelt, smiling broadly.

The governor exhibited much interest in the outcome of the assembly election which leaves the Republicans with the same voting control they had last year, 80 to 70.

With Smith and Roosevelt both silent, politicians are chiefly concerned as to whether the brush over state trees may be the forerunner of a conflict between the two party leaders in the next national convention.

Future Relations Uncertain.

The future relations of Mr. Smith and Gov. Roosevelt are decidedly uncertain, according to informed circles. Mr. Roosevelt has been considered for almost a year as the outstanding Democratic candidate for the presidential nomination. Mr. Smith, by opposing the amendment that Gov. Roosevelt enthusiastically supported, served notice to the country that all was not peaceful among the party leaders in this state.

Some of the state leaders feel that Gov. Roosevelt now is in a position to dictate to Al Smith. Others believe, in view of the fact that Smith fought the amendment almost singlehanded, the victory is only slightly impressive. The latter pointed out that in many of the cities and counties upstate the amendment was voted down by substantial majorities and that it was adopted largely through Tammany support in New York City. The fact, however, that Tammany turned to Roosevelt instead of Smith was considered as significant. The final outcome of the apparent break remains clouded and another test may be necessary before it can be definitely said that Al Smith does not still hold the veto power of the party in the state.

HOOVER WILLING TO HAVE CHICAGO GET CONVENTION

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—President Hoover will interpose no opposition to the selection of Chicago as the place for holding the Republican national convention next June, according to Senator Otis F. Glenn [Rep., Ill.]. The senator, during a call at the White House today, took occasion to boost Chicago for the convention city. He particularly sought the indorsement of the President.

Mr. Hoover, the senator said, gave him to understand that he has no preference in the matter and that he does not intend to take any hand in the selection. The decision, the President emphasized, is to be made by the Republican national committee, without intervention by the White House. The committee is to meet Dec. 15 to select the convention city and issue the call for the conclave.

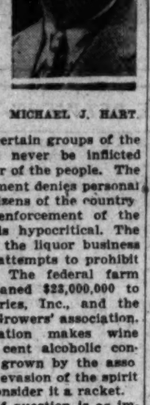
DEMOCRATIC WINNER IN MICHIGAN GIVES VIEWS ON DRY LAW



MICHAEL J. HART.

Saginaw, Mich., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—Michael J. Hart, Democrat, elected to congress yesterday, thereby breaking a 33 year tenure of the seat from this district, today gave an outline of his views. On prohibition he holds:

"The eighteenth amendment should never have been written into the constitution. It is a police law.

"You cannot legislate about man's morals. This is a matter for education alone.

"The views of certain groups of the population should never be inflicted upon the remainder of the people. The eighteenth amendment denies personal liberties to the citizens of the country.

"The present enforcement of the prohibition laws is hypocritical. The government is in the liquor business on one hand and attempts to prohibit it on the other. The federal farm board recently loaned $23,000,000 to the Fruit Industries, Inc., and the California Grape Growers' association. The first corporation makes wine bricks of 22 per cent alcoholic content from grapes grown by the association. This is an evasion of the spirit of the law and I consider it a racket.

CERMAK, HOME, SEES DEMOCRAT CONVENTION HERE

Reports Eastern Chiefs Are for Chicago.

BY ARTHUP EVANS.

Mayor Cermak on his return from New York yesterday said the prospects are that the Democratic national convention next June will come to Chicago. During his eastern trip the mayor conferred with party leaders in New York, New Jersey, Maryland, and Pennsylvania, and he says they give the impression that the eastern chiefs favor bringing the big party conclave to Illinois. Among other cities which are bidding for the convention are Kansas City, Cleveland, and San Francisco, where the Democrats met in 1920.

"Nearly all the men I talked with," said the mayor, "appear to be in favor of Chicago as the convention city. The impression I gathered is that when the national committee meets, Chicago will be the choice. The advantages Chicago offers are recognized by the east—its accessibility to delegates, its hotel accommodations, its railroad service, the stadium, and the well known lake breeze are arguments that are impressing the party leaders."

Suggests Some Changes.

Nonpartisan election of the mayor and four year terms for aldermen were advocated by Mayor Cermak, who declared the subject matter is meat for the special session of the legislature under the home rule item put in the call by Gov. Emmerson.

"We're glad a home rule item is in the call," said the mayor. "We've been fighting for it for years. It is my belief that under this item the legislature could pass measures making the election of mayor nonpartisan and increasing the aldermanic term from two years to four years, the council to be elected with the mayor.

"It would save a lot of money and would improve municipal government. It now costs more to elect a city council than to pay its salaries. Aldermen are elected as nonpartisans, and why shouldn't the mayor be? And, while we're at it, why shouldn't the city clerk and city treasurer be made appointive officers instead of elected—it would shorten the ballot?"

Urges Utility Home Rule.

Changes that would take the regulation of public utilities in Chicago out of the hands of the state commerce commission and restore it to the city government were also suggested by the mayor as possibly coming under the home rule item. The city council for years has been arguing for this. Talk in the city hall yesterday was that bills might be prepared aimed at putting the utilities back under control of the council.

Some of the aldermen favor sending a delegation to Springfield to work for such measures.

On politics the mayor had only a brief comment, and that was to the effect that he believed that when the Democratic national convention is held there will be no split in the New York delegation. He derided the idea that the New York voters, by putting through Gov. Roosevelt's $20,000,000 reforestation program, which was fought by ex-Gov. Al Smith, had given any expression as to whether Roosevelt or Smith was New York's favorite son.

"Just a Local Matter."

"It was a local matter," said the mayor. "Al Smith's followers were divided on the forestry issue. Roosevelt backed it and the Republican organization was for it. It has no effect one way or the other on the status of presidential politics. There will be no split in the New York delegation at the convention, I feel confident.

"We made it plain that the Illinois delegation will be for Senator James Hamilton Lewis."

RUBY LAFFOON IS NEWEST NAME IN U. S. POLITICS

He Appears to Be New Kentucky Governor.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 4.—(AP)—Circuit Judge Ruby Laffoon, Democrat, had rolled up a 46,100 majority for governor over Mayor William B. Harrison, Louisville Republican, on returns tonight from 1,609 of the state's 4,178 precincts. The totals were Laffoon, 185,467, and Harrison, 139,381.

Democratic state headquarters predicted 50,000 majority for Laffoon and hailed the returns as the voters' answer to Laffoon's plea that they repudiate the administrations of President Hoover and Flem D. Sampson, Republican governor.

Republican headquarters insisted that Harrison would win by a substantial majority, but gave no figures. Harris W. Coleman, state chairman, declared Harrison would yet show 30,000 majority in Jefferson county [Louisville], usually a Republican stronghold. It had been estimated Harrison would need that majority here to overcome Laffoon's majorities elsewhere.

Returns from 76 of Jefferson's 633 precincts showed Harrison 6,484 and Laffoon, 5,186, and Democrats said it meant Harrison's final majority would be only around 10,000.

The nine other state wide races, including lieutenant governor, secretary of state and attorney general, appeared to be following closely the same Democratic trend.

COUNTY REPORT SHOWS JUDGES' MANY ABSENCES

Courtrooms Often Empty, Board Is Told.

Judges of the Circuit and Superior courts yesterday received report cards on their attendance during the period from Oct. 9 to Oct. 31 as prepared by County Commissioner Daniel Ryan, who is chairman of the courthouse committee of the county board. Four county commissioners heard the report read.

Commissioner Ryan found that an average of 24.7 per cent of the courtrooms are unused each day in the Superior court and 19.5 per cent in the Circuit court. There are 35 courtrooms in the county building. J. L. Wolfe, county efficiency expert, acting as monitor for Commissioner Ryan, investigated each courtroom at 9:30 a. m. and 2:30 p. m. during October.

The report was compiled after the judges requested that another courtroom be provided in the building for John Rose Hall, who is to be without a bench when Judge Harry Lewis returns after an illness. Of the courtrooms 19 are occupied by Superior judges.

Figures for Courtrooms.

	Superior.	Circuit.
Monday	8.8 per cent	11.4 per cent
Tuesday	34.4 per cent	26.3 per cent
Wednesday	33.5 per cent	26.6 per cent
Thursday	32.3 per cent	27.4 per cent

The number of times which the Superior judges were absent from morning, afternoon, or Saturday sessions during the period from Oct. 9 to Oct. 31 is shown in the following table:

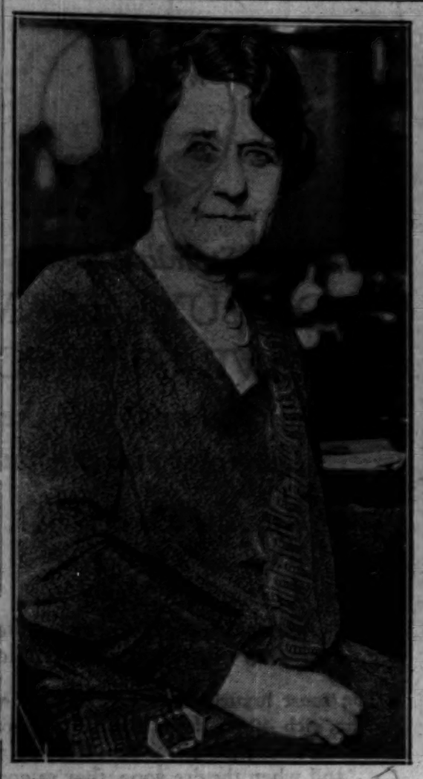
Again Commissioner Ryan pointed to the better showing of the country judges — Pomeroy, Finneran, Hood, and Sommers. The absences of Judge Taylor were explained as being due to his work in chambers as commissioner for the Illinois Supreme court in the disciplinary action brought against 55 attorneys on the pay roll of the sanitary district during the "whoopee days."

Commissioner Maurice Kavanaugh moved for a rising vote of thanks to Circuit Judge Daniel P. Trude, the only judge with a perfect record. Commissioner Charles Weber moved for a rising vote of thanks to Commissioner Ryan. Both motions were carried unanimously.

Voters' Edict Expected to End Social War



Mrs. John N. Garner, whose husband will probably be next speaker of house of representatives, and who is on record as saying she doesn't care where she sits at table. [Associated Press Photo.]

Mrs. Dolly Gann, who will probably be allowed to enjoy social precedence which was formerly disputed by Mrs. Alice Longworth, when her late husband was speaker.

VOTES FORECAST WINNING WINTER FOR DOLLY GANN

Mrs. Garner Disdains Social Flubdub.

By GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—With Mrs. John N. Garner somewhat certainly slated to step into that niche of ceremony and controversy occupied by the wife of the speaker of the house, a winning winter is forecast for Dolly Gann.

For Mrs. Garner doesn't give a whoop where she sits at the table.

At least that's the way she felt about it last year when the Alice Longworth-Dolly Gann scrap was in its most sprightly stage.

Looking up from her desk in her husband's office, she said then: "During the years I have worked with Mr. Garner as his secretary I have been too busy to worry over the fine points of official or social precedence. I believe a woman's first duty is to her husband."

Then she added these words, and they may turn out to be quite significant words before the season is over:

"That includes upholding the dignity of any position her husband may attain."

Dignity, Not Table Seats.

At that time her husband, Jovial Jack, was Democratic minority leader. But this winter, if yesterday's elections carry their message clear through, her husband will be the speaker of the house. And it may be that she will interpret the dignity of that position in terms of dinner table seats.

But her friends here think that is unlikely. For Mrs. Garner, for twenty-eight years her husband's secretary, has always been more interested in a congressional directory than a social register. She has stayed in the office working when most of the congressional wives were off drinking tea at receptions.

And when she has gone out to formal dinners she has a criticism; but it has been of the pantry, not of the protocol!

"While I enjoy Washington dinners there's one thing that's wrong, and it has nothing to do with precedence. It's the cooking. You see, I was born on a south Texas ranch and I'd like to have frijoles with my meal."

Frijoles, she explains, are Mexican beans, and can be made a dish of delight.

White House Dinner Feb. 2.

They may not serve frijoles at the White House dinner the 2d of next February, but even if they don't, there will be plenty about that dinner to make it memorable. For that is the night, according to the schedule of White House events just made public, when President and Mrs. Hoover are to give the "speaker's dinner." And it looks now as if the Republican President will be giving a dinner to a Democratic speaker.

This dinner is a youngster in the social tradition. Until President Roosevelt's administration the speaker trotted along at the head of his house to the congressional reception. But Uncle Joe Cannon protested; pleaded for a greater distinction. Accordingly the speaker's dinner was added, as a sort of a special gift to Uncle Joe. Cannon passed away, but the dinner remained, and will be given, probably to Jack Garner and to Mrs. Jack, the woman who doesn't give a whoop where she sits; or didn't last year.

FARMER'S SUIT ASKS $10,000 OF MRS. M'LAUGHLIN

William Schroeder, Wheeling farmer, filed suit for $10,000 damages in Lake county Circuit court at Waukegan yesterday against Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin of Lake Forest. He charges slander and malicious prosecution. The suit is the result of a prosecution instituted by Mrs. McLaughlin against Schroeder last June on the charge that he starved and failed to provide shelter for his pigs and other live stock.

When Mrs. McLaughlin went to inspect the farm on May 30, Schroeder drove her off. She retaliated by charging him with disorderly conduct, maintaining a nuisance, and cruelty to animals.

At a trial before Justice of the Peace Sengstock in Morton Grove on July 10, Schroeder was convicted and fined $10. Appealing to the Circuit court, he won acquittal before Judge John Prytalski on Sept. 29.

OGLESBY HEIR IS CITED BY WIFE ON ALIMONY CHARGE

Says She Is Destitute with Children.

Lincoln, Ill., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—The alimony fight between Mrs. Maude B. Oglesby and Jasper Oglesby, youngest son of the late Richard Oglesby, civil war governor of Illinois, is scheduled for hearing here tomorrow before Circuit Judge Frank Lindley.

On the eve of the hearing charges were made that Mrs. Oglesby and her children have been virtually destitute, although the children are legal heirs to their father's share of the huge Oglesby land fortune. Mrs. Oglesby is represented by Attorney Barratt O'Hara of Chicago.

$4,200 Alimony Involved.

Involved in tomorrow's hearing is a claim for approximately $4,200 in back alimony for which Mrs. Oglesby obtained a citation against her husband as to why he should not be held in contempt of court. The sum represents monthly payments of $150 and $200 ordered since she was granted a decree of separate maintenance in 1928. Originally the monthly amount was $200, but was reduced in 1929 to $150.

According to Mrs. Oglesby her husband is delinquent in the payments, which, she asserts, are necessary to the rearing and education of her children. They are Richard James Oglesby, 17 years old, and John Oglesby, 11 years old.

Mrs. Oglesby made her allegations declaring her family was in virtual want at her home in Elkhart, near the famous Oglesby estate at Oglesburst. Her children and she herself, she asserted, have been in dire circumstances for years, without aid from her legally separated husband.

Says Credit Is Gone.

But for friends, Mrs. Oglesby is reported to have said, she and her children might have starved. Their credit, she said, has been nearly exhausted with local merchants.

From a source very close to the Oglesby family, it was announced that Mrs. Oglesby and her children are not in destitute circumstances. Mayor Peter Murphy of Lincoln, counsel for Jasper Oglesby, branded reports of Mrs. Oglesby's privations as "bunk."

"There is no call for her to be in need," declared Mayor Murphy. "Mrs. Oglesby claims back alimony. It is available, but she refuses to accept it."

One informant disclosed that the younger son of Mrs. Oglesby is a regular week-end guest at the home of former Lieut. Gov. John Oglesby, a brother of Jasper. He also asserted that perhaps eight attorneys have been retained by Mrs. Oglesby in her alimony fight, but that all had withdrawn when they learned the money was available any time.

Mrs. Oglesby was the daughter of C. B. Byrum, one time a wealthy Chicago real estate dealer. She and Jasper Oglesby were secretly married in 1912. They separated eleven years ago, Mrs. Oglesby claiming that her husband deserted her.

LLOYD GEORGE, ONCE ALL POWERFUL, QUITS AS LIBERALS' LEADER

LONDON, Nov. 4.—(AP)—David Lloyd George, outstanding member of the Liberal party for more than 25 years, resigned his chairmanship today and announced he would not accept any other party office.

He set forth his decision in a letter to Sir Herbert Samuel which was made public just before a meeting of the Liberal parliamentary party, at which Sir Herbert was elected to succeed the Welshman.

The Lloyd George letter and the election of Sir Herbert reflected the separation of the historic Liberal party into three factions, two of which are reckoned among the supporters of the Ramsay MacDonald national government.

These two are the Samuel Liberals and the group headed by Sir John Simon, who yesterday was elected chairman of the "National Liberals." Mr. Lloyd George and three followers—all that remain to him—are expected to sit with the opposition.

The little group faithful to the resigned leader includes his son, Maj. Gwilym Lloyd George; his daughter, Miss Megan Lloyd George, and Maj. Goronwy Owen. They will continue to call themselves Liberals.

The future is uncertain for the man who, as head of the wartime coalition government was almost supreme arbiter of Britain's destinies and now rules only four votes in the house of commons.

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Nov. 4.—The Bermuda assembly, by a vote of 19 to 7, today denied the request of the governor for exemption from the motor car act of 1908, which bars automobiles from the island.

PROSPERITY SEEN BY HYDE IN AID GIVEN FARMERS

Relief for the American farmer, which he foresees in the $500,000,000 bank credit plan, was hailed as the basic step in the restoration of general prosperity by Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde, speaking before the Economic club last night.

Another prosperity restorative advocated at the meeting in the Palmer house was the modification of the prohibition laws. Such action would inspire confidence of the nation and save a billion dollars a year spent by American tourists "seeking a sniff of liberty" abroad in the opinion of James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany.

Sees Aid in Credit Plan.

Mr. Hyde saw in the plan to liquefy the nation's frozen assets, by extending credit from the largest to the smallest of the country's banks, "a rock which shall roll back the waves of depression." The solution to our economic ills, he said, lies in relief for the farmer, which in turn will mean prosperity for the rural towns, the market for the mills and factories of the nation.

"For ten years," said Mr. Hyde, "there has ben depression among the farmers. They have seen their land values shrink from 66 billion to 48 billion dollars, and their income from 12 billion to 9½ billion. Their taxes have mounted 172 per cent. They couldn't go any further.

Towns Quit Buying.

"The small towns, which are entirely dependent upon the farmers, couldn't buy any more. The mills and factories of the nation found that 40 per cent of their market had lost its purchasing power. The curtailment threw labor out of employment. The railways were affected, their revenues reduced and their bonds, time tried investments of banks and insurance companies, were jeopardized.

"Rural banks which had made loans to farmers couldn't collect. They failed, filled with notes on farmers with mortgages on land which once were gilt edged security. Their failure tied up the money of depositors, who could not pay storekeepers and wholesalers. Banks in reserve centers found their assets frozen and uncollectable. Credit tightened. Fearing ruin, other banks threw over their good bonds for money to meet demands of depositors.

Aim of President's Plan.

"There was need of some means to thaw out the frozen assets. That has been the purpose of the plan recently announced by the President."

Mr. Hyde saw a justification rather than proof of the failure of capitalism in our present economic surpluses and the maladjustment of supply and demand.

"It seems to me that these surpluses are proof of the fecundity of private initiative and free representative government," he said. "Who is starving now? Who is freezing? I venture to assert that more men died to set up this government than ever have died from hunger and cold under it."

Assails Anti-Trust Law.

Mr. Gerard also dwelt on the theme of private initiative, assailing the Sherman anti-trust law as an impossible barrier to American competition in the international markets.

"We need regulation and not prohibition," he said. "The German and French cartel and the Russian unit competition make it imperative that we change the law to permit the needed combination of basic industries."

The law advocated by Mr. Gerard would require any combination entered into to be approved by the interstate commerce commission, but no subsequent disapproval by the Supreme court could result in criminal charges.

Calls Prohibition Failure.

"Prohibition has been a ghastly failure," said Mr. Gerard. "To amend the law would do more at the present time to inspire confidence than anything I know of. A billion dollars a year is spent by American tourists who have gone abroad to escape this restraint.

"In addition to the spending of this money in our own country modification would bring in thousands in increased revenue and save even more in a cessation of moneys now spent in an attempt to enforce the law."

Real Estate Board Cheers Bright Picture of Future

Optimistic remarks on Chicago real estate by John A. Carroll, executive chairman of the Hyde Park-Kenwood National bank, climaxed a meeting of the Chicago Real Estate board last night. Arthur Tarman, representing State Auditor Nelson, had given figures on the amount of real estate loans involved in 73 closed Cook County banks. Then Mr. Carroll, who is a lawyer, real estate man, banker and receiver for two closed banks, cut loose amid the cheers of his audience.

"I think Nov. 1 marked the turning point toward normalcy," Mr. Carroll began. "Honest men have had a tough time during the last ten years. Racketeers have held the stage and honest men have remained on the sidelines. Politicians are the curse of the nation. There are parasites that should be scourged out of the high places.

Praises Chicago Real Estate.

"Chicago real estate is the greatest product in the world. I know of pieces of property that have increased 13,000 per cent in value in the 25 years I have been a member of the real estate board. No other city ever had such a rise in real estate values—such little shrinkage in real estate values.

"In the crisis of the bank failures last summer there was no leadership and fear took possession of the people. Banks sufferd, but real estate suffered more. A campaign of villification put a curse on realty.

"Then came the racketeers in foreclosures. And there were many lawyers who were like ghouls. A distressed building drew the vultures and many judges didn't seem to have the interest of the bondholders at heart.

"You real esate men must see that every man and woman who financed those buildings is protected 100 per cent. The racketeering lawyers are the biggest burden on real estate today. They should be disbarred.

"Realty Will Get Better."

"Real estate is going to get better, but there will be no building for some time. Management is 50 per cent of the success of buildings. Many of the buildings today are managed by janitors who have to stand in with the coalman. What is needed is for this board to furnish competent management for the buildings in receivership.

"State Auditor Nelson has appointed a committee of which I am chairman. Its duty is to take charge of the real estate now under his jurisdiction through the bank closings. Every piece of property will be appraised and then we'll go to insurance companies and say 'What will you give?' and there'll be no sacrifice prices accepted."

Mr. Tarman said that his office considers real estate to be worth today 70 per cent of its appraised value during 1928 and 1929. Mr. Carrol agreed with that statement and added that he thought Tarman was conservative.

$58,000,000 Tied Up in Realty.

In the 73 banks for which receivers have been appointed there are deposit liabilities of $102,000,000, Tarman said. On Aug. 31, the closed banks had outstanding real estate loans of $39,000,000. Since half of other loans of $38,000,000 were secured by real estate, about $58,000,000 of the depositors' money tied up in closed banks represents Chicago real estate, he declared.

In answer to a question as to the time expected to be taken in the liquidation of the closed banks Tarman said he thought it be two to two and one-half years for an everage. Rather than sacrifice real estate now, he said, the policy of his office will be to hold it until the end of the liquidation.

The real estate board adopted a resolution approving the minority report of its president, Mark Levy, to the governor's revenue conference. It also went on record as being noncommittal at the present time to the conference's proposal to abolish the present boards of assessors and review in Cook county.

PRICE ADVANCES ADD 125 MILLION TO FARM INCOME

BY PAUL POTTER.

At least 125 million dollars have been added to the value of grain which farmers hold for market by the recent advances in prices, it was estimated yesterday. This estimate is on the grain which the farmers hold and will market in that form and does not include the increased income from grains converted into live stock, dairy, and produce which the farmers will also market at increased prices.

The advances in grain prices are estimated to have added a total of 432 million dollars to the value of American farm commodities.

These estimates were made yesterday when 70 cent wheat and 40 cent corn were registered at the Chicago Board of Trade. The turn has come during the last thirty days after five months in which the wheat market has been setting low records for 300 years.

Farmers are holding substantially all of the corn which has advanced so rapidly. But, according to an analysis yesterday by Nat Murray, veteran crop expert, most of the corn will not be sold in its original form. Rather, it will become meats, poultry, or dairy products, the latter two commodities having taken on added value in the general commodity market improvement.

"Based upon reports from crop reporters," Murray said, "I find that farmers held 2,550,000,000 bushels of corn on Nov. 1. This estimate considers that 5½ per cent of the new crop had been fed by that date and that farmers were holding 75 million bushels of old corn. It is safe to estimate that 500 million bushels of corn will be marketed as grain by farmers.

"At the close of markets today, with May wheat at 69¾ cents and December corn at 44½ cents, in spite of heaving profit taking by speculators, the farmer has actually gained 60 million dollars on his stored wheat, 50 million dollars on the corn he will sell as grain, and 15 million on his oats to be marketed for cash. This totals a gain of 125 million dollars to farm incomes in less than 30 days."

Every rise of one cent per bushel in wheat and corn prices now adds over 10 million dollars to the value of these grains in farmers' hands, it was estimated. In addition, continued advances in dairy, poultry, and beef cattle prices have further swelled the incomes of western rural areas.

WOMAN'S DEATH BARES $100,000 ESTATE SWINDLE

An inheritance game swindle by which Mrs. Louise Graubner of Canton, Ill., who died recently in a Peoria hospital, is alleged to have reaped upward of $100,000 from residents of Peoria, Canton, Chicago, and other Illinois cities, was disclosed yesterday by Attorney David J. A. Hayes of Chicago.

Attorney Hayes, who was retained by four persons to investigate their claims, said that Mrs. Graubner had solicited money from them on the strength of a fictitious estate of $375,000 left by a Brazilian. The funds were advanced for attorneys fees she claimed necessary to collect the estate, the lawyer said.

Mrs. Laurie Beam of Peoria, who said she was Mrs. Graubner's companion at one time, said she gave the woman $14,000, and her son, Howard, claims to have lost $10,000. Dr. Edward F. Addenbrooke of Chicago is said to have lost $4,600 in unpaid medical bills and John H. Roberts, a Loyola university medical student, claims he turned over $1,000.

Mrs. Graubner produced letters and documents in an effort to convince her purported victims of her integrity.

ORTHODOXY GETS SOME SHOCKS AT COOKING SCHOOL

Expert Dispels Notions on Cake Mixing.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

More than 5,000 women packed the Trianon ballroom, 6201 Cottage Grove avenue, yesterday and learned how to mix and bake a cake and how to arrange salads. It was the second session of the Chicago School of Cookery. Although women started forming in line at 9 o'clock in the morning, it was an orderly crowd which entered the ballroom when the doors were opened at noon.

To the relief of officials of the school, who were forced to turn away thousands of women on Tuesday, yesterday's attendance presented no such problem. No one was turned away. The doors remained open throughout the session.

Crowd Packs Ballroom.

While the ballroom, however, the nearby waiting room was taxed to its utmost that fire regulations allowed. Women were seated on window ledges. Divans from the lounge were dragged up near the ballroom and occupied. All the boxes in the gallery were full. A number of women who were allowed to enter the ballroom stowed boxes of lunch and hand themselves and their children. Repeated firmness on the part of ushers and officials not to open the doors before noon.

"I came all the way from Indiana to attend this cooking school," one woman pleaded. "Let me in now so that I can get a front row seat."

"I came all the way from the northwest side," another said.

A small, white haired woman then spoke up.

"And I came all the way from Limerick, Ireland, to attend it."

After the women had been admitted at noon, Miss Mary Meade, Tribune home economics editor, introduced Dr. Sarah M. Chitwood, nationally known cooking expert, who conducts the school with Miss Meade's cooperation, then the instructions on food were begun.

A smile was heard throughout the ballroom as the thousands of women checked their sheet of printed recipes distributed with each program. Mrs. Chitwood produced such salads as "sweetheart" salad, in which hearts cut from beets form the center; "pineapple delight," cheese ring salad, and Miss Meade's original jellied avocado salad, and graham cracker and cheese salad.

"And now I'm going to show you how to make cake batter," Mrs. Chitwood said.

Begins Mixing Cake.

Mrs. Chitwood mixed her baking powder and her flour in time honored fashion, and sifted them. As she talked, she sifted the mixture again and again.

Then a buzz of comment was heard over the room. Mrs. Chitwood stopped and look around.

"What is the matter?" she asked.

"But how many times do you sift your flour?" a voice called out from the audience.

"O, is that it?" Mrs. Chitwood said and laughed. Then, continuing her sifting, she answered: "Well, it depends on the weather."

At that all the cooks present laughed heartily. But she continued:

"Yes, that's true. On a rainy day I sift my flour from eight to ten times.

"Always sift flour for an angel food cake ten to twelve times. You know, you don't sift flour to get the lumps out of it, or to strain it. You sift it to get the air into it. The more air, the lighter your cake."

The women likewise learned another new wrinkle when it came to creaming butter and sugar and adding eggs.

"This is the way all beginners do," said Mrs. Chitwood, grasping a bowl and hugging it to her shoulder and stirring vehemently. "Or like this," and she put it on the table and, bending low over it, she stirred around and around, stiff armed.

Shows the Right Way.

Then she showed the proper way, which is to hold it on the table, tipping it conveniently with one arm, while the other arm beats the butter. Sugar is added gradually.

"Now I suppose of course you beat your yolks and whites separately and add the yolks here, and then, after the whites are beaten, you add them to the batter after the flour is in," said Mrs. Chitwood.

"Well, don't do it. Watch." Taking an egg, she broke it into the bowl whole. "It's a labor saving device," she said. "Now I just stir it around. No sense beating it at all, much less the yolks and whites separately."

The third session of the cooking school for south side women will open at 1:45 o'clock this afternoon in the Trianon ballroom. The fourth and final session of the week will be held tomorrow, next week's session being devoted to north side housewives.

Phil Maxwell acted as master of ceremonies, introducing the entertainers. Carl Craven led the community singing, assisted by Cathryne Bennett at the piano. Frances Smith played the violin, Mary Elizabeth Jones, violonist; Marion Johnson, pianist, and Barbara Sneath, cellist, all from the American conservatory, formed a trio which gave several numbers. A Spanish dance was given by eight girls from the Marie Veatch School of Dancing. Elizabeth Marsh and Virginia Hall starring in the dance.

AT THE COOKING SCHOOL

Sergt. Patrick Brown of the Woodlawn police station dropped in "to see if my men needed any help against these women who want to be cooks." He sniffed the air and, asking what cooking was in progress, was told that "daisy cakes" were being made. "Indeed," said the sergeant. "Well, my wife is having corned beef and cabbage tonight, which suits me better."

Before the program was over a long line of husbands was waiting below. Many of them were pressed into service to carry prizes home. Others met their wives with the query, "Well, now, what about supper?"

Jimmy O'Connell, who has had charge of everything from the building of the kitchen on the stage to overseeing the distribution of prizes, was asked to perform a new service yesterday. Seeing him standing nearby as she made her way from the ballroom, one woman asked him: "Are you one of those in charge here?" He replied that he was. "Well, then, did she say she used two or three eggs in that cake?" the woman demanded.

Policeman Terry Loftus of the Woodlawn station was confronted by a gray haired woman before the doors of the Trianon ballroom were open. "Can't you say I'm your mother and let me in?" she queried. Two women heard her question, however. "If she's your mother, I'm your wife," one said loudly. "And I'm your aunt," said the other.

The staff of ushers was increased from 20 to 25 yesterday after officials had learned how popular the school was. Most of the men were employed through the governor's commission on unemployment.

HENRICI'S famous coffee is now 10c the cup

No one else in the world makes coffee like Henrici's. No one else uses the same blend of Sumatra-grown coffee aged for 18 months on its native island . . . coffee that is roasted fresh each morning and is brewed within a few hours while its aroma and flavor are at their height. Coffee-making at Henrici's is an exacting ritual from which not the slightest deviation is permitted.

In consequence, Henrici's coffee has earned a world-wide reputation. Always it is the same, distinctive, served in the inimitable Henrici way, the perfect accompaniment of breakfast, luncheon or dinner at Henrici's Restaurant.

Following our traditional policy of providing the best food at moderate prices, Henrici's coffee has been reduced to 10c the cup.

BABY AMPHIBION WILL RACE BOAT AT AERIAL SHOW

Participants Begin to Arrive Today.

A race between a baby amphibion plane and a champion outboard motor speedboat in the yacht harbor along Grant park was added to the crowded program by Maj. R. W. Schroeder in charge of arrangements for the Charity Air show, to be held next Sunday afternoon over the park.

MAJ. SCHROEDER.

Maj. Schroeder said the amphibion will make its first public appearance at the charity show. It has just been completed and tested by the Curtiss Airplane company at St. Louis and will be the first amphibion plane made in the United States to sell at a popular price.

The speedboat that will race the amphibion is Art Jacobs' Century Black Demon, in which he won the Milwaukee-Chicago race over 67 starters last May in 1 hour 57 minutes. The speedboat has a top speed of 53.6 miles an hour, and Jacobs thinks he has a good chance to beat the amphibion because of his boat's speed on turns.

Race for Ten Miles.

The race will be for ten miles, five laps of a two mile course. The amphibion, designed similarly to the Curtiss Junior plane, is powered by a 60 horse power Velie motor and its top performance is estimated at about 100 mile an hour, but that advantage is expected to be equalized by the horse race start and the ability of the speedboat to take sharp turns faster.

This afternoon two participants in the show will land at Chicago airport for a brief stay. Bernarr MacFadden, publisher, and his pilot, Lou Reichers, flying on a tour of 20 cities in MacFadden's low-wing Lockheed Orion, which is covered with gold plate, will land to refuel. The plane is said to be the fastest two-seater in the world, with a top speed of 240 miles an hour. It has a new type Wright Cyclone motor.

Casey Jones Here Today.

MacFadden and Reichers will return Saturday to participate in the air show. Another participant expected to arrive today is Casey Jones, vice president of the Curtiss-Wright Flying Services, who will be at the microphone to describe to the spectators a series of stunts planned by Karl S. Day, manager of Curtiss-Reynolds airport. Casey also is expected to fly himself.

Lieut. E. Verne Stewart, of Dundee, Ill., winner at the National Air races of parachute jumping contests, yesterday notified THE TRIBUNE he would be glad to make as many parachute jumps as would be required at the charity air show, as well as to compete with Jim Ray, autogiro pilot, in a contest to see which, the plane or the jumper, descend from the same altitude the slowest.

Military Planes to Fly.

Lieut. Col. M. D. Mann, air officer of the 33d division, Illinois National Guard, yesterday announced the division's squadron of six Douglas observation planes, Hornet powered, will present three programs of stunting, formation flying, bombing and machine gun attack tactics during the air show.

Jim Ray telegraphed THE TRIBUNE he plans to take off at Philadelphia this afternoon in his autogiro, and will arrive at Chicago airport tomorrow. Ray is vice president of the Autogiro Company, of America, and its chief pilot. He will fly over Chicago Saturday and Sunday morning to demonstrate the autogiro, before the special demonstration of slow flight and vertical landings at the air show.

Urges Purchase of Stickers.

The purchase of stickers from one of the three TRIBUNE public service offices, or in the lobby of The Tribune Tower, which will pass automobiles into Grant park for the air show, was urged yesterday by Maj. Schroeder, who pointed out that the stickers will insure preferred parking space by allowing quicker arrival through special entrances.

John Charles Thomas of the Chicago Civic Opera, who sings in "Rigoletto" tonight, will impersonate Sieur de la Salle, the noted French explorer, in ceremonies to be held next Sunday at 7:30 a. m at Chicago airport, at which planes of the American Airways route to New Orleans will be named after the explorer.

After the dedication Thomas will fly to New Orleans on the plane in order to keep two engagements there. Miss Adele Jahncke, daughter of Assistant Secretary of the Navy Jahncke, will christen the planes and, accompanied by her mother, will make the trip to New Orleans by air. She was queen of this year's Mardi Gras and has been presented at the Court of St. James's.

Assistant Secretary of the Navy Jahncke will attend the ceremonies and remain in Chicago for the afternoon program of the charity air show.

Baby Amphibion to Race at Charity Air Show

The newest Curtiss-Wright plane which will try its speed against Art Jacobs' Black Demon, speedboat in which the owner won the Milwaukee-Chicago race from 67 starters last May. The race between speedboat and plane will be one of the features of charity air show to be held next Sunday at Grant park.

AVIATION NOTES

Maj. R. W. Schroeder, chairman of the county board advisory aviation committee, and manager of Sky Harbor airport, yesterday invited the county commissioners on an hour's air trip over the county to study its forest preserves and arterial highway systems. The invitation was accepted.

Century Air Lines carried 6,110 revenue passengers on its middle west division in October, bringing the total carried since March 23 to 46,322. The average has been more than 6,000 a month since the line, operating out of Chicago to St. Louis and Cleveland, began operation.

EUNICE PRINGLE'S PAST LIFE MAY BE AIRED AT TRIAL OF PANTAGES

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 4.—(AP)—Whether attorneys for Alexander Pantages may search into the past of Eunice Pringle at the theater magnate's trial on a charge of raping her became the subject of argument, with the jury excluded, shortly before adjournment of court today.

Prosecution and defense attorneys were told by Superior Judge Clair Tappaan to appear at the opening of court tomorrow with any further authorities they care to cite.

His instruction came shortly after he had declared from the bench:

"When there is a case of attack with force, such as this case, I believe the jury should have a right to go into her past."

The judge stated, however, that his opinion was not final.

Miss Pringle wept several times while telling the jury that Pantages attacked her in his offices when she applied to him for a vaudeville contract.

Meanwhile Mrs. Lois Pantages, wife of the theater magnate, was made defendant in a $13,967 damage suit by a Negro couple. The suit charges Mrs. Pantages' auto crashed into the couple's machine last Aug. 31. Her son, J. R. Pantages, was also named in the suit.

LORD KYLSANT ENTERS PRISON; LOSES APPEAL

Court Rules "Half Truth No Better than Lie."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 4.—Owen Cosby Phillips, Lord Kylsant, today bent his distinguished gray head, entered a taxicab and was driven off under guard to Wormwood Scrubbs prison to serve a term of 12 months for publishing a prospectus of the Royal Mail Steam Packet company, "which he knew to be false in a material particular."

The former shipping clerk, who was chairman of the great shipping combine, had just received the decision of the three judges of the Court of Criminal Appeal, which sustained a jury's verdict and sentence the bench handed down on July 30 in Criminal court.

Holds Half Truth Same as Lie.

The long opinion of the court ran on for 40 minutes before its trend was indicated in the words of Justice Sir Horace Avery,

"Half the truth is no better than a downright falsehood," he concluded. "We come without hesitation to the conclusion that in summing up there was no misdirection and there is ample evidence upon which the verdict of this jury can be supported. This appeal must be dismissed."

The jury's verdict was based on the fact that Lord Kylsant issued the prospectus to attract investors and failed to state that dividends had been paid out of a reserve fund rather than from earnings.

Lord Kylsant sat in a room beneath the court under guard for three days while a distinguished legal battery, headed by Attorney General Sir William Jowitt for the crown, and Sir John Simon for the defense, argued the case. Lord Kylsant's son-in-law, the earl of Coventry, sat at the counsel's table today and sent Lord Kylsant a scribbled note informing him of the decision. A telephone call was immediately put in to Lady Kylsant to hurry from her Mayfair home for an interview before her husband was taken to prison.

There he will serve the first 28 days in strict seclusion, but he will not be forced to endure the rigors imposed on violent criminals. By industry and good conduct he can rduce the sentence two months and so gain his freedom next August.

NAMED AS CAFE BANDIT.

David Bruckheimer, 30 years old, was arrested and identified as a robber yesterday in his home at 1512 North La Salle street after police traced him through the license of a taxicab used in holdups of restaurants at 63 East Chicago avenue and 1110 North State street.

SEIZE BELCASTRO IN U. S. DRIVE TO DEPORT ALIENS

Gangster Arrested; He Swore Falsely, Charge.

James Belcastro, so-called "king of gamblers," was released on bond at the federal building last night after being arrested by the government in its campaign to rid the country of undesirable aliens. Belcastro is charged with falsifying his naturalization papers.

JAMES BELCASTRO.

After a warrant was issued for the arrest of the gangster yesterday James and George Tucker, plain clothes policemen assigned to the case, suggested conditions of the government, went out to search for him. They found Belcastro at work in a butcher shop at 268 West 26th street.

Belcastro was questioned for three hours and then released in bonds of $5,000. He is to appear at noon today for further questioning.

Entered U. S. in 1912.

The government's move to seize Belcastro was started by Murray W. Green, special assistant to the secretary of labor, who is in Chicago investigating smuggling of aliens. Belcastro, who is No. 4 on the Chicago commission's list of public enemies, came to this country in 1912. He is married and has two children. Belcastro's naturalization papers were issued in 1912.

Green said that Belcastro had stated in his application for naturalization that he had never been arrested, which was not true. On this ground his citizenship papers were cancelled on Sept. 18, it was revealed.

Warrant Issued by Doak.

The warrant on which Belcastro was arrested was issued by Secretary of Labor Doak.

Belcastro was the second Capone henchman to feel the weight of the government's campaign against alien gangsters this week. Dago Lawrence Mangano, boss of the gambling houses on the west side, was arrested on Monday under a warrant issued by the department of labor.

Generals Tony [Mops] Volpe, another Capone henchman, is fighting the efforts of the government to deport him. His case, as the other two, hinges about an alien involved in a crime of moral turpitude.

The cases against forty-one Chinese, seized in the government's raids Sunday on Chinatown as aliens smuggled into the country, were continued until next week.

CLOCK CONTROLS ON SIGNS STOLEN; THERE'S REASON

Recently a number of automatic electric display signs went dead, and engineers for an advertising company discovered that the electric clocks which automatically started them at sundown and shut them off at sunrise had disappeared.

Yesterday a squad from the Fillmore street station visited the basement flat of Martin Fernbach, 29 years old, at 305 North Albany avenue, where he is the building janitor. They found two of the automatic sign clocks, and took Fernbach and his father, Joseph, 50 years old, in custody. Martin was charged with larceny, and his father with disorderly conduct.

"We found one of the automatic sign clocks installed in the building," said Sergt. Cornelius Riley. "The stolen clocks are sold to janitors who find in them a labor saving device. They install them in the buildings where they work, and the clocks automatically turn on the hallway and courtyard lights at sundown. At sunrise, they automatically turn off the lights."

VICTIM CRUSHED TO DEATH UNDER A HEAVY TRUCK

Dies as Cries for Help Are Not Heard.

Trapped when the heavy motor truck he was washing in the garage of the C. A. Darling Fertilizer company at 4501 South Ashland avenue rolled over its wheel locks, Charles Duba, 40 years old, 4501 South Fairfield avenue, was slowly crushed to death yesterday. Alone in the garage, Duba, an examination disclosed, had held off the heavy vehicle for a time. His cries for help unnoticed, police reasoned, he had gradually weakened and the increasing pressure of the machine against his chest had killed him.

Police were seeking a hit-and-run driver whose automobile struck and fatally injured John Shumacher, 3 years old, in the street in front of his home at 613 South Laflin street yesterday. The child was found unconscious on the pavement, his skull fractured, and died at the county hospital.

These deaths and two others yesterday brought the Cook county toll since Jan. 1 to 1,974. The other victims:

Andrew Nelson, 60 years old, 3249 Barry avenue. Died at the Belmont hospital from injuries sustained Oct. 25 when he was run down at Belmont and Kilpatrick avenues. The driver was Frank Cyzsir, 1445 West 14th place.

Albert Jurak, 51 years old, 3818 West 45th place. Died at the county hospital from injuries suffered Oct. 12 when he was struck at 47th street and Harding avenue. John Lauran, 4507 Kostner avenue, the driver, was not held.

The body of a youth killed Tuesday by a hit and run driver, who later confessed his guilt because of the sting of his conscience, was identified yesterday as that of Chester Kosnecka, 15 years old, 5296 Justine street. The accident occurred at 35th street and Ashland avenue. The driver, Andrew Kosloski, 21 years old, 1739 West 14th place, was held by Brighton Park police when the inquest was continued until Nov. 14.

SUSPECT IS SHOT; 6 MEN, 3 WOMEN SEIZED IN FLAT

Six men and three women were arrested by police last night, one of the men being wounded in the right hip while resisting capture, in a raid on an apartment at 3163 Abbott court. The wounded man, Clare Christensen, 24 years old, said he believed the policemen were robbers.

Among the prisoners was Edward Roehl, 17 years old, 555 Surf street, who said he was a stepson of R. J. Douglas Jr. of 1237 Edgewood lane, Winnetka, a refrigerating company official. Mr. Douglas said he has a stepson, but knew nothing of his arrest. Roehl told police that he and another youth planned to rob a bank at Carthage, N. Y., and escape in an airplane.

Roehl was seized first, when police found him armed with a revolver and dumdum bullets in front of the Abbott court apartment. The detectives then entered the place and seized the other prisoners, wounding Clare Christensen. The others arrested were Clare's brother, Albert; Mrs. Albert Christensen, Lloyd Koppes, William Mahon, Miss Marian Carlson, Miss Catherine Clark, and Louis Bruneau.

LEAGUE CALLS ON JAPAN AGAIN TO QUIT MANCHURIA

Tokio Scorns Edict; Troops Advance North.

BULLETIN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
MUKDEN, Manchuria, Nov. 5.—(Thursday.) — An urgent report from Tsitsihar today said Chinese troops at the Nonni river bridge yesterday hoisted the white flag as a sign of surrender and then trapped the Japanese repair gang and Japanese troops guarding them. When surrounded, the Chinese opened fire. The battle lasted three hours. The Japanese troops are reported in distress.

GENEVA, Nov. 4.—An immediate call for a second extraordinary session of the league of nations council to deal with the Manchurian problem was expected tonight at league headquarters. Officials of the secretariat declared that the Japanese advance toward Tsitsihar, which is in the Russian zone of influence, has made the situation worse than at any previous time. The Japanese advance is being made to repair a railway bridge over the Nonni river.

Four important documents bearing on the Manchurian controversy were published here today. One was a note sent by Aristide Briand, chairman of the council, to Kenkichi Yoshizawa, the Japanese delegate, on Oct. 30. It reiterated the request of the council that Japan should withdraw her troops immediately from the occupied territory. Briand insisted that China had fulfilled all five demands made by Japan as essential conditions for evacuation.

China Files Two Protests.

Two others were sent to the league by Dr. Alfred Sze, the Chinese delegate. They complained of further encroachment of the Japanese on Chinese territory and sovereignty, and asked for action by the league and the United States.

The fourth was a note from the Japanese delegation notifying the league that Tokio does not recognize the validity of the resolution adopted by the council on Oct. 26 by a vote of 13 to 1, because Japan voted against it and no action could be taken except by unanimous vote. This resolution called on Japan to evacuate by Nov. 16.

One of the Chinese notes complained that despite the league's resolution of Oct. 26, and despite the resolution Japan accepted in September calling for early withdrawal of troops, Japan is consolidating her position in Manchuria and is deliberately proceeding to oust the Chinese governmental authority in that region.

It also cites Japanese confiscation of salt tax receipts, which, it says, have been diverted to the benefit of authorities set up by the Japanese. The note concluded by declaring that the Japanese conduct is a flagrant violation of the league covenant, the pact of Paris, and the nine power treaty of Washington and appeals to the league powers and the United States not to permit this violation.

Report Battle in Progress.

TOKIO, Nov. 5.—(AP)—[Thursday.]—A dispatch from Changchun, Manchuria, today said severe fighting began yesterday between troops of the Chinese Amur army and Japanese forces guarding engineers at the Nonni river bridge on the Taonananganchi railway.

The Amur army is commanded by Gen. Ma Chan-shan, who had been warned not to interfere with Japanese engineers sent to repair the bridge under penalty of "severe measures."

Disregarding the warning, Gen. Ma's forces were reported to have fired with machine guns upon the Japanese forces. Apparently this sniping resulted in a pitched battle.

Another dispatch from Changchun said a Japanese field gun detachment and infantry was dispatched to the bridge by a special train. Reinforcements also were sent to the bridge from Taonan, including an armored train.

CHANGCHUN, Japan, Nov. 4.—Fully 10,000 Corean farmers were massacred by Chinese during the last six weeks in Kirin province alone, according to an estimate given out here today by a Japanese general commanding a division of 5,500 troops, with headquarters at Changchun.

GANDHI'S PARTY INSTRUCTS HIM TO COMPROMISE

Insists on Control of Finance.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
LONDON, Nov. 4.—One of the first fruits of Prime Minister MacDonald's firm statement to the Indian delegates regarding the future government of India was shown today when Mahatma Gandhi, Indian Nationalist leader, received a cable from the all-India congress executive in India in reply to the premier's terms, published yesterday. The congress asked Gandhi to make an effort to clear up the question of Indian finance in order to secure control of it. Congress officials are willing to leave the two other key questions—control of the army and foreign relations—for discussion later. If Gandhi is able to secure relative financial independence it is likely that an agreement may be reached before the round table conference ends on Nov. 18.

SIR HARI SINGH. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

At the same time it was learned today that some of the Indian delegates who had booked passage to India for Nov. 19 have canceled them and are arranging to remain in London, with the hope of securing a settlement at the round table.

British Troops Help Maharajah.

Meantime interest is concentrated in the situation at Kashmir. British troops have entered this independent state to help Maharajah Sir Hari Singh in his fight against attacks by his Moslem subjects and an invasion by sympathetic Moslems from the outside. Conditions in which these troops were lent, it is understood, are:

1. The occupation is to last until Great Britain deems the situation safe.

2. During the occupation the maharajah, or his regent, in the maharajah's absence, shall take the advice of the political resident, or commissioner, appointed by Great Britain.

3. No minister shall be appointed without the sanction of the British representative, and certain ministers now in power are to be removed.

4. Barracks and other accommodations to be provided for the British troops by the maharajah, at his expense, and the army of occupation is to be paid by the maharajah.

5. Finances are to be reorganized by an official to be appointed by the viceroy.

The reason for the need of British aid to fight an invasion from the southern, or Indian, frontier is that the maharajah's own troops are all facing the north, where Turcomans and Russian Moslems have penetrated the frontier under former Turkish officers. The invaders from the south are poorly armed, but they are able to do damage in the absence of effectual resistance, and there seems to have been a perfect liaison between the Russian armed bands in the north and the Moslems from British India in the south.

"Does it hurt to shave, daddy?"

"YOU'RE like a great big bear, daddy. I like to kiss you, but your face isn't nice and smooth like mama's. It feels so rough. Does it hurt you to shave? You're much nicer without those prickly whiskers. Can't you have them all pulled out? Then I'd give you all the nice big hugs you wanted."

Yes, little lady, it possibly does hurt daddy to shave and he can't have his whiskers pulled out. But daddy might shave more often and clean away every prickly bristle if he knew about Gillette's wonderful new razor blade. So we hope he reads this and learns how we've made shaving comfortable.

The new Gillette blade is truly remarkable in every way. Its shaving edges are ground and stropped to a degree of keenness only attainable by Gillette methods. Quality is uniform and constantly checked by strict inspection. This means that every shave with the new Gillette will be equally smooth. Try the new blade on our money-back guarantee of complete satisfaction. Learn by experience that shaving can be entirely comfortable and quite pleasant. Buy a package tonight. Use a blade or two. If you don't agree the new Gillette is exceptional in performance and results, return the package to your dealer and he'll refund the price.

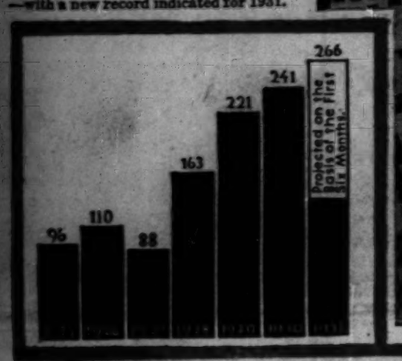
NEWS FLASH!

Dallas, Texas, Nov. 4.—It was announced here today that the Oil Well Supply Company, subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation, will shortly move its general executive offices from Pittsburgh to Dallas. The national business of this organization will in the future be directed from Dallas. All major executives and a large number of employees will be transferred to Dallas. The company will also establish warehouse facilities here to supplement field warehouses now maintained in the principal producing areas.

The Parkersburg Rig and Reel Co. of Parkersburg, West Virginia, has also secured space for a regional headquarters office in Dallas to serve the oil industry of Texas and the adjacent States.

Fairchild Aerial Photo of downtown Dallas. Most of the taller buildings were erected in the past ten years; one-third of them in the past five years, and five of the largest in 1931.

Note the consistent gain in the number of new branches established in Dallas—241 in 1930 against 96 in 1925—with a new record indicated for 1931.



New, free store-door delivery and pick-up service on all L.C.L. shipments up to 300 miles, gives Dallas important new transportation advantage. (Map copyright, Rand, McNally & Co. Reproduction licensed.)

It will pay you to establish a sales distribution or manufacturing branch in Dallas now

Dallas—the city that distribution built—grew big in good times—grows bigger in bad times! Note this growth in the number of branch factories, warehouses and sales offices established in Dallas—163 in 1928, 221 in 1929, 241 in 1930, and 1931 promises to set a new record—based on 178 in the first nine months!

To date, 2,578 sectional or national concerns maintain branches in Dallas. Forty-two states are represented in this large cross section of American business. Illinois sent 313, Ohio 183, Missouri 163, Michigan 85, Indiana 68, Wisconsin 63, Minnesota 40, Iowa 25—940 branches from the leading industrial states of the Middle West! Most of the leading business institutions in these states are included.

Why do America's leading concerns place branches in Dallas in ever-increasing numbers, especially in years like 1930 and 1931? The answer is the tremendous growth of the Southwest, in population and buying power, and the absolute necessity for adequate facilities to serve it from within if profitable volume business is to be secured.

Dallas occupies a dominant position in the Southwest market of 12 million persons with annual income of 6 billion dollars. It is central with respect to its geographic location as well as to density of population and income. A new mileage scale of freight rates welds the Southwest into an economic province. Since October 1, Southwestern railroads have been providing free pick-up and store-door delivery on all L.C.L. shipments up to 300 miles. Concerns with manufacturing or distributing facilities at Dallas reap the fullest returns from this new policy. Each tack on the above map represents an important Southwestern city, 68 in all; they showed an average population gain, 1920 to 1930, of 52.4 per cent. All of them may be quickly and economically served from Dallas.

Dallas

Southwestern Headquarters to American Business

The growth of Dallas has been well-rounded, as these facts show: (1) Dallas ranks thirteenth in the United States as a wholesale distributing center, exceeding in sales volume such cities as Buffalo, Cincinnati, Baltimore, Seattle, Indianapolis, Atlanta, Portland and Louisville. (2) Discovery of East Texas oil made Dallas the geographic center of the entire U. S. oil industry, and it is rapidly becoming the leading oil city of America. (3) Dallas ranks first in the United States as a spot cotton market. (4) Dallas ranks fifth among U. S. cities as a wholesale dry goods and apparel market. (5) Dallas ranks fifth in the U. S. as an insurance center. (6) Dallas is the home of the Federal Reserve Bank for the Eleventh District, and is the Southwest's leading financial center. (7) Dallas is growing as an industrial center; the value of its manufactured products increased 43.5 per cent from 1927 to 1929.

There is a marked tendency for concerns that maintain sales and distributing branches here to build factories. Dallas' strategic location and transportation facilities solve the most important problem confronting executives today—distribution in the quickest possible time at lowest possible cost. To provide industrial sites, with every facility for economical production and distribution, Dallas is moving a river at a cost of $21,000,000, making available 10,000 acres of industrial property near the heart of the city.

"The Southwest Market" is a 144-page book (shown below) of facts covering every phase of the Southwest. It contains population and county buying figures, describes manufacturing, warehousing and transportation facilities. A chapter on Texas corporation laws and a series of 4-color maps make the book invaluable to any executive. Write for your copy, on your business letterhead, or use the coupon, today!

Stubborn Coughs Ended by Recipe, Mixed at Home

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs due to colds. It takes but a moment to prepare, costs little, and saves money, but it gives real relief even for those dreaded coughs that follow severe cold epidemics.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but also it is absorbed into the blood, and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of severe coughs and bronchial irritations.

MUSSOLINI TAKES OVER CONTROL OF ALL INDUSTRIES

Sets Limit on Dividends Stocks May Pay.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Nov. 4.—Government-controlled economics in Italy, as foreshadowed in Premier Mussolini's recent speech at Naples, in which he declared that capitalistic machinery as organized at present has gone on the rocks, will be an immediate sequel to yesterday's reorganization of the Banca Commerciale Italiana, Italy's largest financial institution.

Yesterday's statement of the directors of the Banca Commerciale Italiana did not make clear the precise mode of the transfer of industrial shares it has held beyond the statement that they would be taken over by a new organization to be called the Industrial Financing society the capital of which would be guaranteed by big business men.

State to Control Industry.

It is understood today that this new society, which is to be headed by Guiseppe Frignani, president of the Bank of Naples, will be a subsidiary of the Bank of Italy and that the transaction practically amounts to a transfer of the industrial holdings of the Banca Commerciale Italiana to the Bank of Italy. In other words, it means complete government control of Italy's major industries. Formerly the Banca Commerciale Italiana practically controlled all leading Italian industries.

A special government commission is to be set up to direct these industries, which thus come under the government's hand through the Bank of Italy, and a scheme is afoot to regulate the amount of dividends that the stocks may pay. The maximum is to be 7 per cent. The figure mentioned for the industrial holdings involved is five billion lire [about $262,500,000].

May Freeze Out Some Industries.

Reliable reports also indicate that under government control only those industries which are regarded as essential and as likely to have a future will be given sustenance, the rest being allowed to lapse. The policy of the Fascist government is to emphasize and expand Italy's agricultural riches rather than to go in for over-industrialization.

All these steps are described as far sighted measures to enable Italy to meet any contingency. They are explained as putting into effect the corporative nature of the Fascist state and carrying out Mussolini's announcement that his policy was "toward the left," or "ever more towards the people," as he phrased it. This policy, he explained, did not mean that Italy's economic system would be "bolshevized," and neither did it mean a continuance of liberal economic principles under which, it is believed here, world finances have gone to rot.

These new policies to implement the corporative state are apparently being worked out in sessions of the national council of corporations, which is practically the economic control body of the Fascist state.

Il duce announced he would sweep away the "diaphragms" which stood between his policies and the economic revival of the country. These diaphragms are understood to mean the companies which are paying too high dividends, banks, profiteers, and any one who in the council's opinion seeks to get too much return from capitalism.

VIENNA POLICE SEIZE FAKE PASSPORT SHOP RUN BY COMMUNISTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, Nov. 4.—Police tonight uncovered here what is believed to be a central bureau which furnishes thousands of communists with false passports which allow them to enter the United States and other countries.

Modern machinery for forging passports, visas and birth certificates was found. Two German communists and several accomplices were arrested. Police alleged that the ring worked with Moscow, supplying communists with passports and credentials when they went out on propaganda work for the soviets.

The government agents seized thousands of passports to various countries. They also found engravings of signatures of almost every passport official in the world neatly stamped on documents. Ingenious machines used to alter old passports and complete facsimiles of all known passports and visas were also unearthed.

'MOUNTIE' LIVES AS RED 7 YEARS TO GET HIS MEN

Reveals Moscow Plot to Upset Canada.

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 4.—(AP)—In the scarlet coat of a Royal Canadian mounted policeman, Sergt. John Leopold told from a witness stand today how for seven years he had lived a dual life, posing as a communist and sitting in secret conferences where plots to wreck the government were being hatched.

Looking directly at nine communist defendants on trial for conspiracy, the stalwart young officer told how he had worked with them, plotted with them, issued orders to them, and taken advice from them during those seven years.

He had led the dual life, he said, to maintain the tradition of his service and "get his men." He had acted the rôle so well he never was suspected.

Tells of Tie with Moscow.

His statement found support in the startled expressions of the defendants as they saw the man whom they had elected a fellow officer appear on the stand in the colorful coat, the striped breeches, and high boots of the mounted police force. They had not even known that he was in the courtroom.

The sergeant related that he had put aside his scarlet jacket, donned the shabby clothing of a workman and changed his name to E. W. Eselwain when he enrolled under the red cloak of communism, after receiving orders to obtain evidence against the party.

He soon was elected secretary of the Regina branch of the communist party of Canada and in that capacity was admitted to the inner circle of officers who, he said, were in constant communication with Moscow.

Bares Secret Code.

He declared the communist internationale in Moscow had supplied $2,000 to start the Canadian movement, but when the membership grew to nearly 5,000 "Moscow felt the movement should be self-supporting."

He said a cipher code was used by various units of the internationale in their communications. It was designed by taking a page from a publication and indicating what letters were meant by numbers such as "5-7," referring to the fifth letter of the seventh line.

He said his seven year dual life came to an end in 1929, when he dropped from the communist ranks, went into hiding, and began sorting the vast mass of documents he had collected.

Keeps Copies of Documents.

Many of the communications, he said, he had been forced to destroy upon orders from his superiors in the communist ranks, but before obeying he made copies of them.

He told the court the communist party in Canada was known as "The Workers" from 1921 to 1924, but, he said, there were two organizations in existence at the time, the "legal" or "A" party, and the "illegal" or "Z" party.

The latter, he testified, carried on "illegal work of the communist internationale" while the "A" party gave all the appearance of "being a legitimate organization."

The defendants are charged with being members of an unlawful association and with seditious conspiracy. They face long prison terms if convicted.

Splitting Infinitives O. K., Baltimore Professor Says

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 4.—(AP)—It's all right to split your infinitives. Dr. Kemp Malone of Johns Hopkins university, says so.

"Fashions in words," the professor said, "are like fashions in clothes. I see little difference. Quite a number of words that were accepted years ago are not accepted today, and vice versa."

Take "ain't," for instance. A hundred years ago the best of grammarians used it, Dr. Malone pointed out. Now it's declassé, but it may come back in another hundred years.

Very few technical grammarians object to the split infinitive, he declared.

What's the good of gargling if bad breath still stays bad?

We've made a breath taking discovery for taking away bad breath (halitosis)

Don't waste dollars on antiseptics that must be used full strength. We've discovered a new antiseptic that, even when diluted with two parts of water, kills germs in 10 seconds.

THREE people in four add water to their mouth wash. They don't know that most antiseptics lose germ-killing power unless used full strength. That's why we say: Stop fooling yourself with weak antiseptics.

If you want to check bad breath due to unhygienic mouth conditions, you must destroy the germs that cause it—especially those present in fermenting food particles, ordinary mouth irritations, coated tongue. Do not depend on covering up breath odors with the odor of a mouth wash.

A radical new antiseptic discovery

Modern research laboratories have thrown away the old ideas on killing germs.

Now there's a revolutionary antiseptic on the market—Pepsodent Antiseptic. Its formula is a radical advance. It climaxes the best antiseptic study of 50 years. A germ-killing agent is employed unlike those now in use. It makes Pepsodent Antiseptic from 3 to 11 times more powerful in killing germs than other leading mouth antiseptics, depending on which one you use.

Kills germs in 10 seconds diluted with 2 parts of water

That is the startling news in this new discovery. Think! You can mix Pepsodent Antiseptic with 1 or even 2 parts of water, to suit your taste, and it still kills germs in less than 10 seconds. That's where most other leading mouth antiseptics fail. Yet in spite of all that power, Pepsodent Antiseptic is utterly safe when used full strength. What a weapon this new antiseptic is in fighting bad breath!

SORE THROAT COLDS

Pepsodent Antiseptic does double duty when fighting bad breath. For at the same time it combats colds and throat irritations. Remember P. A. is 3 to 11 times more powerful in killing germs than other leading mouth antiseptics . . . and it kills germs when diluted.

New security against bad breath (Halitosis*)

Pepsodent Antiseptic checks bad breath 1 to 2 hours longer! That's Pepsodent Antiseptic's record in fighting this widespread social offense due to unhygienic mouth conditions. Immediately after use, 95% of germs on mouth surfaces are destroyed. Two hours later the number of germs is still reduced by 80%. That is far longer acting than other leading mouth antiseptics. And remember when you use Pepsodent Antiseptic to check bad breath you are doing double duty by also fighting colds.

$3 worth for $1—regardless of size

To kill germs—most mouth antiseptics must be used full strength. So to mix such antiseptics with water is a waste of money. Contrariwise, Pepsodent Antiseptic can be mixed with twice its own volume of water. Thus Pepsodent Antiseptic goes 3 times as far—saves you $2 for every $1 you spend. Pepsodent Antiseptic comes in 3 sizes: 3 ounces for 25 cents—7 ounces for 50 cents—16 ounces for $1. The larger the size, the more for your money.

Checking bad breath and combating colds are only two uses for this remarkable antiseptic. There are scores of other uses. Some are listed on this page. Learn to rely on Pepsodent Antiseptic whenever a safe, effective germ-killing agent is required. Keep it in the home. Take it with you when you travel.

Again we say: Quit being good to germs. They've laughed at you long enough. Play safe. Buy an antiseptic that really kills germs when diluted. Remember: You can fool yourself but you can't fool bad breath.

Some of the 50 different uses for this modern antiseptic

Cold in Head
Throat Irritations
Voice Hoarseness
Bad Breath
Cold Sores
Canker Sores
Mouth Irritations
After Extractions
After Shaving
Minor Cuts
Blisters

HOW AUSTRALIA FELL INTO OCEAN OF DEBT AND WHY

England's Crisis Parallel; Both in Same Boat.

Force Lower Interest

CANBERRA, Australia, Nov. 4.—(AP)—The senate passed the compulsory conversion bill today directing dissenting holders of Australian government bonds to convert their holdings into new bonds carrying a lower rate of interest. The dissenters hold about 3 per cent of the country's internal debt.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 4.—Oppressed by debts, with national wealth mortgaged to heavily at home and abroad that credit could not be had, stunned by sinking commodity prices and torn politically, Australia has been forced into a tortuous road of sacrifice to remove a situation as bad or worse than that which blasted the pound sterling in England.

Both had the same troubles and are meeting them in much the same way. Both were victimized by government of extravagance. A taxation load and vast makeshift budgets combined to drain their wealths and to pile up towering debts.

The crash came in Australia first. In June, 1930, its credit had been destroyed, deficits were accumulating at a rate which made bankruptcy imminent, and adverse balance of trade was steadily increasing and unemployment was growing.

Bondholders Burden Treasury.

Agriculture was in distress, the prices of wool and wheat had fallen to levels which could not pay for the production of Australia's exportable wealth, and a Labor government was in power. Australia's dole, pension, old age and maternity benefits were a heavy burden on the treasury. Weightier still was the cost of the state operated railroads. These were caught by diminishing freight revenues due to the fall of wool and wheat, while a governmental budgetry policy made it impossible to whittle down the costs of operation.

Prime Minister Scullin forced the government to face its problems. The more moderate wing in the federal parliament supported him. The radicals howled. Just as Prime Minister MacDonald later faced unrest in his Labor ministry in London, Scullin was confronted with a hostile Labor caucus dictating the terms of legislation in Australia to a greater extent even than the trade union congress dominates its members at Westminster.

A year after Australia decided to face the music Great Britain did the same. The Labor party here broke with its leaders, but Scullin managed to hold his following together. But when England's Labor party went before the country with a manifesto demanding "mobilization" of the country's resources abroad to support credit and currency they were tearing a sheet from the program of left wing Laborites in Australia.

An Echo from Australia.

When British extremists demanded nationalization of banks and industry it was an echo of identical demands in Australia. The extremest of the extreme in Britain also adopted Australian demands for repudiation of foreign interest payments. This policy was actually put into effect in one Australian state by Prime Minister Lang of New South Wales.

Finally, when Labor here ranted about war debts and shouted for reductions, it stole a plank from the Australian soap box. But there was a catch, for instead of attacking the United States Labor leaders "from down under" fired all their shots at the Bank of England and the London financial district. What they wanted was not a new deal from "Uncle Shylock" but the same treatment from London which this same "Uncle Shylock" had given England. For the British debt to the United States was funded at 3½ per cent interest. The English charged the Australians 5 per cent.

Australia in 1927-'28 had an adverse trade balance of $32,600,000, although imports had fallen $16,000,000 to $907,970,000. It had maintained its wartime scale of spending and had escaped the effects of falling prices by state help. State railroads and subsidies had cost $170,000,000 and 62 per cent of the country's interest on loans was being paid out of taxation. Taxation from all sources supplied the federal government with $500,000,000 from a population of only 6,300,000 persons.

Find War Brought Burden.

Some estimates placed 86 per cent of governmental expenditures at the door of the war, and there is no question that Australia's commitments were heavy. The debt had been reduced by $200,000,000 from 1924 and stood at about $410,000,000.

That was the situation when S. M. Bruce, Conservative prime minister who preceded Scullin, brought out the last of the makeshift budgets. All parties shared equally in the country's difficulties, and Bruce foresaw the danger when, with a deficit of $12,500,000 for the fiscal year ending June 30 1928, he opened the last Conservative budget.

It was a tight squeeze, and turned out to be too tight. Bruce estimated a surplus for 1928-'29 of $63,000,000. Revenues were placed at $318,000,000 and expenditures at $317,937,000. Political turmoil turned his government out of office, and his swan song was a dirge. He told the country what was wrong, but it took troublesome months before the Laborites who followed him could see the light.

"State functions," Bruce said, "have raised the national debt to $5,500,000,000 and of this only $1,500,000,000 is due to the war. Tariffs and high wages are chasing each other in a vicious circle. The country must economize."

Although E. G. Theodore, Labor secretary of the treasury who came into office with Scullin, made efforts to economize, they were insufficient, and on June 30, 1929, the commonwealth had a deficit of $11,795,000. Sixty per cent of the national debt was mortgaged, and out of a combined commonwealth and state indebtedness of $5,500,000,000, around $4,010,000,000 had been expended on state railways, harbor improvements and other measures with which a government enriched by post-war booms, had sought to develop and expand its great virgin resources.

A conversion plan to reduce the interest charges of state debts was recommended, but Australian credit at home appeared to have soaked up as many potential issues as the banks in London, and there was danger that the saturation point had been reached. A federal loan council was appointed to set a maximum on the borrowing powers of the country and this was first fixed at $150,000,000.

Dispose of Securities.

Then London brokers advised their clients to dispose of Australian securities, and the figure was reduced by 20 per cent to $120,000,000.

Conditions became worse by the end of 1929, when Treasurer Theodore had been forced to revise his budget of the previous summer. He was faced with $935,000,000 in maturing loans in 1930. Of this figure $50,000,000 was represented by a 6 per cent issue due in March, a state loan of $565,000,000, and a federal loan of $300,000,000 maturing in London in December.

Because of the drop in wheat and wool the national income was reduced over a period of a few years from $2,250,000,000 to $500,000,000. There was due annually in pounds sterling $180,000,000 as interest on foreign loans. The overseas indebtedness was placed at $2,870,000,000. Around $65,000,000 in gold had been shipped to London to meet commitments here. The result was that Australia went off the gold standard, in effect, by prohibiting free export of the metal and calling upon private reserves in the country.

ANYBODY IN AUSTRALIA CAN GET DOLE RELIEF; USE TICKETS AS MONEY

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 4.—(AP)—The government's unemployment relief is so easily obtained and so easily manipulated now that dole tickets are being used as currency in beer saloons and on race tracks. Some of the unemployed get tickets under a half dozen or more different names. One man arrested recently had been getting $100 worth of tickets each week. He was listed as the "father" of several nonexistent families.

ANOTHER QUAKE IN JAPAN DROPS ISLAND INTO SEA

TOKIO, Nov. 4.—(AP)—An earthquake which shook all of northeastern Japan at 1:20 o'clock this morning [12:20 p. m., Tuesday, Chicago time] caused the uninhabited island of Sankan, off Port Kamaishi, to disappear into the sea.

It was the most severe earthquake in years in that section, but no loss of life was reported and there was no word of any serious property damage in advices reaching here.

BANDITS KIDNAP GIRL IN AUTO, ROB AND ATTACK HER

Two bandits early this morning kidnaped a young woman as she was driving to her home in an automobile, took her to the forest preserve, attacked her and robbed her of $7 and her machine. She was brought to the city by a passing motorist and reported her experiences to Sergt. Michael Miniter of the Cragin police, who ordered a search for the pair.

The young woman is 22 years old and lives on Bernice avenue in the 4700 block. A girl friend of hers was visiting at her house last night and shortly before midnight she took her visitor home. On he return trip her car was forced to the curb at Kostner and Montana street by two men in another machine. One of the bandits presented a pistol and ordered her to make no outcry. He leaped into the seat beside her and compelled her to follow the machine driven by the other robber out Grand avenue. When they reached the forest preserve she was forced from the car and attacked by both men.

THE VOLSTEAD ACT TOUCHES BOTTOM.

Boleslaw Lidikewicz, a janitor, was brought into the court of Federal Judge John P. Barnes charged with making home brewed beer in the flat he occupied in the apartment building in which he worked. A federal agent testified to the finding of the beer. The janitor did not make a defense, but pleaded guilty. Judge Barnes sentenced him to imprisonment for sixty days and imposed a fine of $100.

One of the tenants of the building, Charles L. Wiley, appeared for the janitor and, as it proved, jeopardized himself. He told the court he was a bit to blame for the janitor's predicament. He knew the man made beer for his own use and had asked him to make some for a party he planned to give to friends in the American Legion. Mr. Wiley is a service man with an excellent combat record in France. He told the court that the janitor had not sold beer, had refused to sell to the neighbors. In view of these facts Mr. Wiley asked if the accused could not be granted some leniency.

The upshot of the intervention was a demand from the assistant United States district attorney, Walter Wiles, that Mr. Wiley be held as an accessory and charged with conspiracy. The judge, after questioning several of the prosecutor's proposals, held the tenant and fixed his bail at $1,000. Mr. Wiley was taken to a cell. Later the indignant commander of his Legion post, Nelson Metz, came to the federal building and signed a bond.

The episode has been given in some detail because it presents the federal government in the most obnoxious position it has occupied since the days of the sedition act, with the possible exception of the days of the fugitive slave act, when, indeed, it presumably was dealing with property rights and not with the bodies of citizens. Nothing could better illustrate the lunacy and bigotry of the Volstead act and other enforcement regulations of federal prohibition.

It appears that the complaint against the janitor came to the federal agents from some one who objected to the smell of the beer making or who, as a prohibitionist, detected the making from the odors. It does not appear that there was a warrant. The agents called at the flat and found the beer. In any country intelligently governed the only offense a home brewer, in the sense of brewing for personal use, could give would be that of annoying the neighbors with the odors of malt. Here it is an odor which under Volstead leads to a cell.

The use of a three or four per cent malt beverage has never before in any civilized country been regarded as a criminal offense punishable by imprisonment. The making of it in English speaking customs has been a housewifely art for centuries. It has been used as a safe substitute for water when water might be impure. It was the substitute for tea and coffee. A law which puts beer in the category of crime is insane.

From this initial denial of reason, development proceeds logically to such a scene as that in the federal court of Judge Barnes with a brutal federal prosecutor seizing every opportunity to serve a fetishism as if he were the offended priest of some bitter religion. In such service the lack of actual offense would be no mitigation of the penalty. A sacerdotal government hits its victims hard.

If the fate of the janitor seems preposterous when his offense is viewed not in the light of a savage law but in the light of all human custom, what shall be said of the case of the witness who appeared to present facts which might weigh in favor of the hapless man? He, a former soldier and a reputable citizen, is put in a cell because he admitted getting some beer from the other victim. For the most part judgment upon such an episode can be left to the sense of justice and the common sense of the people, but it is fit at this point to say that the Volstead act has brought the United States department of justice and its judiciary down to a level it has not often touched.

It is true that its history contains instances of men thrown into cells because they uttered political criticism and of men forced against their conscience to hunt down terrorized victims who had escaped from slavery to free territory. With such instances will rate these instances of citizens thrown in cells because of a bottle of beer. It will not be a mitigation of this rule of unreason that the same government which jails for beer subsidizes the making of wine. It's all crazy.

The case of Mr. Wiley is one which the American Legion, in defense of a member, could well make celebrated.

A TALE OF TWO PARLIAMENTS.

The general assembly of the state of Illinois meets in special session today. The legislature has been summoned because of the virtual bankruptcy of many of the local governments throughout the state and because thousands of taxpayers have been unable or unwilling to pay the taxes imposed on them.

In London on Tuesday the mother of parliaments, the assembly after which the Illinois legislature was modeled, was convened. Thirteen years ago this month Great Britain's greatest war effort was brought to a successful conclusion. Thirteen years ago Great Britain seemed on the eve of a period of unexampled national expansion. Her arms were triumphant; her greatest commercial rival was laid low; all of her energies which had been devoted to war were now available for consolidating her position as the world's principal banker and trader.

Only thirteen years later the British parliament is meeting to attempt to save what can be saved from the ruin. Thirteen years is not a long time, but it has been sufficient to destroy British financial and trading supremacy. The pound has declined in value and British export trade has dropped to the point where it is no longer sufficient to buy the goods needed from abroad to maintain England's living standards.

The present parliament was elected in the hope that it would undo the errors made by other parliaments in those thirteen years. It is at last apparent to the great majority of Englishmen that taxation cannot be increased indefinitely. The British people were beguiled with the notion that almost any scheme put forward in the supposed interest of the less fortunate and less provident could be financed by taxing the more fortunate and more provident. The results have been more than disappointing; they have been disastrous. Heavy taxation has encouraged the flight from the pound and has added to the cost of British manufactures, handicapping them heavily in competition in the world's markets.

Britain of late has sought to remedy the situation by what is, in effect, a partial confiscation of wealth and a partial repudiation of debts. That is what the retreat from the gold standard has meant, but other remedies will be required if there is to be a recovery. If heavy taxation is permitted to continue its work of driving capital out of the country and handicapping trade, the retreat from the gold standard will turn into a rout.

British taxes must be reduced, but that cannot be done unless British government expenditures are first reduced. That, in turn, can be done only by abandoning many of the government activities with which the taxpayers are now charged. If this parliament lacks the courage or the sense to undertake the task of deflating the government there is little reason to believe that Britain's recovery will ensue.

All of this is respectfully called to the attention of the Illinois general assembly. Great Britain was richer than Illinois, but only thirteen years have been required to bring her to virtual bankruptcy. She owes her present state not to the ill will of the members of her parliament, but to their thoughtlessness, their recklessness and their stupid optimisms. Our legislature can profit from the British mistakes. It is no more feasible here than there to pile taxes upon taxes without driving capital from the state and without jeopardizing our industry, agriculture and trade. The example of England stands as a warning to Illinois.

NEW YORK TAKES FRONT AND CENTER.

New York disclosures grow a little more rancid day by day. It was supposed, and the supposition had good yeoman service in New York, that things were better done there than in other cities of the country. Crime was better in hand. It knew its place. There were outrages it would not attempt. The gang knew the repressive hand of law. Government was, at least, discreet. It would not create a scandal. If percentages were collected it would be all in the best of possible good taste and the appearance would be one of accomplishment, and possibly even of virtue.

Tammany was supposed to be too intelligent and too powerful to let anything get out of hand. Some cream, of course, might be taken off before the milk was delivered, but the milk would be neither sour nor blue. The police would behave themselves. Criminals would be considerate. Officials would not be found with unrevealed sources of wealth and unsuspected strong boxes.

Chicago was the incorrigible of the American family, a name running around the world to astonish man everywhere. Wherever Chicago turned it got the raspberry from the vulgar and the high hat from the elect, itself convinced that the difference was in degree of publicity and that publicity itself is a better surgeon than concealment. Chicago now is in a fairly good way, or would be if it could make its collections and get some more money in. Its municipal politics have been pretty well washed up. That they were terrible is conceded. That every one knew they were is one reason they are better now. The chief criminals of the city are changing their addresses from gang resorts to well known jails and penitentiaries. A criminal element which was rooted has become itinerant.

This city feels that it has won a fight. Meanwhile untoward things crowd upon New York. The supposition of its better order had an exposed chin. It is down with the shock. Preëminence in undesirable conditions has crossed the Hudson from the west. Chicago's had enough of it.

OSHKOSH REDUCES TAXES.

[Wisconsin State Journal, Madison.]

Oshkosh has succeeded in effecting a 10 per cent reduction in taxes this year. The lessening of the tax burden has also been accomplished without any decrease in the number of employes in the city or a reduction in the pay roll.

The tax cut has been obtained through a careful survey of the work of all the municipal departments and the cutting off of many expenditures which it was believed would not lessen efficiency.

Only two departments escaped the pruning knife. A larger poor relief fund was provided because the city officials of Oshkosh deemed it a necessity and an additional public service was also added in arrangements for the collection of the municipal garbage.

No public improvements are provided for under the program. These are to be cared for through bond issues. Oshkosh has been reducing its bonded indebtedness in recent years [illegible] and is thus in a position to issue [illegible] public improvements [illegible] dered of aid in th[illegible]

THE FAVORITE COW.

MANY people believe that the best cow's milk for a child is that obtained from a single, or family, cow. This opinion, put another way, is that the parent should arrange to get milk for his family from a certain cow, and to give them no milk from any other source. There are so many good arguments, of one kind or another, against this plan that it has almost fallen into disuse. However, there are still a moderate number of people who follow the plan. They say that the milk from their cow agrees with their children, and other milk does not. That is an excellent reason, if it can be proved correct.

Dr. Reuben Hill of Utah furnishes the first scientific proof of the correctness of this rather general, one time belief. He has established that there is a natural difference in the curd of milk from different cows. Some give milk that forms a soft curd or none at all, while others give milk with a hard curd.

Just why this is so he does not know, nor does he know what is the peculiarity in the chemistry of the milk which forms a soft curd. He has also proved that soft curd milk is a better food for the young of the human species than is the hard curd article. He does not know why. This supplies proof that some cows are better foster mothers for humans than others.

The next step in his demonstration was inventing a simple method of testing milks in this particular. This he has done. The milk is curdled with rennet in the usual fashion. At the end of ten minutes the curd is cut with a prepared knife, and an apparatus measures the amount of force necessary to make the knife cut its way through. This discovery supplies the parent with a method of proving his point by showing that his family cow gives soft curd milk.

Assuming that Dr. Hill's point is proved and finally accepted, it will then be up to the milk industry to find a solution of their problem. It may be that farmers will test their cows and set aside those that produce soft curd milk, for the production of children's and invalids' milk only. Or it may be that our experiment stations may teach us how to feed a cow to make her give a soft curd milk, or perhaps how to breed foster mother cows. Conversely, they may teach us how to feed and breed cows to produce milk that is especially good for cheese.

DIET AND DRINKING.

Mrs. C. C. F. writes: Is there any connection between diet and the craving for alcohol? It seems to me that there must be, but if so, why is not this fact given more emphasis by the friends of temperance?

My husband and I never touch intoxicants—not because we are particularly virtuous but because we honestly don't care for them; and the reason is that our thirst is perfectly satisfied in harmless, natural ways. I buy spring water for table use and we always have an abundance of fruits and vegetables. We would rather have a glass of fresh orange juice than a glass of whisky any day, and once, when a bottle of grape juice was forgotten and allowed to ferment I poured it down the sink, not in any lofty spirit of renunciation but because neither of us wanted it. We considered it spoiled. The flavor of fresh fruit juice is so exquisite that I can't understand any one preferring it to be fermented.

But if we had to live as some do, with hardly any fruits or vegetables from one week's end to another, I suppose the first glass of wine or beer would taste so good we would be tempted to overindulge.

REPLY.

It is possible there is some relation between eating sugar and the desire for alcohol, though no one knows just what it is. A person breaking away from the alcohol habit is said to crave sugar. Beyond this, there is no special relation between the desire for alcohol and the diet.

Men drink alcoholic beverages because of desire and not because of thirst. The urge is emotional rather than physical. They are somewhat out of mental balance. People drink to fool themselves—that they may think they are kings when they are slaves, rich when they are poor, powerful when they are weak, jolly when they are downcast. If you and your husband have no desire for liquor it is because you have mental balance, are not given to wishful thinking, have emotional poise, do not let your feelings dethrone your judgment, have had proper training, have character, and have had favorable social environment; and it is not because of the food you eat or the water you drink.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

AH, THE HAPPY, HAPPY DEMOCRATS! How they laugh and shout and rollick and dance since Tuesday's election. Let them, poor dears; it's a long time since they have had anything happen to them that would even bring the ghost of a sad, stray smile to their pale, haggard faces. But now, for the first time in thirteen long, hungry years, they're going to control the lower house in congress. They're going to have the speaker! Think of that! Think of a Democratic speaker! Why, if any Democrat dared speak during the last thirteen years they roughly told him he was speaking out of his turn. The Republicans have been doing all the speaking on every topic you can think of, and all the sad faced Democrats were expected to do was to sit still and listen. For thirteen long, weary years the Jefferson boys have just been pushed around all over the place. The G. O. P. not only elected their own speaker but named all the chairmen and the majority members of every committee, and all the Democrats could do was sit on the small of their backs and watch the Republicans make whoopee. But now there's going to be a great big sign on the front door of the House of Representatives saying: "This Place Has Changed Hands. An Egg and a Clam with Every Drink." And they'll slick the place all up and have it fumigated and everything and get ready to take over another good piece of real estate in Washington next year called the White House.

CITY.

What do we see in stone and steel that
Split the skies asunder—
What do we see again and again to Make us stop and wonder?

What do we hear within its rhythm,
Pulsing, pressing on—
What do we hear and then remember
After we are gone?

Yet its voice will seek us out
And find our own retreats,
Reaching us wherever we are, who Once have walked its streets.

FERRY ADAMS.

THE CITY MANAGER thing was voted out in Cleveland. And yet do you not remember away back when we thought the city manager stuff was the candy? Ah, said we all, a city as well as the great government at Washington should be run as a big business. That's the idea, fellows, run the government like a business. Get the big, practical business boys on the job and everything will be jake. We won't have to bother about things any more. So we gave the politicians a swift kick in the pants and tried cool, calm, steady business heads on the thrones of the mighty. And it worked, oh, it worked beautifully! Lykell, lykell, lykell!

THE NEWS is front paged all over the world that Japan has "ordered troops into Manchuria." The Jap troops that have been pouring into Manchuria for the last six months probably sneaked out of Japan when nobody was looking and hitchhiked into Manchuria.

NOW YOU SEE! We've kept warning one and all, and especially radio announcers, about their pronunciation and general treatment of the King's English. But in spite of all we could do a wife in Chicago brings suit against her husband on the grounds of cruelty, alleging he split his infinitives, said ain't all the time, and ended his sentences with a preposition. We read the story with great interest, thinking, of course, the husband was a radio announcer, but it turns out he's an interior decorator. However, he may have lectured on interior decoration over the radio. We won't give up hope.

Anyhow, you see where carelessness in grammar leads to, and if the cruelty charge is sustained people will not only be sued for divorce on those grounds but arrested for shocking and extreme cruelty to the English language if the husband says "constitooshun," "Perdoo," "roon," "nooze," "proven," and things like that. Yes, sir, the day is coming when a husband who does those things will have fifty thousand bucks alimony to pay. And maybe a life stretch in the penitentiary. Oh, well, do as you please; we're just telling you, that's all.

"NAN BRITTON Takes Stand in Secret Session of Her Libel Suit."—The Trib. Oh, great for Nannie! She's got a title for her next book that will beat "The President's Daughter" to a frazzle. "Secret Session," by Nan Britton. Whoops! my dear, hop to it!

WE RECEIVED a very lovely poem in the mail yesterday. It is called "Keep Thou My Heart," and the sender says it was found scribbled in pencil on a card in the pocket of an old overcoat that the late Prof. Buel P. Colton used to wear on his annual vacation outings. We don't know—and apparently our correspondent doesn't know—whether Professor Colton wrote the poem himself or merely admired it so much he copied it; but it is so very fine and lovely that we are going to print or reprint it here and now, with acknowledgments wherever:

Keep thou my heart till summer comes again,
O little cabin folded in God's hills.
Here in the city's toil it has small part;
I cannot make it happy. Care and pain
Will be its portion where the myriad ills
Of life surround it. Take my tired heart
Safe in the promise of a thousand springs,
Where it can hide away and take its rest.
The snow will comfort it; the April rain
Will waken it with all the growing things
That slumber in the dear Earth-Mother's breast.
Keep thou my heart till summer comes again.

THANKSGIVING DAY has been proclaimed by the President and we've been told why we should be thankful. Which was a mighty fine idea; we didn't know, we didn't know. However, we refuse to be thankful until we're able to buy a turkey; then we're going to be mighty thankful for that.

ATHENS.—The situation in Greece, as between the king, the cabinet, and the chamber of deputies, threatens developments of vast consequence. In connection with the clash that culminated today in the resignation of the Zaimis cabinet, M. Venizelos, former premier, criticized King Constantine sharply, saying: "I know the king is a distinguished general, but he is not equally experienced in things political."

BERLIN.—Special dispatches from the Serbian front report signs of demoralization among the Serbian troops. They assert that deserters from the Serbian army are increasing daily. Heretofore these have been for the most part Macedonians, but they now include the regular line troops, all poorly fed and clothed. Notwithstanding the stubborn resistance of the Serbs, the German troops are pushing forward on both sides of the Koinenik mountain district north of Krallevok. To the east thereof the Zakucava-Peleca-Jagodina line has been crossed.

NEW YORK.—President Wilson, addressing the Manhattan club, spoke his mind definitely and frankly upon the problems which most concern the people. In words that fell like hammer blows the President admitted that since force is now the factor that sways the world this country must prepare itself to vindicate its right to independent and unmolested action by making the force within it ready for assertion. He voiced his approval of the new program of defense and preparedness, the assembling of force not for attack against any nation, for aggression in any quarter, or for satisfaction of any sort of ambition, but purely to make sure of our own security.

LONDON.—The Paris correspondent of the Daily Mail says he understands that dispatches have been received at the French capital announcing that Admiral Caillard's division of the French Mediterranean squadron has arrived at Smyrna and seized the customs house to enforce France's claim against the Porte.

CHICAGO.—Dan M. Hogan, bookmaker and old time gambler, is dead. He was slain by his own son, who shot to save his mother from her infuriated husband. Among Hogan's last words were: "It was my fault. I had it coming to me." The shooting took place in Hogan's house in Wilmington, Ill. For twenty years Hogan had been bookmaker at the race tracks around Chicago and was one of the best known men in the Chicago gambling fraternity, having operated several houses in Chicago. During the elder Carter Harrison's first administration Hogan was known as "captain" of gamblers on the west side. He made a fortune at the race tracks but lost the greater part of it at the gaming table.

WASHINGTON.—The resignation of John W. Foster, minister to Russia, has been accepted by Secretary of State Blaine in the name of the President.

WASHINGTON.—President Arthur has given special orders that the plumbing in the White House shall be so arranged that sewer gas cannot enter his living rooms. It was directed that the stationary wash bowls be removed and new sewer traps be used in the basement.

PHILADELPHIA.—The Hon. Lionel Sackville-West, the new British minister to the United States, arrived here and was banqueted by the British societies of Philadelphia. Secretary Blaine was present and in reply to the toast to his health, which was drunk standing, renewed the expression of sympathy and fraternity which exists betwen the two countries.

CHICAGO.—Judge Tuley rendered a decision in the James A. Baker-Board of Trade case, holding that the Board of Trade has the right to suspend brokers for not fulfilling their contracts and declaring that there was a "power inherent in the board" in discipline its members.

MILLIONS FOR DOGS.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—Sympathy is a beautiful emotion, but when it takes expression in the elaborate care of lower animals at a time when human beings are suffering and dying, deprived of food, clothing and medical care for lack of money, there is an enormous perversion of the sentiment.

What a perversion of sympathy to give $2,500,000 to the elaborate care of yelping, snarling, ofttimes vicious brutes at a time when thousands of sweet babes at their mothers' breasts need food and care. Millions of potentially charming and useful children are in want in this country today. Hundreds of thousands of children in this city today are growing up stunted and diseased, physically and mentally, because of inadequate food and shelter. Thousands of children will die this winter unnecessarily of pneumonia, influenza, meningitis, and tuberculosis, because their parents are too poor to buy food and obtain medical care at the right time.

It is a great pity that the late Mrs. McConnell knew of no better purpose for more than two million dollars than to let it "go to the dogs." Should a woman of her mentality be allowed to direct the spending of so much money? Is not the use of such huge sums for such trivial purposes, in place of saving the lives of babes and children, a prima facia evidence of insanity? Cannot the courts retrieve such atrocious mistakes?

MAURICE B. VISSCHER,

THE DOLE.

Chicago, Oct. 31.—Those who favor unemployment insurance and doles are saying that there is only so much to go around, and the sum total must be spread a little thinner over the whole. Such a policy has caused increasing poverty in Europe, and yet we have it in full bloom here in Chicago. Exacting one day's pay a month from the employed for charity handouts may seem an ideal way to raise relief funds, but the final effect is anything but ideal. It is a wage cut that makes the worker feel poorer, and in many cases moves him nearer to the miserable poverty which he is paying to maintain. Chicago's relief efforts are starting the vicious circle of the thing they affect to abhor—the dole. ROBERT W. SHOEMAKER.

MEAT FOR THE HUNGRY.

Chicago, Oct. 31.—Why not get the city authorities to sanction the trapping by unemployed of the many pigeons which are scattering filth from the copings of our buildings and L station railings? This trapping could be done on the tops of certain buildings or in some out of the way place where it would not offend the sensibilities of those who are especially fond of these birds. This plan would provide some much needed food and at the same time rid our city of much unnecessary filth. Is this idea worth a little effort on your part to put across? DAILY READER.

TYRANNY.

Chicago, Nov. 1.—Perhaps you have noticed that while communists may utter sedition and with impunity may advocate openly the destruction of our country, we Americans are forbidden to urge national defense! Nice tyranny!

CORPORATE SURPLUSES.

Hollywood, Ill., Nov. 1.—In your editorial today on "Corporate Surpluses" you advocate the distribution of these surpluses in the form of dividends to the stockholders.

Why not use some of this money to manufacture staple products? Hundreds of millions, possibly billions, are today tied up in such stagnant surpluses. If every manufacturing plant would take 25 per cent of its surplus and use it in making such of its products as are staple and not subject to style change, even though there is no immediate demand clamoring for the goods, it would provide employment for hundreds of thousands of workers at no loss to the factories except the relatively small cost of carrying the finished products until the market is ready to absorb them.

If the steel corporation would take $100,000,000 of its $400,000,000 cash surplus and fabricate steel I beams and other items of standard specifications and store them away temporarily, it would be doing a much more commendable job than cutting 10 per cent of the wages of its workers and then giving them nothing to do to boot. Any one of their stock or shipping clerks can present to the chairman of the board an accurate list of such items. The same thing applies to hundreds of other industries producing nonperishable merchandise not subjected to violent changes and standardized by long usage.

Let Mr. Hoover appoint just one more commission of about 25 bookkeepers and 25 stock clerks of some of the leading manufacturers of staple products to work out this plan and he'll get more action within a month than resulted from all his other deliberative bodies put together. J. C.

ARGUMENT FOR A LICENSE LAW.

Chicago, Oct. 31.—Arthur Esch, a steel worker, 63 years old, after killing a pedestrian with his car and carrying him on his bumper for three blocks, explains the accident by the fact that for an hour or more after leaving his work he is more or less deaf, and that his eyes are beginning to fail, due to his advanced age. Yet there is no legal way to prevent this man from driving a car on the public streets and menacing the health, life and happiness of thousands who may come in his way.

Is there a more forceful argument in favor of a drivers' license law?

WERNER KLOSTERMANN.

IT BEGINS TO LOOK THAT WAY.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 24.—I see where Premier M. Laval got over to visit Mr. Hoover before our congress met, which wasn't a bad idea at all. But I want to ask you, Is this M. Laval any kin to that De Laval feller that makes such a good cream separator? D. L. WALLS.

MILK.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—If, instead of killing every tenth cow, some method were devised whereby milk could be delivered at ten cents per quart, there would be no surplus and the underfed and undernourished children could be given a more nearly adequate supply. If, as has been stated, milk sells for two cents a quart at the farm, it would seem as if eight cents would pay all costs of distribution and still leave something for profit.

WALL ST. HAS NO REMEDIES TO AID TIMID BUSINESS

Views Depression as Law of Nature.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 4.—[Special.]—If America today is in a Messianic mood and seeks a new plan and leadership out of social and economic ills, such will hardly be found in the temples of the money changers of New York.

The whole philosophy of Wall street today may be said to simmer down to this—that the people, having gotten themselves into a speculative mess, must now suffer out of it; that there is not much that can be done about it now, but that a new structure of business confidence will presently arise on the same old foundations.

While the Rev. Harry Emerson Fosdick thunders from the new Rockefeller cathedral on Riverside drive that some way must be found to build a better social order "to prevent a recurrence of this outrageous catastrophe," the only answer of Wall street is to ask for more freedom to let the present system work out, with profound genuflections in the direction of the sacred "law of supply and demand."

Fear Political Reprisals.

The bankers and brokers are huddling together a bit closer these days and keeping silent for the most part, fearing political reprisals from Washington this winter and next year. They are lukewarm toward the Swope plan or any other than for job insurance, or toward economic guidance from governmental sources.

Physically, the street seems to be in a boom period rather than a depression. From the outlook of old Trinity church, where many of the white collar jobless sit near the gravestones of colonial days and regard the pigeons, or the sparrows nesting in the beards of Isaiah and Noah, the scene is one of soaring activity. The old First National bank is coming down. Walls are falling, foundation shovels are at work, and the sound of many hammers. The flags are flying over the new tower of the Maritime exchange. On the site of the old buttonwood trees and taverns where the traders of the early days gathered to talk of gold standards, just as they do today, a tower of 71 stories sings of the material progress of America, and gives an outlook undreamed of in an earlier age.

Defends Exchange Practices.

The New York Stock exchange is modestly housed across the street from the house of Morgan. This club of traders and brokers, remaining unregulated by government as yet, is particularly fearful of the political results of the speculative madness of 1929 and the subsequent deflation and suffering.

Above the tall pillars of the entrances, marked "Members only," there is a symbolic group of statuary, representing a winged figure reaching out and blessing kneeling humans before her. From his office on the sixth floor, Richard Whitney, president of the exchange, is doing his best to convince the people and lawmakers that the exchange has in reality been a blessing instead of a curse to the people, and its manipulations have not paralyzed legitimate commercial and industrial credits.

Legislation to stop short selling and to tax stock sales has already been rumored in advance of the next congress, and Mr. Whitney has sought to counter this by writing and circulating a pamphlet on short selling. Half a million copies have already been sent out, it is said.

Short selling means selling a stock you do not own, borrowing the stocks [the broker does it] and delivering it to the purchaser. The short seller hopes that the price will drop, in which case he can buy in at a lower figure and return to the lender, pocketing the profit.

"In September, 1929," one broker has testified, "we brokers borrowed over seven billions for speculation. We used this money one hour to bet that the market price of stocks would be greater or less the next hour."

There is a tale in New York of one young plunger who pawned his watch and pyramided until he had a million. The wreckage is still be gathered.

Mr. Whitney's argument, briefly, is as follows:

"The stock market reflects business conditions. It is not their cause. It is wrong to say that a ban on short selling could halt our business depression. When economic equilibrium in the world's affairs is again reëstablished—and make no mistake, it will be—liquidation of securities will stop, buyers will regain confidence, and prices will rise. The prohibition of short selling would delay and cannot hasten this process. Neither our governmental authorities by means of legislation nor the New York Stock exchange by means of its regulations can by any magic stroke perform economic miracles."

Wall Street's Explanation.

"It is wholly misleading," he says, "to view the depression as a disease. In reality it is an inevitable though drastic readjustment from folly and illusion to wisdom and reality. If the world had paid more heed to the law of supply and demand, if natural rather than artificial price making had been consistently fostered, if sound economic knowledge and experience rather than human vanity and short sighted selfishness had formulated the policies of governments and of business everywhere, no such violent readjustment would have been necessary. In our blindness we denied the truth, but to our cost we have discovered that the truth is mighty and will prevail.

"There has been much criticism of the seeming inertness with which American business has faced this depression. I am not sure that in reality this passive attitude may not, in the main, have been rather wise. Obviously, a major readjustment had to take place. The fact that we have let nature take its course may augur well for the ultimate prosperity of the country."

Sees Change In Tide.

The stock exchange, therefore, was the scene of a debacle, not the cause of it. Mr. Whitney accepts no responsibility in the matter, but thinks that the natural laws of business which brought about the recession in prices are now working the other way and the tide is beginning to roll back. It remains for us in the future to heed the principle of supply and demand and not to try any legislative shortcuts and fallacies.

In the meantime the brokers are waiting for a new crop of lambs to mature, living on their reserves or on hope, cutting out golf clubs and European trips and many smaller luxuries. Whether any lesson has been learned remains to be seen, for it was Daniel Drew, one of the early operators of the street, who said, after a disastrous tilt with Commodore Vanderbilt:

"To speculate in Wall street when you are not an insider is like buying cows by candlelight."

Robert Irving Warshaw, historian of Wall street, has this suggestion for the future:

"Where once wandered a few amiable families of stray pigs, there now are herded together the men who pull the strings that move the world. The force that is in the hands of a few strong men is powerful enough to dwarf and engulf the power of the greatest of all hereditary monarchs. That the rule of Wall street is wise and beneficent is all that prevents its mammoth power from being more widely appreciated and feared.

People May Yet Rule It.

"Since 1890, the beginning of the period of great amalgamations, the secret levers of all the great industries in the United States have been concentrated in the money center. Since 1920, the middle class, made prosperous by the war and conscious of a new means of getting rich without working, has borne down on the street and although fleeced time and time again they laid siege to the battlements. By 1922 more than fifteen million persons were owners of stocks. This distribution has made it possible for financiers to control with little ownership, since the real owners, the people, were scattered and unorganized. The market has become the national plaything. The middle class is accumulating and holding and may yet conquer the United States."

SCHOOL BOARD LETS $2,700,000 CONTRACTS FOR CONSTRUCTION

Construction and repair contracts aggregating $2,700,000 were awarded yesterday by the school board. Work on three new junior high schools, part of the 1930 building program is involved, as well as repairs to several old buildings. There is no money available for building purposes.

After hearing a delegation of Lane alumni, the school board decided against renaming the new Lane Technical High school at Addison street and Western avenue, at least for the present. A proposal to rename the school in honor of Thomas A. Edison was placed on file without other action.

Among those in the protesting delegation were Ian M. Robertson, president of the Lane Alumni association; Hobart Sommers, principal of the Chase school; Ald. John J. Hoellen, Grant Beebe, principal of Lane, and Mabel E. Smallwood, teacher at Lane, and a niece of Albert G. Lane, for whom the school was named.

Body of Unidentified Man Taken from Drainage Canal

The body of an unidentified man was taken from the drainage canal yesterday six miles northeast of Lemont. He was about 53 years old, 5 feet 8 inches tall, and weighed 175 pounds. Two newspaper clippings telling of injuries to Patrick Moylan, 209 East Superior street, and Thomas Maggus, 5311 Nevada street, were found in the dead man's clothing. Moylan was found and said he did not know the canal victim. According to one clipping, Maggus had been killed.

BLAME POLITICS FOR NATION'S ECONOMIC ILLS

Curb on I. C. C. Is Urged Before Rail Men.

A thousand members of the Railway Business association last night wound up a day of exploration into the causes of depression and its possible cure with a final lively session in the Stevens hotel at which politics was blamed for the economic ills of the nation.

There were present not only large manufacturers from whom the railroads buy their supplies and equipment but railway presidents and many business leaders in Chicago and elsewhere.

They applauded a former interstate commerce commissioner who described the movement for public ownership as "the negative manifestation of the inferiority complex on the part of the incompetents."

Urges Limit on Powers.

And they cheered a railroad president who proposed limiting the regulatory powers exercised over railway operations by the interstate commerce commission.

The banquet last night followed a day of resolutions in which the association had condemned virtually every business enterprise that the government has embarked upon.

President Paul Shoup of the Southern Pacific pointed out that one-sixth of the national income is being absorbed by taxes, and warned against heavy government borrowing to finance projects for the relief of unemployment because of the likelihood of such indebtedness being a severe liability later.

His remarks on the subject of wages were considered especially significant because of the number of railway executives in his audience and the fact that the American Railway association had met only a few hours before.

Sees Room for Wage Cuts.

"Living costs have gone down," he said, "and that means an increase for the workers. I want to say that railway people are not blind to this question. There is room for reduction in rates of pay. Such reductions would be far more advantageous to the workers and to the public in general than the reductions in pay rolls that we have been experiencing."

Mr. Shoup declared that the railroads were not seeking government aid, but were asking that past mistakes be remedied.

"I believe that the interstate commerce commission should be relieved of a number of its obligations," he said.

Mr. Shoup proposed further the elimination of the recapture clause of the transportation act, abandonment of the practice of attempting to evaluate the properties of the carriers—which operation has cost them some $35,000,000 to date, and relief for the roads from the necessity of defraying the cost of highway grade separation projects which yield the railroads no return and facilitate operations for their competitors, the trucks.

Would Restrict Water Lines.

"Legislation should be enacted," he continued, "to prevent additional water lines operating through the Panama canal without a certificate of convience and necessity."

He concluded with a message of cheer.

"We look forward with confidence. There are some indications that we have reached the end of the depression. I find this in my own territory."

Thomas F. Woodlock, former member of the interstate commerce commission, spoke on "Goverment Competition with Citizens." He referred to Muscle Shoals and Boulder Dam as "colossal blunders" and the political sentiment behind their development as "humbug."

PRESIDENT LOWELL DENIES REPORT HE INTENDS TO RESIGN

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard "has no intention of resigning at the conclusion of the current academic year," according to a statement authorized by him tonight and issued by the university.

The statement, which represented the first time President Lowell has recognized officially the recurrent rumors that he intended resigning soon, was issued in response to reports published today that he would retire at the end of the 1931-'32 academic year in favor of Kenneth Ballard Murdock, recently appointed dean of the faculty of arts and sciences of Harvard college.

THOSE INCOME TAX BLUES FILL SPRINGFIELD AIR

Lawmakers Dread Ordeal Today.

relief of tax spenders, not taxpayers, and the income tax proposal is especially to be condemned.

"Everybody is of the opinion that most of the wealth of the state is in the hands of the corporations, yet we find this wealth excluded from the income tax. Men earning only $1,000 a year must pay a tax. Why, a man can hardly live on $1,000 a year, let alone putting some of it in the hands of the state. If it is all right to include the corporations in the federal income tax, surely they should be included in the state income tax."

A Republican leader in the upper house of the assembly, Senator Roy C. Woods of the Hyde Park district, also censured the corporation omission. Senator Woods led the fight in his house against the income tax at the regular session earlier this year and expects to battle against it again at the special meeting.

Calls It Tax on Poor.

"No one can expect me to go to Springfield and vote for a measure that saddles an income tax upon the poor people," he said. "I realize that no one has a monopoly on brains in figuring what must be done in our present crisis, and surely there must be a better plan than this. I'm not so sure that an income tax in lieu of all other taxes is not fair and just, if it is constitutional, but when it adds to the people's burdens, it becomes confiscatory.

"The omission of corporations from the proposed tax is an injustice to the small-salaried citizens."

Senator Thomas J. Courtney, the senate minority leader, said: "I'm in no mood to vote for a bill that shifts the burden from the corporations and puts one on the white collar worker or the laborer earning $26 or less per week. I thought this program was to be designed to help the taxpayer. Instead, it seems, they are figuring on making him pay a lot of new taxes."

Efforts to include the corporations in the income tax bill before he will even be willing to consider it will be made by Ald. Thomas J. O'Grady, a Democratic state representative, he said yesterday.

The board of education yesterday authorized President Lewis E. Myers to appoint a committee to go to Springfield and urge the passage of bills which would give the school board the right to sell $75,000,000 worth of bonds to increase its cash working fund, and $50,000,000 worth of bonds for a school building program.

The same bills were frowned upon at the last session of the legislature, and did not win the approval of the revenue commission. Trustees proposed yesterday that additional bills be submitted, reducing the school tax rates in case of approval of the bond issues, so that "no additional burden would be placed on taxpayers."

HOOVER AGREES TO SPEED BUILDING OF ILLINOIS WATERWAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—President Hoover told Senator Otis F. Glenn [Rep., Ill.] today that he is in favor of expediting the completion of the Illinois waterway and will take up the matter at once with the chief of army engineers, Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown.

MAJ. GEN. BROWN. [A. P. Photo.]

Senator Glenn called on the President to submit a request for speeding up the work on the waterway, which is being completed by the federal government. The program of construction now in progress calls for the opening of the canal to navigation in the spring of 1933.

Senator Glenn asked the President if it would not be possible to accelerate the work by making available larger allocations of funds for construction at once. He said that with more money at the disposal of the engineers it would be possible to extend the construction operations all along the line, putting thousands of men now unemployed to work and insuring completion of the job at least six months ahead of time.

The senator, as he left the White House, said that he had been assured by the President of complete sympathy with the proposal to expedite the work.

FRIENDS RAISE ALIMONY TO KEEP HIM OUT OF JAIL

Six months ago Maurice J. Tausig, 25 years old, was a happily married young husband working in the prosperous furniture store of his father, Leo J. Tausig, at 2939 Lincoln avenue.

But disaster overtook him. His wife, Sylvia, left him and filed suit for divorce. Maurice was ordered by Judge Daniel P. Trude to pay her $15 a week. That was not difficult until a month ago when his father's store failed and Maurice lost his job.

Last Tuesday, he went before Judge Trude and obtained an order reducing his alimony to $10 a week on condition that he pay all his $100 debt by 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Otherwise Maurice must go to jail.

Broke and jobless, Maurice went to a neighborhood drug store where he was known and told his story. Clark Moss, one of the store proprietors, after Tausig was gone, suggested that each of his friends contribute $1 so that Tausig might remain free.

When the store closed Tuesday night, $50 had been collected. During the first three hours yesterday another $27 was taken in. By this time Maurice had learned of the efforts in his behalf. He appeared at the store and sat down to wait. At 2 o'clock the fund still remained at $77. Then twenty friends arrived and contributed the balance. At 3:30 o'clock Maurice departed bearing the $100. At one minute to 4 he paid the bill.

GOVERNOR PICKS HOUSING BOARD; 12 CHICAGOANS

Gov. Emmerson yesterday appointed the members of the state housing commission, authorized by the regular session of the legislature earlier this year. The commission was created by a bill introduced by Representative Anna Wilmarth Ickes [Rep., Winnetka].

The commission has thirteen members, all except one being Chicagoans. They are Alfred K. Stern, Joseph K. Brittain, Leonard M. Reiner, Ernest A. Grunsfeld Jr., Wirt Wright, George Richardson, R. C. Wieboldt, Louis Brownlow, Prof. Paul H. Douglas of the University of Chicago, Prof. Arthur J. Todd of Northwestern university, Charles S. Duke, and Miss Edith Abbott of the University of Chicago. The downstate member is Herbert B. White of Peoria.

The commission will investigate housing conditions in Illinois and report its findings to the next general assembly in 1933.

Get some FUN out of YOUR life!

Wake up your body . . . Clear the poisons away . . .

BEAUTY
Dull skin—dull eyes come from poisons in your system. Bright eyes, a clear, fresh skin, come naturally when you are internally clean! You have sparkle, life, charm—you are no longer a person half-awake. Start Sal Hepatica now! Note: Sal Hepatica is a great help in the reducing diet.
HEALTH
Life's no fun when you're only half-awake. If you really want to feel fine, sweep away the poisons and wastes—and your clean, poison-free blood will go coursing through your veins and give you a new pep and brightness. Keep internally clean with Sal Hepatica; you'll get a new pleasure out of life.

Find out now about SAL HEPATICA!

Lots of men and women who drag themselves through the day—and envy others their sparkle and their brilliance—ought to know about Sal Hepatica.

Nobody possibly can get the joy out of life if their body is clogged with poisons and with waste—if they fail to keep themselves internally clean.

You'll feel like a new person—you'll act like one—you'll look like one.

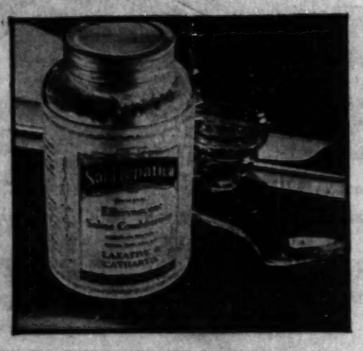
Today—get a bottle of Sal Hepatica from your drug store. Tomorrow morning when you get up, pour a teaspoon or so of the sparkling salts into a glass of fresh water—and drink down the bubbling mixture!

Don't think that Sal Hepatica is "just a laxative". Sal Hepatica is a saline—it contains the same salines as do the health springs at the famous European spas to which physicians send wealthy patients who need to have their systems toned up to new vigor and health.

Sal Hepatica does far more than any ordinary laxative can possibly do. For it clears poisons from the bloodstream. It tones up the system. It combats headache, colds, rheumatism, digestive disorders, poor complexion. It never has a tendency to make its users stout. It wakes up the body to a new sense of the joy of living! Get a bottle today.

THE TRUTH ABOUT SALTS IN THE REDUCING DIET!

Salines are valuable to women seeking to reduce. But, of course, correct diet is the first essential. See your doctor, get the right program for you. The best medical opinion here and abroad highly recommends a dependable saline like Sal Hepatica as an aid in the reducing diet.



CONSTIPATION

Whenever you wake up in the morning with any of the symptoms of constipation—take 2 teaspoonfuls of Sal Hepatica in a glass of water. Promptly, gently the wastes that are clogging your system will be flushed away. You'll feel fine!

HEADACHE

To relieve the intestinal congestion which causes so many headaches, take a teaspoonful of Sal Hepatica in a large glassful of warm water and repeat this saline treatment in 15 minutes if not relieved. Sal Hepatica helps a lot.

COLDS

The very first step in clearing a cold is to flush out the system with 2 to 4 teaspoonfuls of Sal Hepatica in a large glassful of water. Then continue the use of Sal Hepatica each morning before breakfast to keep your system free of congestion.

BAD COMPLEXION

To keep the bloodstream clear of those impurities that so often cause blemishes and skin eruptions, take 1 teaspoonful of Sal Hepatica in a large glass of water upon arising—for a week, or as long as you may find it necessary.

RHEUMATISM

As an eliminant in rheumatism, flush out the system with 2 to 4 teaspoonfuls of Sal Hepatica in a glass of water. Keep free of poisons and acidity by taking 1 to 2 tesspoonfuls in a glass of water before each meal and retiring. It's a real aid.

CUTMORE TELLS HOW ASSESSORS MISS PERSONALTY

Assails Methods Used to Value Property.

Slipshod methods of the board of assessors in appraising personal property, with the result that but a small percentage of such property is represented on the tax books, were described yesterday before County Judge Jarecki by Harry S. Cutmore, former director of appraisals of the board.

Cutmore appeared as a witness for the plaintiffs in a case in which some 2,000 taxpayers are protesting their 1928 and 1929 taxes levied on real estate. The taxpayers contend that the assessments for those years were void because the assessors failed to list more than a small proportion of the vast wealth held in Cook county as personal property, thus putting a disproportionate and allegedly illegal burden on real estate.

Testifying Monday before Judge Jarecki, Mr. Cutmore said that while he was director of appraisals he started to work out a system for personal property appraisals similar to the scientific assessment system which he set up for real estate. At that time, he charged, he was ordered to "lay off" by assessors, who told him that they had no funds for the work.

Yesterday he told of an independent appraisal which he made of personal property after he left the board of assessors as a representative of the plaintiffs in the pending case. He appraised the physical properties, such as stocks of merchandise, furniture, manufacturing equipment and automobiles, all of which are classified as personal property, in six assessment districts in Chicago. His appraisal did not cover stocks, bonds, or similar evidences of intangible wealth.

Results of Appraisal.

His figures and those of the board of assessors in the 1929 assessment were as follows:

District.	Cutmore appraisal.	Assessors.
Dist. 6, Jefferson	$ 781,200	$36,900
Dist. 20, Jefferson	589,340	17,325
Dist. 18, Lake	740,001	61,832
Dist. 19, Lake	1,206,405	39,900
Dist. 21, Lake	1,207,651	39,785
Dist. 22, Lake	957,197	28,000

The assessors' valuations are supposed to be 27 per cent of the fair cash values. For the six districts covered, however, they were only 2.55 per cent of the Cutmore appraisals.

Mr. Cutmore then produced records copied from the assessors' books, in which the merchandise in a south side store had been valued by the assessors' own appraiser at $5,000. Later an unsworn schedule listing the value of the goods at $100 was filed with the assessors, and their own valuation scratched out and the lower one substituted.

"How do you explain that?" Judge Jarecki asked.

"I don't know how to explain it," Mr. Cutmore replied. "It's very curious—involves something not honest."

Attempts to Sell Stolen Chickens to Their Owner

Berger Force, 42 years old, took three prize Leghorn hens from a coop in a lot at 2118 Church street, Evanston. He wrung their necks, stepped across the street and tried to sell them for $1 to George Shaw, 2121 Church street. It happened that Shaw was the owner of the chickens. Force was arrested. Justice of the Peace James M. Corcoran yesterday fined him $50 and, unable to pay, Force was taken to the county jail.

U. S. AGENTS RAID CLUB OF 'WELSHER' MARDEN AGAIN

Get Warrant for Dive Owner.

Federal prohibition agents detailed by Administrator John F. J. Herbert yesterday paid another visit to the Continental Gold Coast club at 19 Cedar street, armed with axes, crowbars, and sledge hammers. They did not find Ben [the Welsher] Marden, proprietor of the gambling house and grog shop, but later in the day obtained a warrant for him.

The agents, accompanied by six policemen, arrived early in the morning and immediately discerned, they said, that the raid had been "tipped off." Marden was not there, nor was the bartender, but one Ben Levin invited the raiders in.

"I am the new manager," said Levin. "Mr. Marden is no longer connected with the place. He hasn't been for three weeks."

"That's all right, we have enough evidence against him. What we are looking for now is booze," said the agent. Then showing Levin a night search warrant, they began chopping a hole in one of the walls.

Levin was panic stricken. He produced the keys, showed the agents the secret caches, and invited them to look around. They did, and found them all empty. Levin was arrested, arraigned before United States Commissioner Walker, and held in bond of $2,000. A John Doe warrant was also issued for the bartender.

The agents first visited the gambling dive on Oct. 29, with warrants of arrest for the three former operators of the place. At that time Marden invited them in and assured them he was the manager. That same night, a man named C. E. Austin, accompanied by Policeman Walter E. Gregory, purchased four drinks of liquor. The policeman made the affidavit for the search warrant.

On this evidence, Marden is charged with sale, possession and maintenance of a nuisance, and the United States attorney's office is studying the agents' report to determine whether the place can be padlocked.

In requesting bond of $2,000 for Levin, Assistant United States Attorney Alfred W. Bosworth characterized the so-called club as "a notorious dive that was once padlocked while Cockeyed Mulligan Ablin was running it."

One of the prohibition agents expressed surprise that the place could operate in view of the city building code.

"It has no rear stairway or exit and is obviously a fire trap," said the agent.

ERLANGER GAVE LAND TO "WIFE," JURY IS TOLD

New York, Nov. 4.—[Special.]—Testimony that Abraham L. Erlanger contemplating erecting a $65,000 residence for Miss Charlotte Fixel, former actress, on property worth $40,000 in Garden City, L. I., which he had deeded to her, was heard today by Surrogate O'Brien in the trial of Miss Fixel's suit to establish herself as the threatical man's common law widow. Several more witnesses called by Max D. Steuer, Miss Fixel's attorney, asserted they knew the contestant and Mr. Erlanger as man and wife.

Miss Fixel must establish herself as Mr. Erlanger's widow before she can contest his will, which left his estate of many millions to his brother and two sisters.

Smoke a fresh cigarette

The tobaccos in CAMELS have never been parched or toasted!

The source of that rare freshness is the fine Turkish and mild Domestic tobaccos of which Camels are blended.

These full-mellow, sun-ripened tobaccos—more costly and choice to start with—are naturally smooth, cool, fragrant, palatable.

The natural moisture which infuses them with mildness and flavor is vigilantly safeguarded and skilfully preserved—our tobaccos are never parched or toasted.

The Camel Humidor Pack is a great boon to smokers because it insures that a perfectly conditioned fresh cigarette comes to you in prime smoking condition.

If you smoke Camels you know what that means—what a relief they offer from the harsh hot smoke of dusty-dry factory-stale tobaccos.

Smoke a fresh cigarette, for pleasure's sake. Switch to Camels for just one day—then leave them, if you can!

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO COMPANY, Winston-Salem, N. C.

"You needn't tell me —I know Camel is the fresh cigarette!"

● *Don't remove the moisture-proof wrapping from your package of Camels after you open it. The Camel Humidor Pack is protection against perfume and powder odors, dust and germs. A. J. D. BIDDLE JR. IN CONTEMPT OF FEDERAL COURT

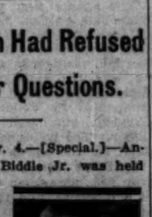
Society Man Had Refused to Answer Questions.

New York, Nov. 4.—[Special.]—Anthony J. Drexel Biddle Jr. was held in contempt of court today by Federal Judge Francis J. Caffey for refusal to answer questions asked him by Harold P. Coffin, referee in bankruptcy for the Sonora Products Corporation of America, of which Mr. Biddle was a director.



ANTHONY J. DREXEL BIDDLE JR.

Judge Caffey directed that the order be settled on two days' notice, which means that in that time Mr. Biddle must purge himself of contempt by answering the questions, appeal, or face imprisonment.

Bank Suit a Side Feature.

The questions which Mr. Biddle declined on advice of counsel to answer at an examination last month pertained to the resale of De Forest Radio company stock by officials of the company.

Last July 9 the Irving Trust company, trustees in bankruptcy for the Sonora corporation, sued Mr. Biddle and six other directors and officers of the bankrupt firm, charging that they put into their own pockets $1,500,000 realized from this stock sale, the profits of which, it was alleged, should have gone to the company.

Mr. Biddle refused to answer Mr. Coffin's questions on this point on the ground that to do so might reveal his defense in the Irving Trust company's suit.

Judge Reconsiders.

Mr. Coffin cited him for contempt on Oct. 23 and at that time Judge Caffey expressed the opinion that the citation was of doubtful legality. Today, however, in his opinion, he said: "It is indisputable and, I believe, conceded that the questions propounded are within the scope prescribed by the bankruptcy act.

"Certainly the questions so far are pertinent, and the fact that the witness was a fiduciary in respect to matters embraced in the questions puts him upon his special responsibility to furnish information concerning them."

GRAND JURORS HEAR PART OF EVIDENCE ON BANK FRAUD CHARGES

Part of the evidence against John H. Bain, son of the head of the chain of closed Bain banks, and two other officers of the bank chain was presented to the grand jury yesterday. The other defendants are Erwin Larsen, cashier of the closed Armitage State bank, and Hugh Leslie, cashier of the closed Brainerd State bank.

They were held to the grand jury last week by Judge William J. Lindsay after testimony had been given in open court about two bond sales in which the two cashiers were charged with fraud.

Assistant State's Attorney Henry Ayers, who is in charge of the bank investigation, said he had not time yesterday to present all the evidence against Bain, Leslie, and Larsen. Another grand jury session on the matter is scheduled for tomorrow at 1 o'clock.

Willard F. Cummings, a banker, was appointed receiver of the South West Trust and Savings bank, 35th street, Archer and Hoyne avenues.

ENGLISH BARON IS DISCOVERED DEAD AT FLORIDA HOME

Redland, Fla., Nov. 4.—(AP)—The body of Baron Charles Ernest Alfred French Somerset Butler, 58, seventh earl of Carrick and former controller of the lord lieutenant's household of Ireland, was found on the lawn of his home here.

Two physicians who examined the body said death occurred Monday. Physicians said death was caused by apoplexy.

Known in the Redland district as Mr. Carrick since he moved here from Miami two years ago, he lived alone at his farm here, but is survived by his widow in London, a son and two daughters in London, and two sons in India. Lord Carrick was born in Gibraltar Nov. 15, 1873, and succeeded his father to the title in 1909.

property at Grand Beach, Mich., owned by his father, Bain said that together they were worth about $25,000. They could be turned over as assets to the receiver but many creditors were clamoring for them, the attorneys told Judge Feinberg.

Thus it went. Each stockholder affirmed his desire to turn over all his properties to creditors. But it developed that there was little to turn over.

Son-in-Law Testifies.

The testimony of W. Merle Fisher, son-in-law of Bain and treasurer of John Bain, Inc., brought in the name of Howard W. Elmore, sanitary district trustee. The judge ordered Elmore to appear at today's hearing. Fisher first named Elmore as one of the members of a syndicate formed by Bain to purchase property at 87th street and Crawford avenue in 1927.

"What trusts did Mr. Elmore ever turn over to the Bain company?" asked the judge.

"None that I know of," said Fisher.

"Don't you know that up to the time that Bain, Inc., went into receivership, Elmore was collecting installments on certain contracts?"

"I never heard of it," said Fisher. He paused a minute, then turned to the judge and continued:

"Wait a minute. Yes, I do, judge. They were some contracts on land at 79th street and Western avenue."

Fisher Tells His Assets.

When asked what assets he could turn over to the receiver Fisher said he had a home, incumbered, and two cars, which he would sell if he could. Like Bain, his life insurance has been assigned, he said, to the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company to secure a loan of $134,000.

Charles Ashley Deneen, 2300 West 108th street, an insurance salesman, son of former United States Senator Charles S. Deneen, and listed as a director of Bain, Inc., testified that he had not subscribed to any capital stock of the corporation, had not received any stock, and did not pay for any stock. Mr. Deneen said 100 shares of stock had been offered to him for purchase, but that he had not bought it. He declared that he did not know until Tuesday that he had been elected a director. He was an office employé at one time, he said.

Attorney Roy Massena, who made out the certificate of incorporation for the company, took the stand. He certified to the secretary of state that $150,000 in cash had been paid for stock.

"Was it correct that cash was paid?" the judge inquired.

"No, there was no cash," replied the witness.

"Wasn't that risky business, Mr. Massena, swearing to that?"

TESTIFIES U. S. DRYS BEAT HIM; NO RUM FOUND

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—Charging on the witness stand today that two federal dry agents held him while a third beat him in his father's hotel at Irving, N. Y., July 9, Alton R. Baird, 27 years old, also said that the agents did not identify themselves until after the alleged beating had taken place, and that they smelled of liquor.

Baird was testifying at the trial of the agents, Edwards B. Baker, Fred Wilson and James D. Mahoney, who are charged with assault.

Despite repeated objections by the defense, the prosecution introduced testimony to the effect there was no liquor on the tray from which Baird served the guests and that liquor had never been sold in the restaurant.

The most comfortable winter you've ever had

Just install the new G-E Heat Regulator. You can have it done right now without a second's interruption to your regular heating! You just "set it and forget it!"

WANT comfort this winter, the like of which you never knew existed?

Want a healthful home, with the inside completely independent of the weather outside?

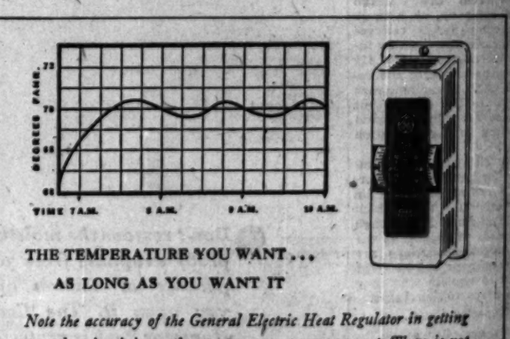
Want the convenience of automatic regulation of your furnace-drafts (or fuel-valves) . . . so accurate that the heat is always within ½ of 1 degree of the exact temperature you select?

Easy! Just install the new General Electric Heat Regulator. This remarkable product has exclusive, patented features that give you such satisfactory and economical temperature-control as has never been available before.

For instance: it has an exclusive device which anticipates rises in room temperature, and slows down the heat as may be necessary. It gives graduated control of drafts (or valves), having them always in the exact position required, instead of completely open or completely closed. This prevents overshooting, or dropping 'way below the desired temperature. Consequently, there is no fuel waste. It has an automatic safeguard in case of interruption in the electric house-current.

Because of General Electric's specialized methods of production, you can easily afford the G-E Heat Regulator. The single-range model sells for $85; the double-range model, with an electric timer for automatic day and night temperature-changes, for $125. Prices include installation.



THE TEMPERATURE YOU WANT . . . AS LONG AS YOU WANT IT

Note the accuracy of the General Electric Heat Regulator in getting—and maintaining—the exact temperature you want. There is not more than ½ of 1 degree variation either way; possible only because of General Electric's exclusive, patented features. The room thermostat is neat and attractive. It fits admirably with any decorative scheme.

Stop in today to see it. Or telephone, and let us have a representative demonstrate it in your home. You can have the General Electric Heat Regulator installed right now . . . without a single second's interruption to your regular heat-supply.

HUNGRY PUPILS HAVE VISIONS OF BOUNTEOUS FOOD

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

Strange stories of the working of childish imaginations are current these days among teachers in the public schools as the result of questionnaires submitted to pupils in an effort to find out conditions in their homes. Tragedy and comedy neighbor each other so closely in the papers returned that it requires a discriminating eye and a knowledge of child psychology to distinguish the real from the visionary replies.

There was a remarkable food list turned in by one child in a north side school in reply to the query, "What did you have for breakfast this morning?" The dire poverty of the child's home was known to the teacher, but the fourth grader set down the following menu:

Black Coffee and Crackers.

The youngster in question was answering not to what she had had to eat, but what she would like to have had. Her actual meal—if it could be dignified by that term—had consisted, she revealed on further examination, of rebolled coffee without milk, and crackers.

On the other hand, there was the instance in a colored school on the south side. A member of the household arts department of the board of education encountered Rupert and Roger, two little colored pupils. Miss Alexandrina Moll, the domestic arts supervisor, asked the older boy, Rupert: "What did you have for breakfast this morning?"

"Oatmeal," replied Rupert, without enthusiasm. This didn't look bad, and Miss Moll nodded in satisfaction.

No Fire for Cooking.

"That's fine," she commented. "Did your mother cook it for you?"

"No," replied Rupert. "She didn't have any fire. She just stirred it up with water."

This raw oatmeal, stirred up with water, it proved, had been the main item of the family's diet for more than a week. Gas had been turned off after they had fallen considerably in arrears, and the lack of money compelled the family to eat raw food.

Similar episodes are occurring by the hundreds daily in the various schools. More than sixty of the schools are now on the list receiving aid for their free lunchrooms from the Hungry School Children's Fund, raised by readers of THE TRIBUNE for the purpose. Many thousands more are needed in view of the emergency which grows greater each day as the cold weather advances.

Officials of the Curtiss Candy company announced yesterday that members of the company had contributed twenty-four fourteen ounce jars of peanut butter, which will be distributed to various school lunchrooms.

CHARGE FRAUD IN SANITY ATTACK ON FORMER WIFE

Judge J. G. Van Keuren, sitting in County court, yesterday heard charges that Lee V. Brandt, 2700 Asbury avenue, Evanston, head of an auditing company, had fraudulently attempted to commit his former wife, Rose, mother of their two children; Evelyn, 6 years old, and Adelina, 3 years old, to the Psychopathic hospital. The declarations were made by Attorney John E. Owens, representing Mrs. Brandt. His motion to dismiss Brandt's commitment petition will be ruled upon by the judge next Friday.

The charges of fraud were made after Brandt, who has remarried since his wife obtained a divorce in 1927, had testified that he had not seen his former wife for 12 months. Dr. I. Val Freedman, 5816 Kenmore avenue, upon whose examination the petition was based, said he had gone to Mrs. Brandt's home at the request of her former husband and had talked with her for half an hour. He said she suffered from persecutory dementia.

Dr. Freedman admitted he had signed a similar petition four years ago after making an examination at the suggestion of Brandt. At that time Mrs. Brandt was released and declared sane after being examined at the Psychopathic hospital.

Unions Compile Facts for Special Session.

The average Chicago school teacher has accumulated debts and made loans totaling between $800 and $1,000 since last May, when regular pay days of the board of education ceased, it was disclosed yesterday by a preliminary survey of questionnaires obtained from 5,000 school teachers.

The questionnaires were sent out by various teachers' unions for the purpose of obtaining a picture of the teachers' economic condition for presentation to the special session of the legislature.

Announce First Findings.

A committee headed by Miss Helen Dart, vocational advisor at Harrison Technical High school, began tabulating the results of the questionnairs. The first findings announced were from 335 of the 5,000 questionnaires. Of this number, 135 were obtained from men teachers and 200 from women high school teachers.

In that group, the women had obtained loans averaging $510 and the men loans averaging $661 to tide them over the payless months. The women reported an average of $274 in unpaid bills, and the men $324. Fifty per cent of the men, and 40 per cent of the women reported that they have exhausted their borrowing power.

Two Requests to Council.

The city council will be asked today at its special meeting to act on two proposals to obtain pay for teachers through the sale of tax warrants.

One is to be a resolution drawn up by Francis X. Busch, former corporation counsel. He is head of a committee which is trying to sell to large taxpayers $6,965,000 worth of 1930 school tax warrants now held in the city's aggregate of funds. The money obtained from such a sale will be turned over to the school board for pay roll purposes. The nature of the resolution was not disclosed, but it is reported to embrace some means of expediting the sale.

Act on Surface Lines' Aid.

The second proposal to the council is an ordinance authorizing the sale of 1930 tax warrants now held in the city's aggregate of funds. Such authority is necessary to complete the sale of $2,250,000 worth of warrants which the Chicago Surface Lines have offered to buy from their fund reserved for taxes. The schools will receive between $1,000,000 and $750,000 by this sale.

The board of education, which met yesterday, adopted a resolution calling on taxpayers to pay their taxes in full, or, if they are contesting them in court, to pay at least that portion not in dispute.

Held on Description Dying Policeman Gave Mother

Thomas Scupino, 1610 South 51st court, Cicero, was held to the grand jury by Judge Leon Edelman in the South Chicago court yesterday as a suspect in the murder of Policeman Joseph Isaacs. The slain policeman's mother, Mrs. Mary Isaacs, said that on his deathbed her son had described a short, heavy set man with a scar on the right side of his cheek as his attacker. The description fits Scupino. Isaacs was shot when he attempted to protect a woman during a quarrel at the Spanish tavern, 11851 South Michigan avenue, on Oct. 16.

IN ITS GREAT REVIVAL OF QUALITY IN MERCHANDISE AT LOW PRICES

Announced This Week in Connection with the Davis Month of Inspiring Values

Although there is nothing to prevent others from singling out a few of our thousands of bargains . . . and cutting a price here and there . . . we now repeat that we always meet and often beat competitors' prices . . . no matter what the price is elsewhere. We simply will not be undersold.

We believe the Public isn't interested in what constituted Value . . . yesterday . . . or the day before . . . or last year . . . but demands Values on Quality Goods . . . Today . . . Now . . . and Hereafter.

Therefore . . . The Bulldog of State Street (as we call our Watchdog of Values) has again readjusted prices. Please come in and investigate for yourself . . . today and throughout The Davis Month of Values.

Cheapness alone never made a good bargain . . . on the contrary, the very essence of value is to be found only in quality merchandise . . . especially at low prices. And we are supporting our viewpoint with thousands of actual bargains at amazingly low prices during this Davis Month of Inspiring Values.

We, of course, welcome the opportunity to demonstrate the actual working out of our policy that Bottom Prices Are Guaranteed in The Davis Store.

SHOUTS HARDING DEFENSE IN SUIT OF NAN BRITTON

Pleads for Rejection of Libel Claim.

Thus was Warren G. Harding paraded before a jury in oratory here today as an old friend and a brother Republican pleaded for rejection of Nan Britton's suit for $50,000 libel as a result of a book challenging her claims that 'she was the late President's clandestine lover.

ERANT H. MOUSER.

The speaker was Grant Mouser of Marion, O., former congressman, former judge, and Harding's counselor in the days the former President was editor of the Marion Star. For three years Mouser had been preparing his defense of his friend, and he roared the address before the jury of ten men and two women with all the fury of an outraged patriot.

As Mouser completed his defense, a speech just as harsh in denouncing Miss Britton as it was warm in commending the memory of his friend, only the judge's instructions to the jury remained before deliberation will begin some time tomorrow.

Although Judge John M. Killits lifted his secrecy bar at today's session, only a small crowd was in the courtroom for the oratory.

Mouser praised the memory of Harding in endearing terms.

He described Nan as deranged, demented, lascivious, and obsessed to get money. He said she had at one time tried to captivate James M. Cox, then a candidate for the presidency.

William F. Marsteller, sole attorney to argue in behalf of Miss Britton, began with a narration of her early life and painted a picture of a school girl swept off her feet by Marion's first citizen.

"Harding did everything any honorable man would have done before he died," Mr. Marsteller told the jury. "There is no criticism of Harding."

CRIMINAL COURT.

Alan Guyton, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary; Paul Luna, manslaughter, sentenced to 1 to 14 years in the penitentiary, by Judge George Fred Rush.

Miss Wilma Harjes, 24 years old, the maid who stole $104,000 worth of gems from her mistress, Mrs. Lawrence F. Stern, at the Stern home, 981 Sheridan road, Glencoe, was questioned by detectives last night. It was the belief of the police that the girl might have been the key in other robberies.

The young woman came to this country from Sweden five years ago. She still possesses a disarming accent and innocent air about her, according to Al Goranson, chief investigator for the Pinkerton detective agency, which brought about the solution of the Stern jewel robbery.

Meanwhile, a search for the gems continued in pawn shops and jewelry stores in Chicago and nearby cities. An insurance company has paid $86,000 to the Sterns for the loss.

The Harjes girl was seized by detectives in the loop on Tuesday. She confessed the theft of the jewels.

SIMMONS JURY IS DEADLOCKED; OUT A 2D NIGHT

Lebanon, Ind., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—The jury in the murder trial of Mrs. Carrie Barrett Simmons, 47 year old Hancock county farm wife, accused of poisoning two of her daughters, continued deadlocked in County court here tonight.

After the jurors returned from dinner they asked for cots and at 9 o'clock it was announced they had retired for the night. The case went to the jury at 5:42 p. m. yesterday. It was reported they were divided ten to two.

Mrs. Simmons made 18 chicken sandwiches for a family picnic here June 21. When the sandwiches were served several persons became ill. Alice Jean, 16, and Virginia, 14, youngest of Mrs. Simmons' five children, died a few hours later. The sandwiches were found to contain strychnine capsules. Mrs. Simmons was accused of putting the poison in the sandwiches.

ROB OFFICE, GET $388.

Two gunmen forced Nathan and Jake Silverstein, 1458 North Washtenaw avenue, to open the safe in the offices of their Service Cake company at 834 North Western avenue yesterday and fled with $388 loot.

SHERIFF DENIES GIVING CAPONE'S AID JAIL FAVORS

Takes Stand in Court on Contempt Charge.

Sheriff John Perucca of Grundy county, on trial with Tony Rench, political henchman of Al Capone, took the witness stand late yesterday before Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward. Both the sheriff and Rench are charged with contempt of court, growing out of privileges said to have been granted to Rench by Sheriff Perucca during the former's incarceration in the Grundy county jail as a federal dry law violator.

SHERIFF PERUCCA.

Perucca and Rench joined in denials that the prisoner had received any unusual favors while a prisoner in the jail at Morris. They denied the government's charges that Rench had been allowed to go and come as he pleased, to participate in gay parties, visit speakeasies, and enjoy other privileges.

Sets Hearing for Nov. 17.

Former Sheriff Henry Y. Jones and Matt Blazer, also a federal prisoner at the Morris jail, have also been cited for contempt on similar charges, and Judge Woodward last night set the date of their hearing as Nov. 17.

Sheriff Perucca, testifying in his own behalf, asserted that he granted Rench no favors that were not extended to other prisoners. He said he thought he was carrying out the instructions of United States Marshal Harry C. W. Laubenheimer, and testified that on one occasion, when he had taken Rench with him to help transport an insane person to Elgin, he had been advised that was not regular and had then reported the matter to the marshal. Laubenheimer is in California and what advice he gave to the sheriff was not put into the record.

Put in "Ladies' Cell."

Before Sheriff Perucca was heard Rench had taken the stand to deny that he had been accorded any special privileges in the Grundy county jail.

Rench's denial that he had received favors from the sheriff was offset somewhat by his admissions that he had occupied the "ladies' cell" at the jail for long periods, that he had been given a room in the sheriff's residence on three occasions when he said he was sick and that he became a "trusty" at the jail only five days after he was committed there.

The Capone henchman, who is still a prisoner at Sheriff Perucca's jail, and is brought to court daily by the sheriff, there to sit with him in the defendants' chairs, declared he was put to work by the sheriff. He mowed grass, washed dishes, swept and mopped floors in the jail and courthouse, picked up papers, and played with the sheriff's son, Frankie, 4 years old.

H. D. Hollis, department of justice agent, had previously testified he had been sent to Morris to investigate rumors of what had been going on in the jail, and that Rench had admitted to him that his wife had spent a night with him in the sheriff's residence. Rench denied he and his wife had been together during the night.

About Trips to Speakeasy.

The agent also testified that Rench admitted having gone to a speakeasy one afternoon, and that he had been punished for this by a month's confinement without liberties.

Rench asserted he had gone to a barber shop for a shave. He admitted having been taken along when Sheriff Peducca removed a patient to the insane asylum at Elgin. The prisoner said the sheriff had allowed him to sleep in the women's cell at the jail beginning on the sixth night of his confinement there, because "there were so many bedbugs in the regular cells."

RALPH CAPONE'S NEW YORK TRIP STILL MYSTERY

Attorney Michael Ahern appeared at the federal building yesterday on behalf of Al Capone, but refused to discuss his mysterious trip to New York with the gangster's brother, Ralph. Attorney George N. Murdock still insisted that Ralph would surrender today so that he can be taken to Leavenworth penitentiary to serve a three year term for income tax evasion.

Mr. Ahern said that he was interested merely in getting a continuance of the oral arguments in Al Capone's contempt of court case, which were scheduled for tomorrow. The Circuit Court of Appeals continued the arguments generally, to be set for hearing in five days' notice.

Attorney Murdock, representing Ralph Capone, said he knew nothing about the mysterious trip of his client and Attorney Ahern to New York on Monday.

How Do Nurses Manage?

The strenuous duties of the trained nurse permit little thought of her own physical condition or feelings. There can be no giving-in to menstrual pains! That is the reason why so many nurses use Midol. They know it blocks all possibility of such pain for hours—and nurses know that it is not a narcotic and so is quite safe to take at this critical time.

Midol is not merely a measure of relief—it lets women menstruate in absolute comfort. All pain subsides in seven minutes! All dread of your monthly sickness ends with the happy discovery. Any drug store. Ask simply for Midol.

● One of the MOST EXPENSIVE pieces of lingerie in the world. An exquisite creation from Saks-Fifth Ave., New York. Paris-made and of Alençon hand thread lace ion finest satin, fitted, and with a semi-low back.

Requiring a sense of discrimination

It may indeed seem a far cry from expensive lingerie to tooth pastes...but, actually, is it?

Beautiful lingerie gives an extra sense of satisfaction. Pebeco makes its user confident that he is getting the most out of his use of a dentifrice.

In most ways, tooth pastes are as alike as peas in a pod. The eye cannot discover much difference. But in the things hidden from view—the things it takes intelligence to appreciate—Pebeco is vitally different.

Of every tube of Pebeco, 40% is an expensive ingredient of unusual value in oral hygiene. No other tooth paste uses it—too costly! You'll know it by its "bitey" tang—the sign that Pebeco is working.

If you want a tooth paste that really "gets somewhere"—bringing a big difference in the cleanness and whiteness of your teeth and the cool comfort of your mouth, THINK a minute and try Pebeco.

...icago Dies ... Be Reborn, Author Argues

...y Justin Smith Sees ...cession of Cities.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"..., a Portrait," by Henry Justin ... [Century.] Published to-...

...s have been in song, story and novel snap shots or sketches of our home city. Pioneers of many different generations have ...ously drawn pictures of it, as ...ically, socially and economically. Not long ago Henry Justin Smith and Lloyd Lewis published an amusing and highly illuminating volume on "Chicago, the History of Its Reputation." There have been two volumes recently issued guide books to "Chicago in Seven Days," and "...ing in Chicago," by John Drury. ...e book published today is the ...ost robust portrait of our city, as ...r as I know, which combines its ...ysical, its social, its economic, its ...ople, and its historical character-...tics in one volume.

...r. Smith has first of all carefully ...ained in words the actual physical ...ape of Chicago on the face of the ...arth. He has described the various ...ctions of the city with detail, and ...curacy. The black belt, the slums, ...e parks, the "gold coast," the parks, ...e suburbs all grow before your eyes, ...olding from that fabulous strangle-...ame, the loop. We are the only city ...n the world with such a lariat about ...ur throats. Mr. Smith makes his ...eaders see the geography of his—and our—city with vividness.

"The present city," declares Mr. Smith, "it may be said is the fifth ...hicago. There was, first, the town of ...ohn Kinzie; secondly, the city of early ...ays, with brick and stone, with ...ood streets, court house and cathe-...al, with urban homes that did not ...eserve a true, the 'Garden City'; ...hirdly, the Chicago of 'after the fire', ...hich from 1871 to the early nineties ...rew rich, far-spreading, crowded, and ...as beautiful as architects of those ...ays knew how to make it; fourthly, ...he newly planned and more noble ...ity that came into being after the ...World's Columbian Exposition of 1893; ...nd fifthly, the Chicago that has ...egun to develop, for the most part, ...ince the world war; the city of high ...owers, of proud boulevards, of more ...mbitious and beautiful parks, of a ...anptured lake; the city that is phy-...ically as gigantic as its reputation, ...hat astounds with its contrasts, both ...rchitectural and moral."

These five Chicagos Mr. Smith makes relive in his chapters. More than most cities Chicago has risen on stepping stones of its dead selves—there are no faint traces even of the earliest of Chicago's selves, and many of the even fairly recent selves of the city are buried beneath its most recent phase of greatness.

The book is full of amusing bits of information like this: "As one strolls the streets of the Loop", Mr. Smith writes, "he recognizes the names of Presidents and early statesmen. He is not surprised to find Franklin prominent, but he is puzzled because Randolph, in the order from north to south, precedes Washington. The reason is that the town surveyor of 1830, James Thompson, was not concerned about Presidents and precedence, but about honoring southern Illinois counties. He came from Kaskaskia, in Randolph county, and local pride made him put the name of his county seat there of John Randolph, the Virginia statesman] first after Lake street. Then came Washington and Franklin, counties adjacent to Randolph. The later street namers added Adams after Monroe, thus doing the best they could, it seemed for the second President."

City Relief Fund Near 5 Million; Movies to Aid

Pledges for $78,000 Are Added During Day.

Pledges aggregating $78,000 were given to the $5,800,000 joint emergency relief fund yesterday by Chicago's theatrical group and by employés of the Lincoln park board.

Movie Charity day will be celebrated by all the theaters of Chicago and Cook county Saturday, Nov. 21. On that day special benefit performances will be given for charity, in addition to the contribution of $60,000, the amount pledged by theater organizations, exhibitors, distributors, and equipment companies as their share of the relief commission drive.

On Nov. 21 neighborhood and suburban houses will open two hours earlier than usual. These two hours will be the Charity hours. Loop theaters will open as usual, probably donating the proceeds taken in the first two hours to the relief commission. All of the theaters will use the attractions currently billed and some are planning to add extra features as an inducement to the public to attend.

The Lincoln park board will raise $18,000, H. Otto Weege, general superintendent, informed Samuel Insull Jr., leader of the relief campaign. The board's 800 employés will contribute a day's pay each month until the total pledge is obtained, Mr. Weege said.

Contributions totaling $47,800 were secured by campaign workers yesterday, bringing the total fund in hand to $4,828,152. New contributions announced last night were as follows:

Butler Bros.	$15,000
Chicago Mail Order House	7,500
Franke Bros.	1,250
Employes of Valentine Sewer Co.	1,200
Pullman Couch Co.	1,200
F. E. Kroehler	1,000
Churchill Cabinet Co.	1,000
The Seng Co.	1,030
Employes of the Seng Co.	1,030
Western Shade Cloth Co.	6,000
Employes of C. W. Marks Shoe Co.	1,000

Nearly 27,000 school teachers of the city have begun their task of selecting prize winning songs and essays from among the thousands submitted by pupils of the public and parochial schools in the relief fund contest on the subject: "The Joint Emergency Relief Fund." This was announced by Richard G. Jones, chairman of the contest committee.

Winning essays in the senior and junior high schools will be broadcast by radio on Armistice day. The winner of the senior division will be awarded a trip to Washington to meet President Hoover, while the junior division winner will go to Springfield to meet Gov. Emmerson. A silver medal and a set of books will be given second and third prize winners.

In the song contest, limited to elementary pupils, silver medals and sets of books will be awarded. The ten best songs will be broadcast. Mr. Jones said that the contest had attracted many entrants, displaying remarkable talent. He commented particularly on a composition submitted by Margaret R. Cooper, sixth grade pupil, in the Orland Park public school.

Official Contract

By Charles True Adams.

(International bridge authority; author of "Official Contract at Sight.")

Many a golfer who drives beautifully from the tee is simply a profane dub in the "ruff."

Most players who have grown familiar with contract can make a pretty good showing as declarer, playing the open dummy hand, but on defense—with partner's hand hidden from view—the going is not so good.

And so for the last few days I have dwelt on a few defense points in the play. Today we will try to clarify a little of the murk surrounding defensive bidding. The hand:

NORTH.
♠—Q,9,8,5,4
♥—K,8,4,3
♣—Q

WEST
♠—10,7,2
♥—Q,J
♦—9,5
♣—K,8,6,4,3,2

EAST (Dealer)
♠—A,K,6,3
♥—5
♦—7,7,3,2

SOUTH.
♠—J
♥—A,10,9,7,6,2
♦—K,Q,6,4
♣—9,5

East dealt and bid one spade. South, having two high card tricks and a biddable heart suit, made a defensive overcall of two hearts. West passed.

Now North has four supporting tricks for his partner's heart bid. The ♥ K is one, the four heart holding is ½, the ♦ A one, and the club singleton 1½ (with but three hearts the singleton would be worth but one). This makes a total of four supporting tricks.

It is at this point that the average player is puzzled. He knows that if his partner had made an original declaration of two hearts that he could take him to four. But partner hasn't made an original bid, he has made a defensive overcall. This means that partner holds two high card tricks and four probable tricks in all. While the high card requirements are one-half trick less than for an original bid of one, the probable trick requirements are the same.

Therefore, since with North's holding of four supporting tricks he could raise an original bid of one to three, he can take his partner's defensive two bid to three. The bid is already at two, so this means a raise of but one—from two to three.

East passed. South has five probable tricks, one more than necessary for his original bid, and so goes to four and all pass.

This rebid of South also confuses many. A one bid is based on a minimum of four tricks. Therefore, a raise from one to two is based on a minimum of four tricks—eight between the two hands. It is true that you need but three "supporting" tricks, but they are worth four tricks in actual play just as four "supporting" tricks are worth five tricks in play. Formerly many authorities, including myself, have tried to show this by doubling the value of side high cards in the supporting hand, or by saying, "add one for the play" in order to make the supporting count equal the actual number of tricks the hand should make. For simplicity's sake, the Official system avoids both the double valuation idea and the "add a trick theory" and simply states that so many supporting tricks are needed for a raise.

To go back to South. He knew that his partner had only counted on him for four tricks when that partner raised to three. Since South had one more he could call four.

The play is so simple that it need not be given in detail. South loses a spade and a club. After exhausting trumps in two leads, the good diamonds are taken, the fourth diamond trumped. The losing club is trumped, as well as any second lead of spades made by opponents. South makes his four and one extra.

PLAY-A-PROBLEM: SOLITAIRE OR PARTNERS

Play this hand tonight at your bridge game. Keep a record of the bid and play in the spaces provided. Numbers in the bidding squares are for successive rounds. Check your results with tomorrow's answer.

To play "Solitaire": Record the bids you think each hand would make in the bidding squares. After the final declaration has been made start the play, leading from the hand at declarer's left. As you play each card, cross it off of the diagram and record it in the proper square, as S. 3, H. K, etc. In the last column indicate the hand which won the round and lead from that hand on the next round.

'Actors, Don't Marry,' Schildkraut Says on Return with Divorce

New York, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Joseph Schildkraut, actor and motion picture star, returned from Europe today with the announcement that he had obtained a divorce in London from Elise Bartlett and that after eight years of married life he has concluded actors should not marry.

"Schildkraut declared actors are "not stale enough for marriage or home life." He added that with his final divorce papers granted he returns to the United States "hopeful that Miss Bartlett and myself will be the best of friends forever."

The actor said that while abroad he made a number of talking pictures in French, German, and English. Schildkraut became known as one of the romantic figures of the American stage when he starred in "Lilliom" and later in "Firebrand." He left Broadway for three years in Hollywood and then went to Europe.

Good Morning!

Remember that first, thrilling, out of door sound picture "In Old Arizona"? Well, "The Cisco Kid," a sequel, carries on with the adventures of the gallant Mexican Romeo and law breaker introduced in and immortalized by the stories of the late O. Henry.

As was the case in "In Old Arizona," Warner Baxter plays the dashing lead while Edmund Lowe is present as hard-boiled Sergeant Mickey Dunne whose principal business in life is to catch the elusive bad man and whose mission always fails.

Mr. Baxter's original portrayal of the "Kid" was a knockout and in this number he continued to invest his character with abandon and charm, though the story has not the possibilities that had "Old Arizona." Edmund Lowe is likable—but, on the whole not so hot. Conchita Montenegro, who is the girl of this episode, is a lithe and lovely little thing. Nora Lane and other players know their duties and perform them expertly.

The production boasts some glorious scenery and fine photography. Direction is so so.

The story deals with Sergeant Dunne's efforts to track down "The Cisco Kid"—who is wanted for any number of reasons and upon whose head is a $5,000 reward. When, at last the gay chap in the "monkey jacket" is cornered, well—the Roosevelt screen holds the answer.

See you tomorrow.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

The present economic situation is a race between capitalism and soviet communism. At least that is the firm belief of Canon T. Guy Rogers, world war hero and chaplain to King George of England. He arrived in the city yesterday afternoon to attend the 16th convention of the World Alliance for International Friendship Through the Churches. That convention meets next week at the Palmer house. The alliance was founded by Andrew Carnegie in 1914.

Canon Rogers, known as one of the liberal religious leaders of England, will preach Sunday night at the Sunday Evening club, Orchestra hall. He declared that unless capitalism can readjust itself it will be cast into discard in favor of communism. The new MacDonald government in England, he asserted, would not last long. Despite his high ecclesiastical standing the English churchman was garbed in plain citizen's attire. He discussed with great candor the "dangerous majority" recently given to the coalition government in his country.

"The English election results were due to three factors," said Canon Rogers. "First, there was the element of patriotism; secondly, fear, and finally the personality of Ramsay MacDonald. It is probable that 1,000,000 labor men voted for the MacDonald ticket. The personality of the premier has been a tremendous factor in effecting the combination which has been brought about. He dominates England today.

The English clergyman spoke of the dole as "employment insurance." He defended the method used by his country to tide unemployed millions over depression periods. However, he admitted that no system of unemployment insurance could stand up under the pressure of the present situation. To this he attributed the breakdown of the plan. Canon Rogers declared the whole world, America included, is learning lessons from the existing depression.

"America is going to find out that it is better to be on friendly terms with foreign nations and that she cannot be an entity unto herself as she has in the past," said Canon Rogers. The English clergyman said that union of the Roman and Anglican churches practically is out of the question, although he stated that church union was one of his chief interests. Rather, he asserted his interest in reunion of Anglican and Protestant churches. Canon Rogers will preach at St. Luke's Episcopal church, Evanston, Sunday morning.

"HAMLET."

THE CAST.

King of Denmark	William Faversham
Hamlet	Fritz Leiber
Polonius	Frances Bendixen
Horatio	Hart Jenks
Laertes	Pedro de Cordoba
Rosencrantz	Thayer Roberts
Guildenstern	Lionel Ince
Osric	John Bryan
Marcellus	Gordon Burby
Bernardo	Ralph Messing
First Grave Digger	Whitford Kane
Fortinbras	Lionel Ince
Priest	Frank Peters
Ghost	Tyrone Power
Queen of Denmark	Viola Roache
Ophelia	Helen Menken

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

THE Civic Shakespeareans are now offering "Hamlet" as the final production of their stay at the Majestic theater, and are giving a satisfactory account of their talents in the tragedy which ranks above all other tragedies. The libraries of "Hamlet" lore may be boiled down to this one conclusive sentence. It is the play of the ages, the all time champion.

Mr. Leiber's Prince of Denmark has a vigor and dynamic power that compensate for its lack of grace. Certain technical changes may be noted in his performance, especially a softening of tone in some of the passages and a discriminating variation in by-play. This is, I believe, a marked improvement upon the Hamlet of his two seasons at the Civic theater.

Miss Menken's Ophelia contains departures from tradition. In costume she is distinctly a sophisticated lady of the court, whose shell-pink dress might have been imported from Paris, if Denmark followed French fashions in that bleak medieval era when the times were out of joint. Here is an Ophelia who suggests a troubled and haggard Pierette, gowned for some tragic party.

I expected some emotional outbursts in the scene of Ophelia's madness, for Miss Menken is likely to let herself go into impressive hysterics on such occasions. But I failed to find them, for Ophelia goes crazy, in Miss Menken's treatment, wistfully, pathetically, and without creating much excitement. Her reading, as in her other rôles, is keen with intelligence and admirable in voice.

Tyrone Power's Ghost is still the king of all the phantoms. William Faversham's Claudius expresses the suave and gaudy hypocrisy of the character. Pedro de Cordoba is a gallant Laertes, Viola Roache a fine figure of a queen, and Hart Jenks a stalwart Horatio. The other characterizations are sound, well considered Shakespearean portraits.

The company will spend next week in Milwaukee and then, because of a sudden change of plans for its tour, will proceed to New York for a Broadway première.

"Unexpected Husband" will move from the Adelphi to the Cort theater next Sunday night. "Once in a Lifetime" will end its stay at the Selwyn theater Saturday, Nov. 14. Its successor has not yet been chosen.

Singers Making Opera History in New Season

M. Beuf, Another Find, Has His Debut.

"AIDA."

Opera in four acts and seven scenes by Verdi. Presented at the Civic Opera house Wednesday, Nov. 4.

THE CAST.

King of Egypt	Chase Baromeo
Amneris, his daughter	Cyrena Van Gordon
Radames	Paul Althouse
Aida	Claudia Muzio
Ramfis, high priest	Virgilio Lazzari
Amonasro, king of Ethiopia	Augusto Beuf [debut]
Priestess	Marie Buddy [debut]
A messenger	Giuseppe Cavadore

Roberto Moranzoni, conductor.
Dr. Otto Erhardt, stage director.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

ALL the returns are by no means in yet, but three performances have proved beyond doubt that the Chicago Civic Opera company is better off vocally than it has been at any time in its history. Last night came Verdi's sumptuous spectacle of old Egypt, and with it a succession of eye-filling pageantry, gorgeous scenery, elaborate ballet, colorful processionals, and, to give them point, ear-filling singing of melodies that never lose their importance in the operatic scheme.

"Aida" has for years rated as a standard item in the repertoire, but such singing as went up last night was enough to raise the rating from standard to extra special. It was something in the nature of an artistic adventure.

Debuts continued. In reality if not technically, Mr. Althouse belonged in the category, because he sang only a few German performances last season, and his Radames was sung for the first time. He received a telegram from his coach shortly before going on the stage begging him to remember that Radames was a big man but not a loud one. He remembered.

He has a more than commonly attractive voice, round, full toned, but never strident, and of fine quality. Its nature and his dignity of demeanor built up the character in excellent fashion. The "Celeste Aida" was a love song rather than a display bit; he was entirely in the picture in the triumph scene, stirringly dramatic in the scene of the Nile.

Mr. Beuf would seem to be a distinct find for the baritone section. His voice is of dramatic power, yet of persuasive quality even when raised to its utmost. The part of Amonasro is short in minutes but important in dramatic significance, and he gave it definite and weighty meaning.

Another in the debut list, Miss Buddy, had the solo of the unseen priestess to sing in the temple scene and did it to complete satisfaction.

Most of the others in the cast have been applauded many times before in their rôles. Mme. Muzio, ringing of voice, expert not only in its projection but in every other device of the stage never expressed "Ritorna vincitor" more feelingly and dramatically. The single solo is mentioned because it served as a key to her entire performance, one that never swerved from the high level on which it began.

And Miss Van Gordon was in the finest voice these ears have ever heard her in, so good looking that at times one questioned the truth of the story about Radames turning his affections elsewhere, at all times a magnificent figure and a stirring singer.

Likewise Mr. Lazzari kept up his reputation of being one of the finest basses and finest artists in the company. This time, however, he was run a fairly close race by Mr. Baromeo.

The triumph scene was a great spectacle; in fact, the whole opera is dressed in scenery of gorgeous color and inspiring contours. In the triumph scene, surrounded by companies and battalions of regulars and extras, the ballet had its part, a complicated, well outlined, and dexterously performed dance in which Edward Caton became a good deal of a choreographic star. And so with sumptuous singing, a blaze of color, and a general atmosphere of gayety, "Aida" took its place among the season's accomplishments.

FIRST MARRIAGE OF THEODORE ROOSEVELT IS TOLD IN NEW BOOK

Theodore Roosevelt's courtship of Alice Hathaway Lee and their three years of married happiness, about which little has been known heretofore, have been brought to light in a new biography, "Theodore Roosevelt," by Henry F. Pringle. The book is published by Harcourt, Brace & Co.

There is not a word in the autobiography of Roosevelt to indicate that Alice Lee existed. He met her at Chestnut Hill, Mass., during his junior year at Harvard, according to Pringle. Pringle says that Roosevelt "had an overwhelming, gusty vitality and he insisted that she [Alice] watch from the gymnasium balcony when he made his bid for the lightweight boxing championship. Alice was a little repelled, but wholly interested."

Roosevelt married Alice in October of 1880 and for three years lived a life of idyllic happiness, Pringle says. A few days after their first child, the present Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, was born, Alice died, leaving Roosevelt a broken hearted man, according to the biographer.

Pringle examined several hitherto unavailable sources of Roosevelt's life in the preparation of the biography. The author had access to more than 75,000 personal and official letters belonging to the Roosevelt family.

Child of Artist Has Own Show; Other Art News

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

IT is not often you find an exhibition so fine that it is all you can do to refrain from nudging passers-by at the gallery door and say: "Go in! Go in!" Just exactly that emotion overcomes you twice on Michigan avenue this week if you happen to discover the intriguing sketches from her trip around the world by Carol-Lou Burnham in the Palmolive Huyler's, and again when you face the portraits by John Balas in the newly opened Rickett's gallery, 561 North Michigan.

Carol-Lou Burnham is a second generation artist; the first, except for Karl Oberteuffer [who has moved to New York] that we know. Her mother is Anita Willetts Burnham, very well known on the north shore and in town for her charming sketches and studies of children. Carol-Lou has inherited her mother's deft touch. A bright frock, long, thin legs, a head of curls or one hidden by a flapping brim, and you see one, two, three fantastic, delightful, thoroughly human children bringing city streets and parks to life all over the world.

Color, solidity, fine composition, a charming sensitiveness of perception, all of these characterize Miss Burnham's work. Among her most fascinating sketches are "Flower Street, Peking, China," Luxemburg Gardens," "Fountain in Play,' " Japanese Theater, Kyoto," and "Hills of Palestine."

Portraits by John Balas are in the Rickett's gallery. They are as fine as many given us by Salisbury or even Louis Betts. They are extraordinary. John Balas has just come from Hungary, his native country. He stayed a few weeks in New York before moving here. His portraits have been exhibited with great acclaim in New York. It is easy to see why. He is a master at getting character and likeness, still with that gift go a grace and delicacy of touch, a beauty of texture, a wise sense of setting, that magnify his power immensely. Hands, a difficult feature, are beautifully pointed by him. The flesh tints and tones, the eyes, hair and dress of his various sitters are themes for admiration.

Parents Can Learn of Child Health Findings Through New Leaflets

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

For some time after attending the White House conference, last fall, I received letters asking if the reports were available to the general public. They were not easily obtainable at that time except by the members. Since then, however, the material has been put into permanent form. The books mentioned yesterday from one sort of record of the conference.

In addition to these longer published reports a series of pamphlets has been issued, for help in solving parents' problems. These fifteen leaflets, of which more will be published from time, to time, are grouped as follows:

Series on Growth: "Responsibilities of the Present Day Family"; "How Children Grow Physically"; "How Children Differ Mentally"; "Learning to Talk"; "The Changing Drama of Behavior."

Series on Personality: "Mental Health Begins at Home"; "Home and School: Partners in a Common Venture"; "How Communities Influence Their Children"; "Vacation—Profit or Loss?"; "The Uses of Leisure Time."

Series on Habits: "What Do Parents Need to Know?"; "Habits That Make or Mar"; "Habits of Sleep and Repose"; "Habits of Eating"; "Habits of Independence."

The Marriage Racket

By VINA DELMAR

SYNOPSIS.

Jim Corbin, while playing in vaudeville in Thrace, an upstate New York town, is given invitations by Bill Fitzroy, friend of her pianist, and Wallace Graham, a friend of Bill's. Wallace asks Irma to be his wife. Bill's proposal to her is of another. Irma marries Wallace and leads a dull existence as his wife. Wallace's mother, Mildred, and his aunt live with them. A son is born to Irma. He becomes the center of her universe. Wallace and Irma go on a trip to Europe. Irma worries constantly about the baby. They meet Russell Byrnes, a wealthy bachelor from Chicago, who has a cabin on a boat sailing in two days, which Irma persuades him to take. Back in Thrace they find the baby well, but Mildred planning a eugenic marriage with Scott Avery. Wallace appoints Irma to guard her. Mildred eludes her guard and elopes with Scott. Wallace and Irma quarrel. Irma decides her marriage is a failure, sails with the baby to New York. She gets an engagement dancing in a night club, where she meets Russell Byrnes. Irma becomes Russell's mistress, because he can give her everything Irma thinks he needs. Russell is called to Paris on business and invites her mélange over there.

INSTALLMENT XI.

A PARIS APARTMENT.

There were rooms for Irma at a hotel on Rue Pierre Charron. The street was not far from the Champs Elysees and was reasonably quiet yet not isolated from the theaters and shops.

The rooms of her suite were hung in satin. Mademoiselle directed the maids and chamber maids about in French which amused Martin. Irma left them for a few minutes' rest and the last thing she heard before falling asleep was Martin's delighted laughter. He had asked a chamber maid where a hot one and she had pointed to it thus proving that she understood.

By the time Irma awoke Martin had learned to say "Vive la France." She had for a time listening to him shout his approval of this new, strange country. Anything she had suffered in this damn place. But, no, it had been a different place. A Paris without Martin. He was here now and Mademoiselle was with him and there were satin-lined walls, a dinner engagement at the home of Nina Lebeau and there was Russell.

Martin came running to her at this signal that she was awake. He caught her into her arms.

"Do you like Paris, honey?"

"Really? Well, you can go look at it tomorrow."

"We're going now, she says."

Mademoiselle appeared in the doorway. "It is just around the corner, madame," she explained. "It is called 'Paradise des Enfants.' He would like it so. I wish to buy him his first toy in Paris if you do not mind."

"Oh, I don't mind. Bye-bye, darling."

They went out then. The large capable girl and the small, yellow-haired man. Their outlines as they passed through the door made Irma wish she could draw. The firm solidity of Mademoiselle's back and shoulders showed a willing devotion to duty and Irma fancied that in Martin's little skip a manner could guess his destination.

A knock at the door forced Irma to leave her bed. Two packages were put into her hand by what was apparently a special messenger. She signed a receiving finger at him and said, "Wait a minute." The French money with she had acquired on the boat was a mystery to her. Wallace had been generous on the former trip. The boy had to have something however. That was right for him? Three ten franc notes looked nice together. Besides there were bidding about loose in her bag. She handed him the three thin pieces of paper and watched him depart. His expression had been very strange, she thought. Well, if it was too little he must think her stingy, for was all.

The first package was for her. It was flowers from Russell. His card said, "Your Paris is a better city than New York." She thought that was very sweet. The second package was for Martin. The wrapping paper bore the inscription words "Au Matin Bleu." She had no notion what that meant, but she suspect that Mademoiselle had done right in hustling Martin to the toy shop if she wanted to be first with a Parisian toy.

The next word from the world outside the satin-lined rooms was the arrival of the trunks. Irma was glad to see them. She had been wondering what she would wear to the Lebeaus' house if they did not materialize. As for her the choice one of her nicest gowns and was ready promptly at seven when the switchboard girl announced that Mr. Byrnes was waiting.

The Lebeaus lived on a world famous street but it was not famous for mansions. Nothing but shops could be seen when Russell stopped the car. Fussy shops, at that. Tiny, unprepossessing ones.

"Where's their house?" Irma asked.

"Hiding." He led her through an alley way that separated two of the shops.

"Cute!" Russell asked.

"Seems kind of dishonest. If people are going to have a decent house why don't they have it in public where every one can see it?"

Russell laughed. "It's quiet back here. Wait till you see."

It was quiet in the Lebeau's beautifully furnished home. Monsieur Lebeau greeted Irma about explaining in very bad English that it was only a winter home and uncomfortably hot just now. Usually they were away from Paris during the summer, he said, but Russell had interfered with his plans this year. Irma did not think it uncomfortably hot. As a matter of fact she thought so well of Mme. Lebeau's talent for picking homes that she accepted eagerly when the French woman offered to go apartment hunting with her.

It was just as well that she accepted for though Irma talked to an American real estate man that was the last bit of English she heard regarding apartments. Mme. Lebeau did the talking from there on while Irma stood by whispering, "I don't like this place."

The fact that Irma wouldn't have the apartment in question under any circumstances never deterred Mme. Lebeau from telling an irate concierge that the halls were dirty looking, the decorations atrocious and the rent simply too high. The woman was tireless. From morning till night for a week she led Irma through apartments. Some reminded Irma of long dead mansions of whom she had read. Great mirrors, elaborate gilt chandeliers and deep, red, brocaded wall-paneling were no setting for the baby. There was a horrible, stifling feeling that came with just the sight of these decorations. On the third day she had seen a suitable apartment but Mme. Lebeau had said the price was ridiculous.

"Thirty seven hundred and fifty francs a month," she had cried. "For what, my dear?"

"For that apartment. I like it," Irma replied meekly.

"Ah, you will see better and cheaper ones. Don't worry. It is a terrible, thirty-seven hundred and fifty francs. It is a robbery."

On the eighth day of apartment hunting Irma decided that she was sick and tired of looking at apartments, that Mme. Lebeau enjoyed it and that consequently the quest would never end. So on the ninth morning she went out by herself and rented the apartment for thirty-seven hundred and fifty francs a month.

Mme. Lebeau laughed heartily at such childishness when she found out. "It is what I love about the Americans," she said. "They do what they please despite advice or anything."

She forgave Irma so thoroughly that she volunteered to accompany her on the shopping tours which the apartment involved. First there was an ice box refrigerator to buy. The apartments of Paris do not regard any refrigerator as necessary, let alone an electrically controlled one. Then the furnishings came next. They were secondary to the gleaming white monster which would make ice to keep Martin's milk and food pure.

Irma had looked at furnished apartments during the first two days of her search but had found them impossible. The furnishings had been made not to beautify. They were heart-breakingly depressing.

Fiendishly extravagant perhaps to furnish an apartment in Paris but after all she had not taken Russell Byrnes as her lover in order to put up with a shabby apartment. She had had one before she'd had him. Besides she and Martin might stay a year in Paris, she reflected. If they were together it made no difference to her whether the city was Paris or New York. And Russell didn't mind the money. It was he who said, "If you get that unbelievable furniture for your living room don't buy the cheap stuff. It looks like cardboard." And it was he who had insisted that the New York apartment be retained. "Just close it up, dear. It'll cost no more when you return all the hard knocks your furniture gets from subletting or from storing it in and out."

So now she and Martin had two apartments with an ocean between them. One in New York and one in the beautiful Bois de Boulogne section. In many ways the Paris home was more pleasant. The Bois was a far more reassuring background for Martin than Central Park had ever been. The hosts of children that came from the slum districts of New York to infect the park had been a never ending source of worry to both Mademoiselle and Irma. The little brats shouted crude epithets at each other and hurled baseballs about with fine disregard for bystanders. In the Bois this element was lacking. Mademoiselle was delighted to see Martin in company with such little ladies and gentlemen. Hitherto he had not been permitted to mix with other children. Irma had always feared whooping cough and measles. Italian children were rough. Martin was apt to be hurt.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Children Need Clothing.

"There are a great many children in our school who come from needy homes and do not have sufficient clothing to wear. They range in ages from 5 to 16 and are in need of coats, shoes, dresses, suits, and underwear. Will you ask your readers to give anything they may be discarding at this time? MRS. B."

Almost every family where there are growing children has garments to dispose of now and then which, while in fairly good condition, no longer fit the young owners. Won't you let us know about any you may have?

Mrs. Hibbard Uses Novelty to Aid Charity

BY THALIA.

ALMOST any fashionable matron will tell you that she thinks it would be lots of fun to have an office of her own, but Mrs. Frank Hibbard has gone a step further and has got one. She is inaugurating an ingenious and novel charity-business concern—CONVENIENCES is its arresting title—and has taken a smart little English basement shop, all decorated in black and silver, at 106 East Oak street, in which to carry on her operations. She proposes to relieve busy people of all sorts of secretarial odd jobs, and her business slogan is "Let Conveniences Save You Annoyances." She'll telephone guests for dinner, pay the monthly bills—that is, she'll fill out the checks, type that bothersome committee report, or balance the check book. Those services are to be purchased at a cost of $1.50 an hour, and the earnings are to be turned over to the several hospitals on whose boards Mrs. Hibbard serves.

She doesn't intend to cut in on the business of any of the regular professional social secretaries and won't do anything so magnitudinous as sending out invitations to large formal affairs or anything like that.

She does plan to have a Christmas gift delivery service when holiday time approaches, though. The Hibbard motor is to be pressed into service for that, thereby doubling the income of the business for such time as it is in use. The printer is holding the notices to be sent out about the opening until the telephone is installed, which will be today or tomorrow, and the number can be inserted on the cards.

Mrs. Hibbard has rented half of the office to the Frontier Nursing service, and will share it with Mrs. John C. Gardner, executive secretary of the service in Chicago.

Mrs. Gardner also is in charge of the Chicago end of the management of a unique charitable enterprise. The Frontier Nursing service, through one of its national board members, has arranged to take over the S. S. Britannic for a West Indies cruise from Feb. 27 to March 13, and the proceeds of the ticket sale will go to the service. Reservations are being sold in sixteen cities. Mrs. Gardner, who came to Chicago last year in the interests of the F. N. S., has a book coming out shortly which she wrote about the work while she was in the Kentucky hills this summer. Mr. and Mrs. Martin Insull, who have become interested in the work of providing medical care for the isolated inhabitants of the southern mountain district, have been added to the Chicago committee. Mrs. Insull and a group of her friends have been making layettes, and Mrs. Insull donated a beautiful saddle horse, "Virginia," to the service. Miss Hortense Harris and Charles W. Dempster also are new members of the committee.

Mrs. Robert Gray Peck had a meeting of the Chicago branch of the Army Relief society at her residence at 1244 Stone street yesterday afternoon. Like every other charitable organization, the Army Relief needs more money this year than ever before, but it has a great many supporters and they're going to concentrate on selling the associate memberships—$3 a year, I believe they are—instead of having any sort of benefit. The society's purpose is to help the widows and orphans of the regular army. Mrs. William H. Hubbard is head of the Chicago branch, and there are 12 "sections" doing work here. One of them is a hard working group of Dames of the Loyal Legion, headed by Mrs. William P. Wright, whose husband was a captain in the civil war. They make children's and babies' clothes.

Briefly—Mrs. Joseph B. Long is opening her apartment at 1540 Lake Shore drive next Monday and Tuesday for an invitation showing of gowns and wraps, in charge of Princess Gajarine, a cousin of Prince and Princess Serge Obolensky who is representing a New York modiste. She's to be Mrs. Long's guest at the Mary Garden concert on Monday evening . . . Mrs. Philip L. Reed and Mrs. James A. Field have made reservations for the performance of Tony Sarg's marionettes in Thackeray's "The Rose and the Ring" at the Goodman this week-end . . . Mrs. Harry H. Lobdell is in Los Angeles, Cal., for a visit. . . . Mrs. Harry H. Shearson is residing at the Seneca hotel this winter. . . . Arthur Meeker Jr.'s dog, "Vicki Baum," is sick and at the veterinary's. . . . Mrs. Charles L. Dering has closed her country place at Green lake and has taken an apartment at the Seneca for the winter. . . . Mr. and Mrs. John J. Glessner of 1800 Prairie avenue have returned to Chicago after a long stay at their summer place in New Hampshire. . . . Miss Jane Condon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James G. Condon and Truman W. Brophy Jr. are to be married, I hear, the last Saturday of this month.

Benefit bulletins—Mrs. William J. Chalmers, chairman of the Mary Garden benefit concert for the Country Home for Convalescent Children requests those who have taken stage boxes for the benefit to get to their places at Orchestra hall next Monday evening not later than 20 minutes after 8, so the artists won't be disturbed by people coming in late.

Mrs. Adlai E. Stevenson had a pep meeting yesterday morning for the young women who are to sell tickets for the Olivet institute benefit tableaux vivants program at Orchestra hall on Tuesday, Nov. 17.

Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Cudahy and the Ernest R. Grahams are to take parties of 8 to the Association of Arts and Industries benefit performance of "The Admirable Crichton" at the Erlanger on Armistice night, Nov. 11, and others who have taken tickets include the Morris L. Johnstons, the John Jay Borlands, the Walter B. Wolfs, Mr. and Mrs. Barrett Wendell, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Garfield King, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Sprague, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Clement, Mr. and Mrs. George High, Mr. and Mrs. H. Newton Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. Burt A. Massee, Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Logan, Mrs. B. A. Eckhart, and Mrs. Herman H. Hettler.

Card Party Today for Sacred Heart Charity

Members and former parishioners of the Sacred Heart church parish at 19th and Peoria streets will hold a reunion and charity card party on Saturday evening at the Trianon ballroom.

Proceeds will be used for needy families residing in the vicinity of the church. Mrs. Frank Dixon is chairman and Mrs. John E. Maguire treasurer for the benefit. The Rev. James Walsh is pastor of the church.

The committee in charge includes Mrs. W. B. Bain, Mrs. Thomas Blanchfield, Mrs. Walter Boylan, Mrs. John Durkin, Mrs. Daniel Leddy, Mrs. Joseph Mackin, Mrs. Thomas Maloney, Miss Eileen Blake, Miss Mary Cavanaugh, Mrs. James McDonnell, and Mrs. Timothy Walsh.

Loyal Legion Meeting.

The Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States will hold a dinner and business meeting at 6 o'clock this evening at the Union League club. J. George Wright will speak on "The Romance of the Osage Indians."

SOCIETY ATTENDS "AIDA"

THE season's first performance of "Aida," that hardy perennial among opera favorites, last night attracted a fashionable and enthusiastic audience to the Civic Opera house. When the curtain rose on the second act nearly every box in the gold and rose semi-circle was filled. The foyer during the intermissions was almost as gay and animated as it was at the opening performance Monday night.

In their lower tier box Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Field had as guests their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Field, Miss Constance Hasler, and Dustin Grannis. Mrs. Field wore a black lace gown and ermine wrap, her daughter-in-law a salmon colored satin gown, and Miss Hasler a white lace gown with draped shoulders and peplum. In the Richard T. Crane's box Dr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Ryerson had the Samuel Insulls and the Charles H. Hamills as their guests.

The Joseph T. Ryersons and Mrs. Hugh J. McBirney were joint hosts in their box to the Barrett Wendells and Henry Porter.

In the adjoining box Walter S. Brewster had as his and Mrs. Brewster's guests the Baroness Wrangel, who is visiting them; Mr. and Mrs. George A. McKinlock, and Miss Marie Rozet. Mrs. Brewster and Bernard Rogers occupied seats on the main floor.

The Robert G. McGanns, who have been regular Wednesday night box hosts for years, were hosts to Admiral and Mrs. Walter S. Crosley and Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Dewey. Mrs. McGann wore black velvet with a handsome dog collar of diamonds and pearls; Mrs. Crosley was also in black velvet, and Mrs. Dewey in pale green satin.

The Robert J. Thornes had a family party in their box, including their daughters, Mrs. Hermon D. Smith and Mrs. G. Corson Ellis and their husbands, and their third daughter, Mrs. Georgs Gillespie, who is here from California for a visit with her parents. Mrs. Gillespie wore black taffeta with diamante trimming, her mother, white satin, and her two sisters, black velvet.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest R. Graham's guests were their son and daughter-in-law, the William Grahams, Mr. and Mrs. T. George Lee, and Miss Edna Kellogg.

Mr. and Mrs. John T. McCutcheon, Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, and Hamilton Forrest were guests of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Chalmers.

With the William V. Kelleys were their son, Gordon Kelley, and his fiancée Miss Hortense Henry, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Swift.

Dr. and Mrs. Wilhelm L. Baum, the latter in black velvet with sable trimming, were hosts to the Baroness von Notzstitz, who is back in Chicago for a few days' visit with them; Dr. and Mrs. Hugo Simon, and Weston Bull of Springfield, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edward Brown's guests were the Alfred Grangers and Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Adams. Mrs. Brown wore a white crêpe gown and cream colored velvet wrap; Mrs. Granger, black velvet with a pearl dog collar, and Mrs. Adams, green lace.

Other boxholders included Mr. and Mrs. William A. Yager, with a group of guests including Mrs. Nevins Johnson, Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, Edwin D. Krenn, Edgar Uihlein, and Ova Vett, Mrs. Edgar B. Stern, who was hostess in the Julius Rosenwald box to Dr. and Mrs. Franklin McLean, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Grunsfeld, and Mrs. Ada Greenebaum; Mr. and Mrs. Everett L. Wyman who had Mr. and Mrs. Howard Peabody and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Templeton as their guests in the Clayton Marx box; and Mr. and Mrs. Sol Goldberg, whose guests included Dr. and Mrs. Louis Mann, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Fisher, and Dr. and Mrs. Eugene Carey.

Mrs. Spencer Smith, Mrs. W. Henderson Hill, Mrs. Frank Browley, and Mr. and Mrs. William Forrester were in the Vail Buckline' box. Mr. and Mrs. Edwin R. Bacon, Mrs. Harold Amberg, and Harry Bishop were guests of Dr. and Mrs. Malcolm Harris. Mrs. Cornelia Scott of St. Louis was hostess in the Charles A. Munroe box to Mrs. William T. Noonan of Philadelphia, Miss Audrey Campbell, and Mrs. William P. Martin.

Over 6 Million Visitors at the Shedd Aquarium

With the end of October the attendance at the John G. Shedd aquarium reached a total of 6,223,323. That was announced today by W. H. Chute, director of the aquarium. This was a daily average of 12,200 visitors over the entire seventeen months that the aquarium has been open to the public.

Bridge Players Foster Hobby, Aid Poor, Too

Relief funds need the money. Bridge players need the spur of competition on a wide-spread scale. That's why THE TRIBUNE is sponsoring the Golden Card tournament the evening of Dec. 3.

One-half the total proceeds, over and above the actual costs, go to the Chicago joint emergency relief commission, which is striving to raise a total of $3,800,000 that life may be made bearable for thousands who, without the aid that is to be extended them, will go cold and hungry.

The other half goes to the Hungry Children School fund. Since the announcement was made several members of parent-teachers associations have volunteered to promote parties of Golden Card contestants. They know the conditions; their kind hearts have been wrung by the knowledge that little children sometimes faint in their school seats for lack of nourishment.

Many thousands of Chicagoans who are bridge players probably have not yet given to either relief fund. Thousands more will give more than they have given. Their entry fees in the Golden Card tournament will fulfill requirements admirably—and they will have the fun, in addition, of keen competition at their favorite game.

The rules of the tournament are simple. They will be repeated over and over in THE TRIBUNE, and on the evening of Dec. 3, at 8:15, a complete review of them will be made by Charles True Adams, bridge expert of THE TRIBUNE. Play will begin at 8:30.

Either contract or auction may be played, and every table will have a champion team at the end of the four hands. Those who send in the best scores, as decided by a committee chosen by this newspaper, will be invited to participate in a final bridge tournament. To the champion team in the finals will be given handsome cups emblematic of victory.

All that the prospective players have to do is to determine how many tables will play and then send in orders and remittances for their cards. As four hands are to be played there are four prearranged packs for each table. The price is $2 a pack—$8 for a table. Of this $8 all but the cost of the cards will go to the relief funds, and the cards cost less than 40 cents a pack.

Fabre School's Students Gather Clothes for Jobless

The boys and girls of Fabre school, 3202 Sheridan road, have been doing their bit to help the unemployed by collecting for distribution among the poor all the clothing their families and neighbors can possibly spare.

Yesterday afternoon Tommy Ernst, Laura Pettingill, Billy Kaucher and Patsy Reynolds, students of the school, called on Sally Joy Brown, bringing with them the fruits of their labor. Huge packages containing heavy coats and underwear for children, shoes, stockings, mittens, and overshoes were among their gifts which will mean comfort and warmth for the needy boys and girls who fall heir to them.

Simple Exercises Can Quickly Banish That Dowager Hump

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

The extreme décolleté of the evening gown with sometimes only a slim metal chain for a shoulder strap makes necessary a one hundred per cent shoulder and back line.

Now, there's that dowager hump—a rich accumulation of fat at the base of the neck and usually stretching shoulder width—that does mean things to a formal gown. It isn't any friend either to a gown with a back in it! So, as Mr. Shakespeare says, "Out, blinkety-blank spot!"

Usually this bunch of fatty tissue appears on backs that have weathered thirty-five years and over, thereby gaining its middle aged enconium. But younger women are detected every now and then carrying the excess weight on their backs with no more reason for so doing than faulty posture.

Correct posture is the grand preventive. Also, in corrective work, it is the first step. So, sit yourself up straight, stand ditto, and walk up as if you had the responsibility of a crown on your head.

In case you're not so informed, many salons are meeting this dowager hump emergency with satisfactory corrective courses consisting of special massaging and packs.

But for the rest of us there is always the home corrective to be found in a couple of good exercise movements aimed directly at the fat infested area. I say a couple, because two done every day for ten to fifteen minutes are all you'll need, as well, probably, as all you'd do anyway.

I don't know any exercise that frees that tightened gob of fat back there from its moorings so well as simply describing circles with arms and hands extended full width. Begin with small circles and work up to great big ones, holding the body as rigidly as possible during the arm circling movements.

Then, get down on the floor for the second exercise: Raise your head, neck and shoulders up without help from hands and feel the tug on the back shoulder muscles. Do this until there isn't any tug and no more back there to shed.

Photo of Frank Kendall depicting the embarrassment often experienced by skinny, scrawny men and women

CHEST SO HOLLOW
. . . he wouldn't put on a bathing suit!

Yet a few weeks later he'd gained 19 lbs. and felt great

HE'D had to turn down many a joyous party. Those pipe-stem limbs, that caved-in body would, he knew, count him out with any girl. How long before he'd be out in the cold altogether—never invited any more?

Yet a few weeks later he was like a new person. Body huskier—brain like a steel-trap. But let him tell it:

"I was so skinny, so ashamed of my spindly arms and legs, that friends couldn't induce me to put on a bathing suit.

"Then a few weeks ago I heard about Ironized Yeast. Well, here are the results. At present I've gained 19 pounds. When I get up in the morning I feel great, with a clear mind where before it seemed I always got up in a fog." John Hagrish, 200 W. Morris Ave., Linden, N. J.

Why have to hang back and miss the pleasures others enjoy, because of a skinny, run-down body? Why not build up a strong, well-proportioned figure this "short-cut" way? Get a clear, healthy complexion. Gain new energy of mind and body, as thousands of others have.

A Double Action Tonic

It is easy to understand the amazing tonic values of Ironized Yeast. Two of the greatest health builders known, combined in one.

Specially cultured, imported "beer yeast", the richest known. This yeast is concentrated 7 times—therefore 7 times more effective. Then it is combined by a special process with 3 distinct kinds of blood-building, energizing iron.

RESULTS—OR MONEY BACK! Start taking Ironized Yeast now. If you are not over-joyed with your progress after the very first package, your money promptly refunded by manufacturer.

AVOID IMITATIONS! Be sure to get genuine Ironized Yeast. Look for "I.Y." on each tablet. At all druggists. Ironized Yeast Co., Atlanta, Ga.

REAL Doctor's Remedy
safest aid to bowels

A DOCTOR knows the best and safest way to stimulate the bowels when bad breath, coated tongue, sluggishness, or a bilious, headachy, gassy condition shows they are lagging. There could be no better proof of this assertion than the overwhelming sales and popularity of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Syrup Pepsin is a doctor's prescription for the bowels—made by the same formula Dr. Caldwell wrote and prescribed over and over during his forty-seven years of practice. He tested its gentle action with women, older people, babies and children; saw that it does not gripe, sicken or cause any discomfort. He proved its action thorough, complete, with the most robust men. Then as its pleasant taste and perfect action caused it to grow in popularity, he permitted it to be bottled and kept by drugstores everywhere, ready for use.

Get a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin from your drugstore today. Then, next time you or any of your family feel the need of a bowel cleansing, you will have a doctor's choice of what is best.

Woman Admits She's Jealous; Doris Tells Her of Several Cures

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"What can you do for a bad case of jealousy? I cannot bear the sight of my husband putting his hands or arms on one of the opposite sex when greeting her. I know he means nothing by his actions. It's only his way of being friendly, but I simply lose my temper after the friend is gone. I do not like to show him that I feel this way, as he has been very good and considerate in every way.

"I have tried to smile and make believe I have seen nothing. But my mouth only sets in a grim line and my composure is gone for the evening. As I happen to be about 15 pounds underweight, I wonder if this could have anything to do with it.—SINCERELY."

I wouldn't be surprised but the underweight has much to do with it. Certainly, any woman who can admit her fault as openly as you has the mentality to cope with the situation. But when run down and nerves are raw from want of flesh padding, every little thing can become a torment; every motive on the other one's part misinterpreted.

The fits of temper are a form of hysteria common to the raw nerved. So, the doctor had better be interviewed as a first step in recovery. Probably, because you now see the injustice of your jealous pangs, the health rebuilding will be enough.

But, if it isn't there's something to try to remember about giving way to jealous outbursts. It's an admission that the other woman is a potential rival and you are afraid of her. It's an admission that you're not so sure of yourself. It's the well known inferiority disease coming to the surface. And it is a devastating malady both to health and character.

When you take on that grim expression in the presence of the other woman, she recognizes, or so reads it, anyway, that you are in the grip of fear. And she often relishes the position you thereby allot her. Women are vain. They gather a certain diabolical satisfaction out of being so irresistably attractive that men can't keep their hands off. Your jealous mien contributes further to that.

So, it becomes a question of just how willing you are to add to the woman's self-importance. That's one way of looking at jealousy. Another is to recognize it as a vice that has to be fought tooth and nail for the damage it does to your own character.

Movie Gossip from Hollywood

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—Zane Grey, author of cowboy adventure and south sea stories, announced yesterday in Pasadena a deal with Sol Lesser, motion picture producer, by which Lesser acquires 200,000 feet of movie film which Grey brought back from four expeditions into the south seas. Lesser will combine the film footage into a feature length film covering shots of little known spots on the globe, deep sea fishing, and yachting adventures.

Grey will write the dialogue explaining his film shots, and Grey's voice will explain the shots, with sound effects introduced in other portions of the film. Lesser said: "The cost to Mr. Grey of turning out this remarkable film is nearly $1,000,000. This represents boats and equipment necessary." Lesser estimated the expenses of cutting, piecing, and editing the film at another $25,000 to $50,000.

Tom Mix has come back to Hollywood a crusader and those who listen to him don't know whether to take him seriously or not. Tom's crusade is in favor of "Letting the youth of America vote at the age of 18 instead of 21." He says "Our kids are plenty intelligent to exercise their franchise at 18."

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

The bodice of this lovely frock is cut on slightly fitted basque lines, and the sleeves are puffed to broaden the shoulders. The soft all-around fullness of the skirt hints of the romantic influence, and soft shirring confines the fullness through the waistline. Black velvet seems the perfect material for this dress for dinner wear or formal afternoons.

The pattern, 3408, comes in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20 years and 36 and 38 inches bust measure. Size 16 requires 3⅝ yards of 39 inch material with ⅝ yard of 18 inch contrasting.

Paris Creates the Three Tone Ensemble

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—The great success of the contrasting color ensemble, this last summer, has brought into style all sorts of color combinations. The newest and most successful of these is the new French daytime ensemble that is in three tones of one color, as, for instance, three tones of red, brown, or green. You have to take a certain red, or brown, or green, and then find three tones of this or the result is apt to be garish and discordant.

The Chantal ensemble in our sketch is based on chartreuse green. The coat is a light tone of chartreuse green, in a heavy diagonal woolen, and the skirt is in a darker tone of the same green and in the same woolen. The blouse is made of crocheted shetland wool in the palest tint of chartreuse.

Long jackets, like this one, that reach to the knees are smart this winter, and particularly if they button up the front, as this one does. Chantal makes this jacket individual by giving it a little standing collar of mink and a big bow tie, like those of the Latin quarter artists, made of crocheted shetland wool in palest chartreuse. The narrow cuffs on the straight sleeves are mink, and the raglan shoulder line is important to chic.

The dress has a straight, pencil line skirt of dark diagonal woolen that extends two inches above the belt of the waistline. Diagonal woolen lower sleeves are placed on the shetland blouse, and a piece of diagonal wool is encrusted on the side front of this blouse, to match a similar piece on the front of the skirt.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C. Nov. 4.—[Special.]—Mrs. Hoover this evening attended the concert of the Westminster choir in Constitution hall. It was sponsored by the Washington Federation of Churches. Mrs. Hoover occupied a box and had several guests with her. The United States ambassador to France and Mrs. Walter E. Edge were guests over night at the White House and are now in their home on 18th street for a short stay before returning to Paris. Their house here was occupied by the premier of France, M. Laval, during his recent visit.

Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Adams have as their guest the latter's niece, Mrs. Standley Miller of Philadelphia, who received with them this afternoon, when they gave a reception to the officers of the navy and marine corps stationed in Washington and their wives.

Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, sister of the Vice President, has as her guest at the Mayflower, Mrs. Alice Nibley Smoot, who has just returned from Salt Lake, where she visited her father, C. W. Nibley. Mrs. Smoot has taken an apartment for the winter and will take possession of it later in the week, when Mrs. Gann leaves with the Vice President for California.

Food Talk.

The legends of families and historians about mince pies rank on a par with the yarns of Paul Bunyan's lumberjack deeds of prowess. Though European epicures and gourmets scoff noisily about our native American pies, yet chefs strive, in their best restaurants, to reproduce them in all their goodness. However, pies are by no means an exclusive American food, for Shelley speaks of mince pie and other "lady-like dainties." But two crusted mince pies are strictly ours, and that is the only way mince pie should be made.

The cook with an eye to labor saving, and the saving of money makes sufficient mince meat at one time to carry her through the winter season. Don't mistakenly assume that the two crusted pie is the only way in which it can be served. Personally, I believe that few individuals, if they are lovers of good pies, believe anything can compare or take the place of mince meat served as it has been from time immemorial, which is the standard rich, spicy two crusted pie our grandmothers and mothers have always made.

But, for variation, mince meat makes delicious tarts and delectable little turnovers, both of which brag of no escaping juice. These can be prepared from pastry scraps, and cost little more than the work and time involved.

The recipe given here for mince meat makes eighteen pints, and can be used with half or a quarter of the amounts in proportion. One pint of mince meat makes one large pie.

MINCE MEAT.

3 bowls—4 pounds of suet. Chopped cooked meat [set an extra pound of suet when buying.
3 bowls—1 peck of apples.
1 bowl of vinegar.
1 bowl of molasses.
1 bowl of boiled cider.
1 bowl of suet.
1½ bowls of raisins.
1 bowl of currants.
3 bowls of sugar.
2 tablespoons of cinnamon.
2 tablespoons of cloves.
2 tablespoons of nutmeg.
1 tablespoon of black pepper.
1 tablespoon of salt.
1 pound of chopped citron.

I have used the measurement of "bowls" to simplify the measuring of the ingredients. The five pounds of meat will be the equivalent of five pounds after it has been cooked and chopped. Use a medium sized bowl holding a liquid quart, and proceed with the recipe with this as a measuring unit.

Cook all the ingredients, except the meat and spices, together over a slow fire in a porcelain kettle, until the apples are tender. This will take about one to one and one-half hours. Then add the meat, meat liquor, and spices, and bring to a boil. Seal hot in sterile pint or quart jars.

Sweet pickle vinegar from peaches, etc., may be used in place of the boiled cider.

What do you KNOW about BAKING POWDER?

You know that it leavens.... but do you know

.... that it can add real food value to a baking?

.... that there is a scientifically perfect leavening proportion?

.... that two-thirds should take place in the mixing, and one-third in the oven heat?

.... that this insures complete and perfect expansion of the elements which must be expanded and broken up to become wholesome food for you, and particularly for your children?

THE CHOICE OF COOKING EXPERTS

Rumford, the all-phosphate baking powder adds real food value to every baking. It leavens invariably in the perfect two-to-one proportion. It leavens perfectly and thoroughly, producing hot breads, cakes and pastries which almost literally "melt in your mouth." When you use Rumford, you use the most wholesome, dependably uniform and economical leavener made.

BATTALINO WHIPS MASTRO; RETAINS CROWN

L. U. FROSH BITE DUST--RUSSELL'S BACKONVARSITY

Hanley Denies Row Over Gopher Shift.

Regular offensive and defensive workouts with the freshmen marked Northwestern's football practice yesterday. The workouts today and tomorrow will be of a light nature, since Coach Hanley does not desire to risk further injuries before Saturday's game with Minnesota.

Russell filled in at the full back berth yesterday and judging from the way he bowled over the yearlings he is again fit and ready for action. Although he is not scheduled to start against the Gophers, there is little doubt but what he will be called on during the afternoon.

A report circulated in Minneapolis yesterday that Coach Hanley had protested the legality of the Minnesota team was vigorously denied last night by the Northwestern leader.

"There is nothing to it," Hanley said. "It is simply another effort of Minnesota fans to key their team for victory."

Keenan Back in Form.

"We never have questioned the ability of Minnesota nor Coach Crisler. We are prepared for any style of play the visitors use and are not worried that the Gophers are going to attempt unfair advantage."

Ted Keenan, another Wildcat who has been on the ailing list, reported for last line duty yesterday and participated in the scrimmage. Keenan, who performs at left half for the Purple, has been handicapped by several injured ribs sustained in a practice just previous to the Ohio game. He will play Saturday.

With these two ready for action, Coach Hanley will have his back field intact for the first time since the Illinois game. One question remains unanswered in the Wildcat camp, however. That is whether the Purple's passing attack will function without Bastner being on the tossing end. The big fellow has not been used in practice all week because of a broken thumb.

The Northwestern line, which has been able to more than hold its own with all opposition encountered this season, anticipates a busy afternoon Saturday. The veteran forwards, Marvel, Riley, and Evans, will be expected to form the major bulwark against the Gopher thrusts. Either Dilley or Bogbrotzen will pair with Evans at guard. Fencl and Jens are the likely choices for ends, while either McDonald or Waldin will start at center. The latter has practically recovered from the shoulder injury which kept him out of the Illinois game.

Start Homecoming Celebration.

Northwestern's homecoming celebration will get under way tonight when the McKinlock campus division holds its annual reunion for the old grads. The affair will be held in the 122d field artillery armory. Coach Dick Hanley and E. L. Wilson, athletic director, will speak.

The annual hobo day will be celebrated on the Evanston campus tomorrow and will culminate tomorrow night with the homecoming parade in which nearly 100 fraternity and sorority floats will participate. A bonfire and pep session will conclude the ceremonies.

GOPHERS IN SCRIMMAGE

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—Minnesota's regulars got their only real scrimmage of the week today as they tapered off their preparations for the Northwestern game at Evanston Saturday. However, Fritz Crisler saw to it that none of his regulars took part.

Hollingall's condition is a source of much concern in the Minnesota camp. He was handled rather roughly last Saturday and came out of the game with an injured ankle. He has been hobbling ever since, unable to take part in any serious work. He will play part of the game at Evanston, Wells, tackle, and Oen, center, were on the sidelines tonight, too. The former is definitely out play this week, but Oen will be ready.

STAPLETON PRO ELEVEN WHIPS DODGERS, 13 TO 0

Stapleton, N. Y., Nov. 4.—(AP)—Stapleton's professional football team, led by Ken Strong, defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers, 13 to 0, tonight in the final and deciding National league game between two of New York city's pro teams.

Stapleton marched 85 yards with Strong and Parkinson carrying the ball for the first touchdown in the second period. Strong also scored the second touchdown in the third quarter after Tiny Feather had intercepted a Dodger pass and run 65 yards before being pulled down.

Strong also place-kicked the extra point.

Mrs. Howard Kellogg, Hurt in Fall from Horse, Dies

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 4.—(AP)—Mrs. Howard Kellogg, widely known for her activities as a rider and breeder of thoroughbred hunting horses, died today of injuries received yesterday during the fall hunt of the Lake Shore Hunt club. Mrs. Kellogg was tossed to the pavement and received a fractured skull when her mount stumbled.

CRISLER GIVES GOPHERS UNIQUE SHIFT ATTACK

Michigan Discarded Same Idea Early.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Fritz Crisler, whose Minnesota football team meets Northwestern Saturday for the Big Ten leadership, has introduced an innovation to the single wing back system of offense which screens the formation until a second before the ball is put into play. Crisler's plan keeps the defense guessing just as Notre Dame's three backs in a row before the shift keeps secret the direction of the Irish attack.

It is interesting that Michigan, according to Benny Osterbaan, used a similar device, but discarded it before the first Big Ten game.

Gophers Shift Line.

Crisler has all his linesmen, except the center, who assumes his position over the ball after the team comes out of the huddle, stand a yard back of the line of scrimmage. These six linesmen, guards, tackles, and ends, do not face forward. The guards face each other. The tackles and the ends do likewise. At the quarter back's signal, the linesmen jump up to the line of scrimmage, either with a balanced line [three on each side of the center] or with an unbalanced line to the right or left.

The backs simultaneously take their positions with a wing back either to the right or left. Approximately one second [the time prescribed in the rules] after the players have shifted the ball is put in play. As a result of these tactics the defense cannot balance the center of Minnesota's attack until one second before the play.

Irish Shield Attack.

Notre Dame's three backs in a row with the quarter back directly behind the center has this same purpose of shielding the offensive strategy. When the backs shift to the right, Marchy Schwartz becomes the ball carrier on a play directed at the defensive tackle and end on the side to which Notre Dame has shifted. And likewise, when Notre Dame shifts left Sheketski is the ball carrier on the same play in the other direction.

Coach Hanley also has taught Northwestern several new ideas in his adaption of Pop Warner's double wing back attack. He has invented a shifting line [original with him, we believe]. Against Illinois, Northwestern used this shift occasionally and with fair success. The shift was used twice in the Northwestern-Notre Dame game, but its effectiveness was handicapped by the rain and slippery field.

Northwestern, Wisconsin, and Ohio State are the Big Ten teams which use the double wing back on offense to the exclusion of other formations except for kicking. And the Buckeyes do the majority of their kicking from the formation with Carl Cramer stepping back just before the ball is snapped for quick kicks.

Wing Backs Popular.

Michigan, Minnesota, and Iowa use a single wing back the greater part of the time. Indiana, at least in early season, tried a short kick formation [with one man back about six yards]. Purdue, of course, since Coach Kizer and two of his assistants are graduates of Notre Dame, prefers the so called Rockne style of attack.

Chicago sometimes uses a player in motion before the ball is put in play and on other occasions uses a flanker, which is a back stationed approximately 10 to 15 yards out from the end of the scrimmage line. On other plays Stagg uses a back field formation which roughly resembles a box with two men up and two back.

Illinois demonstrates offensive football which is a composite of Zuppke's ideas and follows no particular set pattern.

One of Northwestern's jobs Saturday will be to stop a play which they first demonstrated to the Gophers. Last year at Minneapolis, Northwestern scored a touchdown on a forward pass to an end [Baker] with a lateral pass to a back field man. Minnesota has used this fundamental idea this year with success. Iowa failed to stop the play and last Saturday Munn ran for the Gophers' second touchdown in the Wisconsin game on it.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

EARLIER CHICAGO.

DEAR WAKE: In 1830 a herd of young buffalo from the west, consigned to Chicago, arrived in a stock car which was placed next the platform alongside the inbound freight house of the Burlington at 16th and Union streets for unloading.

A 2 inch rope was found fastened about the horns of the buffalo, with extensions about eight feet on each side. To unload, three freight handlers on each side took hold of the rope ends and marched the buffalo out of the car and over the platform into the freight house, where they were fastened to uprights supporting the roof.

Shortly afterward came an order reconsigning the buffalo to Allegan, Mich. To reload, four freight handlers on each side took hold of the rope ends and marched them over the freight house floor. Suddenly one of them, when passing through the doorway, switched his tail, lowered his head, and swirled with such force four men were slammed against the freight house wall. An exclamation by Tom Nolan, one of them, never will be forgotten by the undersigned.

After breaking away, this buffalo ran down the platform incline, then south on Union to 18th street, then west a short distance, where he stopped for a breathing spell. While standing there, a small boy walked quickly up and took the rope end, making it fast to a telephone pole.

Twelve freight handlers hurried along to take the buffalo back. He fought for his freedom all the way from 18th to 16th street, but was tuckered out and finally placed in the car for forwarding.

Fortunately, except for a few bruises and abrasions, no injuries resulted from the only "buffalo stampede," so far as I know, which ever took place in Chicago. Hundreds of people lined the sidewalks during the proceedings. D. D.

Re-Call.

Two tiny sole-through shoes upon a shelf,
Covered with dust by some busy elf.
An old hat, torn at the brim
That crowned a golden head and shaded a big broad grin.
Play-worn pants, patched and mended;
Yet the little lad, with fighting blood—
a soldier to be!
A gallant stride, a sword at his side,
Marches on—march on! Young Koenig of Saxony.

Their march is ended, and still as soldiers at attention they stand,
Upon the shelf, untouched by hand.
Awaiting an echo of a distant bugle call

CARNERA SIGNS TO BOX CAMPOLO IN GARDEN NOV. 27

New York, Nov. 4.—(Special.)—Primo Carnera, Italian heavyweight, signed today to box Victorio Campolo, Argentinian, in a 15 round bout at Madison Square Garden Nov. 27.

This will mark Carnera's first return to the ring since his defeat by Jack Sharkey last month.

HERE'S STORY ON PIGS, POTATOES AND RADISHES

Why Aren't They Used as Grid Nicknames?

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 4.—One of the most important items to be considered in the organization of a football team is the selection of a nickname and the preference runs largely to animals, although two New York City teams, New York U. and City College, are named for the demurest of flowers, the violet and the lavender, respectively.

Up to now no clubs have been named for any of the more prominent vegetables, which seems a strange oversight for there would be dignity and substance in such a name as the Hot Potatoes or the Fiery Horseradishes. Princeton's team is known as the Tigers and also as the Orange, a compliment to the fruit family, but yes, we have no bananas and I do not recall any other team which is named after a variety of fruit.

Kansas' Name Often Confused.

The Kansas team is sometimes referred to erroneously by provincial eastern writers as the Cornflowers but that is merely a confusion of terms, the Kansans being known as the Jay Hawkers and the state as the Sunflower state.

In selecting the name of an animal, the finest delicacy and tact must be observed, as there are certain animals which, for esthetic reasons, no college or university would wish to be associated with in print. For instance, in all the long list of bears, lions, bulldogs, and so forth, there is no team named for the pig, except Arkansas, which is called the Razorbacks, which takes the edge off the sting attached to the name pig. And some warning sense tells me that if I were to refer to the Fordham team as the Fordham Pigs I would receive some unpleasant correspondence from old grads and undergrads of Fordham university.

Even Ram's Best Friends.

This aversion is difficult to analyze, for the pig is a useful animal and a very dangerous opponent in a fight. Of course, the pig is not the most fragrant of animals, but then Fordham's symbolic pet is the ram and the ram's best friends do not hesitate to admit that the ram has B. O. even as the pig, if not more so.

In fact, at the United States Naval academy, where the favorite animal is the goat, the midshipmen have an old ceremony of dousing their goat with the admiral's garden hose on certain football occasions to bring out the full strength of his bouquet. But the pig is out and so is the skunk, which is a rather handsome small animal with a defiant spirit that any football team should be proud to equal. Yet the midshipmen of the naval academy, when they have finished stimulating the odors of their goat with the admiral's garden hose, would be loath to admit that any animal on earth could excel, or, let us say, surpass him for rank pungency and diffusion.

There Were Alfred, Upsala.

There was a time when Alfred college and Upsala college, whose athletes annually yielded themselves to the big teams for experimental purposes, might have been called the Guinea Pigs with poetic propriety. Yet it was felt that the satisfaction to be derived from such a neat thought would not be worth the volume and the violence of the letters beginning "Dear sir, Of all the dirty——"

Yale, Georgia, which is a sort of offshoot of Yale, and Drake university of Des Moines, Ia., are known as the Bull Dogs and acknowledge the name with pleasure, but in a country which takes a rather mushy pride in its love of all dogs, you would arouse nothing but fury at these schools if you were to speak of their boys merely as the dogs. Call them Bull Dogs and watch them beam with pride, but call them Dogs and don't forget to duck.

There is an odd contradiction here. The dog is widely regarded as man's best friend and most faithful companion by the same race of people

BOXING OR WRESTLING—BAT'S BEST

128 College Elevens Plan to Aid Needy

New York, Nov. 4.—(AP)—The call issued a few weeks ago by Owen D. Young, chairman of the committee on mobilization of relief resources of the President's organization on unemployment relief, for college football to help in raising funds for the unemployed already has met with responses from 128 colleges.

A report today by E. K. Hall, chairman of the football rules committee, who took over the direction of the project, revealed that 53 teams have arranged special games, 57 are at work on plans for special games, seven have agreed to give the net proceeds of one regular game, and 11 will contribute a part of the receipts of one regular game.

"The response of the schools and colleges to the call has been magnificent," Hall said. "Only one more thing is necessary to make the whole program a success, and that is the spirit in which these games are supported."

In addition to the college games, three professional teams—the Chicago Bears, Chicago Cardinals, and Cleveland Indians—will play special games.

The teams that will play special games are:

East—Army, Navy, Yale, Brown, Holy Cross, Dartmouth, Providence, Rhode Island, Columbia, Princeton, Cornell, Pennsylvania, Union, Rensselaer, Davis and Elkins, Pittsburgh, Duquesne, Carnegie Tech, Penn State, Lehigh, Long Island, and St. John's.

West—Washburn, Haskell Indians, Westminster [Mo.], Findlay, Adrian, Notre Dame B team, Purdue B team, Northwestern, Michigan, Purdue, Wisconsin, Ohio State, Minnesota, Indiana, Illinois, Chicago, Washington university [St. Louis], Oregon State, Quincy, Notre Dame, Wooster, Oklahoma, and Marquette.

South—Georgia Tech, Kentucky, Duke, and Oglethorpe.

N. Y. U. Athletics Show $20,000 Year's Deficit

New York, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Athletics at New York university produced a gross revenue of $534,098.57 for the fiscal year which ended Aug. 31, but the department wound up with a deficit of slightly over $20,000.

CHICAGOAN IS FLOORED TWICE BEFORE 14,000

126 Pounders Wage Furious Battle.

Almost a Draw

THE decision of the judges and referee by which Battling Battalino retained the featherweight championship of the world last night was not unanimous. Edward Hinta, one of the judges, called the fight a draw. Ed Klein, the other judge, gave the champ 52 points, and 48 to Mastro, while Referee Dave Barry scored the fight 51 to 49 for the champion.

BY FRENCH LANE.

And as he clung to the crown, which he won in December of 1929 and has defended time and again against all comers, he whipped the gamest kid any champion ever encountered. That boy was Earl Mastro of Chicago's west side, whose quest for the championship went awry before 14,021 partisans at the Chicago Stadium last night.

The rugged, pulling, pushing king of the featherweights is the champion this morning because he absorbed every punch Mastro could deliver—punches to the chin, punches to the stomach, and punches on every other spot where it is legal to hit a man in a contest with gloves.

Body Blast Upsets Earl.

He is champion because he came back with just a little harder blow for every one he received. Twice he had Mastro down, the first time in the second round with a left and a right to the chin which came in bang-bang order. He sent the challenger spinning into the resin again in the sixth after Mastro had taken a lead so big it looked as if he were going to turn certain defeat into victory.

This time Battalino sent a terrific right to Mastro's stomach. As the west side boy settled to the floor, he glanced up askance at Referee Dave Barry. He thought he had been hit low.

The timekeeper was counting—one, two, three, four, five, six, seven—Referee Dave Barry was paying no attention to Mastro's plea. Then at the toll of nine Mastro bounced up and tore into the champion more furiously than ever.

Draws $41,449.50 Gate.

Old timers can sing the praises of Attell, of Johnny Kilbane and of Johnny Dundee and all the other men who have worn the crown in this traditional division for years, but last night Christopher Battling Battalino might have whipped them all, one at a time. And Mastro was so game most of those in the crowd, which paid $41,449.50, would have ventured the assertion that he would have whipped all the champions except Battalino.

Of course this is merely speculation. But it suffices to convince that last night's contest was a fight; a fight that would have made an alley gang climb up to the top of the fence. Both these famous little featherweights were ripping, slugging, pushing, pawing, and fighting their way onward, whaling away with all the most powerful punches they knew.

Mastro, carrying the fight right into the chin and midsection of his more rugged opponent, got away to a flying start, arousing the crowd to a deafening cheer before the fight was a second old.

Bat Thwarts Rally.

But in the second round Battalino delivered that sharp right and left to the chin and the Mastro folks began to worry as Earl went down for a short count. They worried from there until the finish, although Mastro rallied so gamely at the beginning of the sixth round that his neighbors from around the Stadium district thought he was going to pull it out of the fire. Just as they began to cheer him again there came that blast from Battalino's right that exploded full in Earl's body—and down went Mastro.

Mastro spurted again in the late rounds. And again he pushed his right and lefts off Battalino's chin, but they were to no avail. There didn't seem to be any dynamite or strength in his olive colored arms. He had hit Battalino with everything he had. He had punched the champion enough to make any fighter groggy. But Battalino refused to get groggy.

Ross Defeats Jallos.

The ten round semi-windup between Sammy Mandell, former lightweight champion, and Ralph Lenny of New Jersey, was stopped in the second minute of the eighth round and declared no contest by the referee.

Charley Young, 137 pounds, knocked out Al Keegan, 179½ pounds, in the third round of their scheduled six round bout, the first of the card.

Louis Jallos, alternate on the 1929 Chicago Golden Gloves boxing team, who comes from Cleveland, O., was defeated in eight rounds by Barney Ross, of Chicago. They are lightweights. Ross also is a graduate of Golden Gloves boxing. He won the inter-city title in 1928.

Louis Kid Kaplan defeated Harry Dublinsky of Chicago in eight rounds. Although handicapped by lack of height, Kaplan carried the fight, and in the third round sent Dublinsky to the floor for a count of five.

NOTRE DAME IS AROUSED BY PENN VICTORY IDEAS

Coach Ends Scrimmage for Quaker Game.

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—Notre Dame's varsity football squad was so aroused today by a clipping from a Philadelphia paper, which some one posted in the dressing room, that Coach "Hunk" Anderson canceled today's scrimmage and said there will be no more heavy work this week.

The clipping is an excerpt from a story on Pennsylvania's chances against Notre Dame next Saturday, and it seems that, instead of folding up, the Quakers are coming west with thoughts of victory.

Coach Harvey Harman, who has brought five straight victories to Pennsylvania, is quoted as saying: "We have the best chance of any opponent so far of beating Notre Dame. We are going up there bent on winning. We are not going to try to hold Notre Dame as, I fear, other opponents have tried to do. We are not looking for a moral victory or a one or two touchdown defeat. It's all or nothing with us.

"Best Line in the East."

"I have the best line in the east," the story continues, "the best full back [Perina] in the country, and plenty of other smart backs, too. As fast as any. And furthermore, they like to take it. There is not a brittle man on the squad.

"We don't fear Notre Dame as much as we did Lafayette," the story concludes.

Penn had its hands full defeating Lafayette last Saturday, 2 to 0, but this close call is accounted for by the fact that Penn suffered a letdown from its victory the previous week over Wisconsin.

Drill Is Curtailed.

The story was displayed on the dressing room bulletin board. Anderson sent the first three teams through a shadow scrimmage and stopped them early. He said there will be no live scrimmage all week.

Several members of the first team were absent from today's drill, having left for Chicago to attend the meeting which started the Rockne Memorial Stadium fund drive.

OHIO IN SECRET DRILL

Columbus, O., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—Ohio State university's football team "went exclusive" today and all nonplayers and managers were barred from the field during practice. This included newspaper reporters who have seen nearly every practice session this year.

Official communiques were to be presented during the remainder of the week by the university's publicity director while Coach Sam Williaman worked secretly to prepare his team for the homecoming game Saturday with the Navy.

The initial communications revealed that the varsity squad scrimmaged against the freshman trying out new plays and testing their defense against the Navy offense. In addition the forward pass defense was given a long workout with Wesley Fesler and Don Miller, assistant coaches, throwing. While most of the practice session was taken up with the defensive drilling, a short session of signal calling was used to brush up on new plays.

IOWA HALTS PASSES

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—Pass defense, a weakness against George Washington, received the attention of University of Iowa football coaches in today's final hard drill for the Nebraska game Saturday.

Freshmen using Husker aerial formations made only slight headway against the regulars, Capt. Sansen, full back, and Hickman, half back, grounding most of the passes.

Coach Burt Ingwersen directed a brief scrimmage against Nebraska running plays, using practically the same line which started against the Colonials, except for the replacement of Tompkins, injured guard. Akin and Moore alternated at Tompkins' position.

Ingwersen started Dolly at center; Hantelmann and Moore, guards; Rogers and Samuelson, tackles; Swaney and Merten, ends. Dellavedova, regular tackle, was withheld from scrimmage and blocking practice with an injured shoulder.

Except for the brief work on pass defense, Ingwersen spared the varsity back field, using Pickering for Thurlo at quarter back, Graham for Kriz, and Moffitt for Kriz at half back, and Schmidt for Capt. Sansen at full back. The Hawkeye squad will entrain for Lincoln tomorrow night.

90,000 TICKETS SOLD FOR U. S. C., STANFORD GAME

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 4.—(AP)—The largest crowd ever to witness a football game west of the Mississippi river will gather here Saturday for the game between Southern California and Stanford.

It was officially announced today that 90,000 tickets have been sold, 2,000 more than for the Notre Dame contest last year, which represented a new high.

It was not considered likely that all 105,000 seats in the Olympic stadium would be taken, although at least 100,000 persons are expected to attend the struggle.

STEFFEN, DE PAUL BACK, HURT; IS LOST TO SQUAD

De Paul university's preparation for the University of Louisville game Saturday received a severe setback yesterday when Mar Steffen, star back, suffered a recurrence of an old hip injury.

Steffen will be definitely out of Saturday's game at Louisville. Consolation was derived, however, from the play of Ernie Butcher, who has finally recovered from injuries.

Mate's Drive in Stretch Beats St. Brideaux

Pimlico, Md., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—In a thrilling stretch drive which had most of the 15,000 spectators cheering, A. C. Bostwick's Mate today won the Bowie handicap.

The victory pushed his winnings for the year past the $200,000 mark. Twenty Grand, which has retired for season, is the year's leading money winner with $218,545, and the $8,750 which was the value to the winner this afternoon brings Mate's 1931 total to $204,500.

St. Brideaux Second.

It was Twenty Grand's stablemate, St. Brideaux, which came rolling down the stretch with such a show of power that George Ellis had to ride out Mate for all he was worth. Only half a length divided the two at the end of the mile and a half grind which was finished in 2:32, the fastest time since Peanuts won in 1926.

Five lengths back of St. Brideaux, the Wheatley stable's Blenheim landed third, leading Rocky News, Pittsburgher and Anne Arundel. Ormesby ran coupled in the betting with Blenheim and the pair received some backing, but the maor support was for Mate and St. Brideaux in the order named, with Mate going to the post the public choice. Across the board he returned $4.90, $3.10, and $2.50.

Runs Back to Early Form.

The disappointing races Mate has run at Laurel, and the fact that he has stood a long campaign since early spring, made many think that he would not be partial to the long route of the Bowie, particularly as he had to carry top weight of 127 pounds.

But when the chestnut son of Prince Pal and Killashandra was warmed up before the race, and seen on parade in the paddock, there was a tremendous swing of support to him. He appeared fit and he ran the way he appeared.

CARDS, INDIANS RENEW SERIES AFTER 5 YEARS

The Chicago Cardinals' game in Cleveland Sunday will mark their first National league appearance in the Ohio city in five years.

However, in 1927, Benny Friedman's first year out of college, the Indians, led by the Michigan star, played the Cardinals in Chicago and won, 49 to 7.

There was no National league club in Cleveland during 1929 and 1930, but one has been organized this year under Hoge Workman, formerly of Ohio State, and Al Cornsweet, former Brown university player.

Coach Ernie Nevers is nursing a sore back, while Irvin Hill, quarter back, and Francis McNally have minor injuries. All, however, are expecting to be ready for Sunday's game.

APPEAL COURT DELIBERATES ON LANDIS' POWER

The United States Circuit court of Appeals yesterday took under advisement the appeal of the St. Louis Browns and the Milwaukee American Association club owners from a decision by Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley, upholding the power of Commissioner K. M. Landis, to declare Fred Bennett a free agent.

Bennett had been farmed out repeatedly to minor league clubs, and Landis gave the major league owners an alternative of using Bennett in a major league team or releasing him from his contract. Judge Lindley who heard the case without a jury, ruled Landis is within his rights as baseball czar to enforce his ruling.

Here's Tale on Pigs, Potatoes and Radishes who also regard the term dog as a foul insult, connoting cowardice. The same man who will grow sentimental, describing his dog's fidelity, courage, sympathy, and patience can think of nothing worse to say of an enemy than he dogged it.

Three Bear Teams.

There are at least three teams known as the Bears, California, Brown, and Baylor of Texas; there are the Lions of Columbia and Penn State; Wisconsin's team is called the Badgers, and Michigan, named for the Wolverine, will explain, with a mildly boastful meaning, that the wolverine is something like a badger but bigger and meaner.

The Florida boys call themselves proudly after the alligator, which is certainly no more charming than the pig and the team from Southern Methodist is known as the Mustangs. But the University of Texas, which sent a team to Harvard a short time ago is known variously as the Longhorns and the Steers, the latter being the more convenient form for copy-readers who cannot work in rubber type and have to economize in letters.

School Likes Longhorn.

The school prefers the term Longhorn, but if the founding fathers of the university had just known something about the practical problem of fitting a name into a newspaper head they might have chosen Lobo or Gila, both short and indigenous to their country.

The United States Military academy has not exploited the symbolic army mule beyond parading the same, usually a mule borrowed or rented from some nearly army post or ash hauling contractor, in the ceremonies preceding its football games. Some congressman once described the mule as having neither pride nor ancestry nor hope of posterity, and yet the mule is as much of the army as Sherman and Pershing.

How About Aggies?

Various agricultural colleges call themselves by the rather effeminate name of Aggies when it would seem more appropriate to celebrate the squash, the pumpkin, or the turnip as Princeton does the orange. Or, considering their serious study of the diet and social habits of farm animals, they might select their names from among these subjects.

The Michigan Aggies—I seem determined on recognition for the pig—the Michigan Aggies might adopt with dignity and appropriateness the name of the Michigan Pigs.

IOWA STATE OUT TO STOP AUKER IN KANSAS INVASION

Ames, Ia., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—The Iowa State football team today drilled the squad on pass defense to check the throws of Auker when Kansas State comes here Saturday.

The coaches' dissatisfaction with tackling in the Oklahoma game resulted in a stiff session tonight. No scrimmage sessions are booked for this week to preclude any chance of injuries.

Traffic Jam Is Seen in Air Over the Duck Country

BY BOB BECKER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cuba Island, Ill., Nov. 4.—The waterfowl hunters have had to watch out for sunburn and a near sunstroke down here along the Sangamon and Illinois river bottoms, because the first days of the Illinois duck hunting season have been marked by hot sunshine. Beginning Sunday noon and continuing through the early part of the week there was regular woodpecker and bluebird weather rather than typical duck hunting conditions, and both hunters and ducks lolled around in the sun.

We haven't worn a hunting cap since coming down here with Jack, our springer, to look over the birds, because the temperature has been so high that neither headgear nor heavy clothing has been necessary.

Great flocks of long necked pintails flying high against a deep blue sky and coasting down to the broad sloughs filled with smartweed; crafty mallards circling stools of block decoys and quacking live birds; the occasional express train flight of green winged teal zooming past our hideout; thousands of squealing, noisy woodducks plunking into the timber within a pushpole length of the blind; and slow flying cormorants working across the marshes in such large flocks that they caused traffic snarls among the circling waterfowl. These are just a few of the pictures upon which the early duck hunters have been feasting their eyes.

Our fifth row center seat at the big duck show held during the first part of this week permitted us to observe a big part of the marsh here at L. H. Barkhusen's Cuba Island lodge. Ideal weather conditions in this area drew thousands of pintails as well as mallards to the shallow water which was supporting acre after acre of smartweed. From this blind and from two others which we used we could watch the pintails do their toboggan stunt when they set their wings and slid down from the blue sky to within gun range in one long wing roaring effort.

Out in the big smartweed marsh two members of the party, John G. Curtis Jr. and David Peck of Lake Forest, Ill., were sitting right in the middle of this pintail show and traffic jam and had the thrill of seeing flocks of 20 to 50 birds work their decoys.

15 TEAMS BEGIN GIRLS TOURNEY IN WEST PARKS

The west parks annual girls' senior indoor baseball tournament was started last night at seven different parks. Fifteen teams began the seven weeks' double elimination play. Games will be played every Wednesday and Saturday nights.

The parks represented are Altgeld, Shedd, Stanford, Eckhardt, Austin, Franklin, Union, Pulaski, Holstein, Humboldt, La Follette, Douglas, Dvorak, Sheridan, and Harrison. Junior teams also have been entered by many parks; Gold, silver, and bronze medals will be awarded the three winners in each division.

Dvorak and Altgeld Parks will play for the senior soccer championship at Humboldt park next Saturday afternoon, while Harrison and Holstein will play for the intermediate touch football title at Douglas park.

Suburbanites to Play Title Charity Game

While arrangements were being rushed for Chicago High school championship football game yesterday, it was announced that the winners of the Suburban league and South Suburban league titles also will clash in a charity game. The contest will be played on Nov. 21.

Oak Park, which leads the Suburban league, must defeat Morton and Proviso, the only teams remaining on its schedule, to clinch the title. Thornton, by defeating Thornton Fractional two weeks ago, is expected to represent the South Suburban league. Thornton meets Bloom Saturday at Chicago Heights in its only remaining game.

Coach Glenn Holmes of Oak Park, who announced plans for the game, stated that in the event Oak Park wins the Suburban league championship, Oak Park field will be the site of the contest.

St. Mel, undefeated in the north section, will meet Weber in the only Catholic league game scheduled Saturday. The game will be held at Mills stadium and will start at 10 a. m. All other Catholic league contests will be played Sunday.

Austin and McKinley will conclude their west section schedules tomorrow afternoon at Mills stadium. McKinley has been defeated in all its league games, while Austin won one, lost one, and was tied by Crane Tech.

St. Ignatius, which opposes Leo at Shewbridge field Sunday, is seeking a non-league game Nov. 14 or 15. Joseph Boggins, St. Ignatius athletic director, said the squad is ready to meet any Chicago or out of town team.

Capt. Stanley Mondala of Crane Tech has fully recovered from his recent leg injury and will be in the back field when Crane faces Harrison for the west section championship Saturday afternoon at Mills stadium.

QUARTER BACK JOINS MILLIKIN HOSPITAL LIST

Decatur, Ill., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—Besides having the smallest varsity football squad in years, Millikin has lost one letter man almost every week since the season started. The climax came today, when Quarter Back Stud Davis fell through a glass door at his fraternity house, and, after being stitched up, was forbidden to play in this week's game with Illinois college.

Since the start of the season Wellman France was lost because of a shoulder broken in the Kansas game; Buddy Russell by a knee injury; Bob Heidinger by withdrawal and Nick Tarro by ineligibility. Five of last year's letter men failed to return this fall.

BERWYN PLAYS CICERO.

The Berwyn Parrots and the Cicero Bulls football teams will meet Sunday at Berwyn stadium, 29th street and Ridgeland avenue, in a first round Midwest Football league cup series contest.

N. B. A. TO HOLD TITLE TOURNEY IN 175 POUND CLASS

First Round at Stadium Next Month.

The National Boxing association has decided there should be some action among the 175 pound fighters leading up to a definite settlement of the championship.

Gen. John V. Clinnin, president, who is also chairman of the Illinois state athletic commission, announced yesterday both organizations are working on the problem.

A light heavyweight elimination tournament, to which every eligible of promise will be invited, has been ordered. It will be staged under N. B. A. direction at the Chicago Stadium. The first matches will be held early in December. The tentative date for the opening round is Dec. 11.

Maxie Rosenbloom was recognized as champion until he permitted the six month time limit to lapse without defending his title. The N. B. A. promptly declared his throne vacant.

A double windup will feature the charity amateur boxing show tomorrow night at the 24th Ward Democratic club, 3242 West Roosevelt road. Don Messina and Pete Verri meet in one main event. The other will have Lynn Thompson and Lou Newman. Davey Miller will referee the eight bouts.

Lloyd Penner and Simon Ryan, northwest side rivals, will clash in the main event of the amateur show to be held tomorrow at the Lions club, 4300 West North avenue, according to Eddie Klein, matchmaker. Paul Stegar will be after his fourth win in a row when he battles Frank Casella. Jabber Young will referee.

Matchmaker Charles Lavine has completed an eight bout amateur program for the benefit of the J. P. I. scholarship fund to be offered tomorrow night at the Rainbo Fronton. A double feature will bring together Bud Marcy and Julius Cohn, two fast bantams and Johnny Phagan, Central A. A. U. middleweight champion, against Charley Neigo, Gene Klopack, Polish heavyweight, clashes with Frank Kaster.

Dave Maier and Lou Scozza are in training for their bout at Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 12. Maier, southpaw light heavyweight, scored an upset here when he knocked out Tiger Thomas.

Owen Phelps, the 165 pounder who was awarded a decision over Larry Johnson on the southwest during the summer, is en route to Chicago from Minneapolis. Phelps knocked out Fred Lenhart at Winnipeg, Canada, and whipped Larry Agrelli at Minneapolis recently.

Jack Dempsey has been forced to postpone his appearance in two exhibition bouts at Moline from tomorrow night until the night of Nov. 13. Two nights earlier he is to appear in the ring at Omaha. A severe cold contracted while on a moose hunt in Wyoming forced Dempsey to delay his next ring appearances.

Pa Stribling Purchases Clyde Chastain's Contract

Springfield, Mo., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—Clyde Chastain, Springfield middleweight, today joined the Stribling boxing stable. His contract was purchased from E. E. Murphy, Chastain's Springfield manager, by Pa Stribling, who plans to make him a light heavyweight.

SIX DAY BIKE RACERS ARRIVE HERE TOMORROW

The cyclists who will compete in Chicago's 25th international six day bicycle grind, which gets under way in the Stadium Sunday night, will arrive in Chicago tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock. The party will leave New York this afternoon and upon arrival will make the Hotel Morrison their headquarters until the race gets under way.

Pat Mulvey, veteran track builder, began work at the Stadium last night as soon as the fight was over. Mulvey has been building bicycle tracks for years all over America and expects to have this one finished tomorrow night, so that the riders can have a workout Saturday before the race gets under way.

Saturday night there will be a program of match races in the Stadium. Georgetti will meet Spencer in a mile match, Guerra will take on Letourner in a medley match, while Martinez and Bobby Walthour will come together in a mile duel. The professionals also will ride a ten mile open and a half mile handicap, while the amateurs will ride a half mile handicap and a one hour team race.

Fifteen teams will start in the race Sunday, with Mayor Cermak firing the starting gun. The morning session this year will be at 12:30 instead of 2 o'clock.

Not for years has a Wisconsin ...m been given such a week of work. ...ther coaches vow to find 11 men ...o not only can but will block and ...kle in a game. They are willing ...sacrifice a man or two, if neces... ...ry, to find them.

The freshmen, now better organized ...d more confident than a few weeks ...go, have given the varsity tough op... ...sition every day. Capt. Hal Smith ...Thurston, and Goldenberg are still un... ...able to take part in the rough work ...and all may be on the bench at Cham... ...paign. Bobby Schiller, injured half ...back, will not even make the trip.

Coldwell was added to the injured ...list in today's drill. Westcott was ...given special attention at full back. ...The plays prepared for Illinois worked ...well against the freshmen and the var... ...sity had little trouble in breaking up ...the Illini offensive as demonstrated ...by the finish.

WALKER OUT FOR WEEK

Ray Wilson and Bob Horsley ap... ...pear to have the best chance of suc... ...ceeding Walker, who will be out at ...least a week. Wilson, an end, has ...been transferred to the back field. ...Horsley, an accurate passer, held the ...position early in the season.

Changes in the line also were made ...after Monroe Glick, formerly a ...guard, was switched to guard posi... ...tion, Ray Nuszpickel, who has been ...playing guard, was used at tackle. ...Clay Straw worked at center and ...Art Smith in place of Bill Hedtke.

Al Berry practised for the first ...time this week, rejoining the squad ...with Scott Mariner and Bill Charle... ...Art Lind Murray and Art Schultz, ...who are not in the best of condition. ...Scrimmages against the freshmen ...opposed with Wisconsin plays formed ...the greater part of today's play.

MICHIGAN DRILL RAGGED

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—The Michigan football squad re... ...vealed a high school team its first ...day out during a forward passing ...session at Ferry field this afternoon. ...Not only did the regulars fail to com... ...plete five per cent of their passes, but ...a generous number of them dropped ...into the arms of freshmen who worked ...against the varsity. The workout was ...its most discouraging this season.

Responsibility was limited not only ...to the regulars. The first eleven was ...altered continually and more than 30 ...worked either in the line or going ...down after passes. Passing was done ...chiefly by Hewitt and Newman, but ...Tanner was given a few tries. Dur... ...ing part of the drill, a second team ...was used for opposition with Coaches ...Oosterbaan, Weber and Blott ...calling in the back field.

Capt. Hudson had another lesson in ...punting today, indicating that he may ...see action against Indiana Saturday after... ...noon. Tessmer, Fay and Westover re... ...turned the kicks while Newman was ...used in a blocking drill.

Everhardus was out of uniform to... ...day as the result of a leg injury which ...he sustained yesterday. Lajeunesse ...dabbled onto the field in uniform, but ...is generally regarded as being through ...until at least the final game.

INDIANA SEEKS RESERVES

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—Condition is the main concern ...of Indiana university's football team ...squad for the battle with Michigan ...Saturday. After light work for the ...first two days of the week, the squad ...went through active scrimmage ...today.

The entire varsity squad was on the ...field and scrimmaged against fresh... ...men using Michigan formations. ...The Crimson coaches placed emphasis ...on the reserves again today in an ef... ...fort to develop men who can fill var... ...sity vacancies against Michigan as ...well as aid the B team here Satur... ...day against Michigan.

THEY DON'T FEAR PURDUE

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—Centenary's slogan, "We'll wipe Purdue off the football map," as an... ...nounced last night in a radio broad... ...cast of a pep session at Shreveport, La., combined with the knowledge ...that the southerners have been point... ...ing all season for the Boilermakers is ...creating plenty of worry in Purdue's ...camp as it prepares for the intersec... ...tional game here Saturday.

Launch Drive for Rockne Memorial

Ten thousand alumni and friends of Notre Dame kicked off in the campaign for a Rockne memorial last night in a hundred cities and villages throughout the United States. This morning they'll be on their way to the goal of $1,000,000 necessary to make a reality of that memorial—the huge fieldhouse which the late Notre Dame coach always advocated as a vital unit in the campus at South Bend.

While 200 Notre Dame men gathered for the Chicago dinner at the Midland club, similar dinners were being held from coast to coast, all of them welded together by a national radio hookup. Among the speakers on this broadcast were the Rev. Matthew J. Walsh, C. S. C., former president of Notre Dame, who read the speech of the Rev. Charles L. O'Donnell, present head of the university, who was unable to attend because of illness; Grantland Rice, who gave the Four Horsemen their name; Mayor James J. Walker of New York City, and Coach Chick Meehan of New York university.

Will Rogers Talks from Texas.

All of these spoke from the Rockne memorial meeting at New York. Mayor Cermak addressed the radio audience from Chicago, and from a San Antonio, Tex., microphone came the voice of Will Rogers. Three of the Four Horsemen were on the air also, Harry Stuhldreher talking from New York, Elmer Layden from Pittsburgh, and Jimmy Crowley from Chicago. The fourth, Don Miller, was unable to appear.

Among the wires received at the New York meeting were two from President Hoover and Gov. Roosevelt of New York. The President's message follows:

"Clean sport is indispensable in building the body and character of American youth. In his life and character, Knute K. Rockne was the embodiment of sound sportsmanship. The proposal for a memorial to symbolize his spirit and achievements will strike a responsive chord in the hearts of Americans. I wish you every success in the fruition of your plans."

Here Are Speakers.

Among the speakers at the Chicago dinner were the Rev. Michael A. Muilcaire, C. S. C., vice president of Notre Dame; Francis H. Hayes, president of the National Notre Dame Alumni association and chairman of the national committee for the Rockne memorial; Arthur J. Hughes, chairman of the Chicago unit, who also presided as toastmaster; Daniel O'Connor, in charge of the campaign for Chicago; George F. Getz, State Senator George Maypole, and Byron V. Kanaley of the special gifts committee.

DEAN ATTACKS GOLF AS MAKER OF SNOBBISHNESS

Pottstown, Pa., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—George C. Robins, dean of The Hill school, Pottstown, does not believe the game of golf contributes to the general welfare of the schoolboy. On the contrary, he feels that the game is apt to give a good player an undesirable sense of superiority over his less fortunate fellows.

Sports which require team competition are more beneficial, Robins declared today, because they act as a leveler, putting each player on an equal basis in that they are striving for one object, perfection of group play.

Dean Robins does not permit any student to use the school's nine hole golf course unless he is either a member of the team or a competitor in some other sport. Another objection which the dean raises to golf is that the sport is a lazy one, as it does not bring out the contesting spirit which a boy needs to win a place on a football, soccer, or baseball team.

M'CREADY MEETS STEINBORN ON COLISEUM CARD

North Central Eleven to Meet De Kalb Tomorrow

North Central college football team will play DeKalb at Naperville tomorrow. DeKalb is undefeated in the Little Nineteen, having beaten Illinois Normal, Illinois college, and St. Viator. North Central has won three conference games and lost one. The schools have played tie games for the last two years.

Players' Infidelity in 1919 Bitter Blow to Comiskey

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The friendship between Charles A. Comiskey and Ban Johnson, the breaking of which eventually revolutionized baseball's form of government, tottered at various times between the years of 1910 and 1918. The breaks, however never were serious.

JACK QUINN.

Johnson, president of the league, had to watch the interests of eight clubs. Comiskey, owner of one club, never seemed able to reconcile himself to the fact that occasionally it actually was necessary to discipline his team. It was simply an unfortunate situation where in time friendship and business were bound to clash.

The split which never was healed came, as far as is known, from the decision in the Jack Quinn case. Johnson, a member of the old National commission, of which John Heydler, president of the National league, and the late Garry Herrmann, owner of the Cincinnati Reds, were the other members, decided against the claim of the White Sox.

Pacific Coast League Disbands During War.

In the summer of 1918, with the war on, business in the minors dropped off. There was a cry about ball players being slackers. Some of the minors quit voluntarily, among them the Pacific Coast league, of which the Vernon, Cal., club then was a member. The national commission, recognizing that the reserve clause, the foundation of baseball, would be knocked out if players were denied the right to seek employment, announced that players in leagues which had suspended could join, during the period of the emergency, any club willing to pay them a salary. The original holding club, however, was to retain rights to their services.

Quinn, the same veteran spitter who still is doing service, signed with the Sox for the remainder of the season. Meanwhile the New York Yankees, after negotiations with the Vernon club, owners of Quinn, paid over a lump sum for his services. Vernon ordered Quinn to report to the Yankees. The White Sox protested and the commission upheld the sale to New York. Comiskey always contended that he signed Quinn upon advice from Herrmann that the move was within baseball law.

It will be recalled that before 1918 major league schedules were completed the government stepped in with its "work or fight" order and closed the pennant races on Labor day.

Scandal of 1919 Ends Hope of Peace.

The scandal of 1919, in which eight White Sox players eventually were banished for the conspiracy by which the world title was thrown to the Reds, ended whatever hope there might have been for Commy and Ban again burying their differences. Commy refused to deal with Johnson when the rumors began to spread after the first game at Cincinnati.

Comiskey, by his own admission, was told by Monte Tennes, a reliable Chicago gambler, that something funny was going on. Commy sent an emissary to John Heydler, National league president and member of the commission. Heydler conferred with Johnson. They already knew of the rumors, but to prove anything was impossible. Nobody dreamed that enough players could be dragged into a frameup to make certain that the series could be thrown.

Bill Gleason, the manager of the Sox, was sure there was treachery afoot. He told his team so in a clubhouse speech. He dared the guilty ones to step forward. But Gleason, just like Commy, Johnson, Herrmann, and Heydler, had no actual proof. The series went on to its inevitable conclusion.

Cicotte Reveals the Entire Plot.

What happened after that is well known. Comiskey's representatives worked on the case, but found nothing. Johnson's men also were at work and finally located the key man, Burns, a former pitcher, who knew all the details. But proof still was lacking. It finally came in a round about way. The perfidy of the White Sox was touched on in an affidavit made by a player who had been charged with laying down in a game played at the Cubs' park. The affidavit started the ball rolling. Eddie Cicotte went to the office of Comiskey's attorney late in the 1920 season and revealed the entire plot. Nothing ever came of the state's effort to prosecute the supposedly guilty ones. They were acquitted once and when an attempt was made to reopen the case discovery was made that all the grand jury records had disappeared.

Meanwhile the move to smash the national commission, which had functioned since peace was signed between the two leagues in 1903, was under way. Barney Dreyfuss, still nursing a grievance over the raiding of his club by Johnson in 1902 and because the commission had decided against him in the famous George Sisler case, fell in with the leaders of the step. Others in the National league who were only mildly interested fell in line when it was pointed out that the dominance of Johnson could be broken.

Comiskey worked with the National league, giving it 8 votes against the 7 American league clubs still loyal to Johnson. The loyal clubs held out for a time, but finally weakened when the Nationsl pulled a bluff about organizing a twelve club league, including some American league territory. Then it became a matter of finding a commissioner for the new form of government. Landis was selected.

With Johnson dethroned and his pride broken by the infidelity of eight of his players, Comiskey went into semi-retirement. The Bards' room at the park, filled with trophies from all corners of the globe, was no longer the scene of gayety and revelry. The membership roll is still on the wall, but a vast number of the names have been erased from their original place and repainted under the caption "In Memoriam."

NEW TRIER PREP TEAM ADVANCES IN RIFLE SHOOT

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—Scoring a 485 in its second match New Trier High school first team of Winnetka, Ill., competing in the National Rifle associations' junior bi-weekly rifle matches, shot its way into the first division. Teams scoring 485 to 500 are assigned to the highest division, teams making 460 to 484 to the second division, and teams making under 460 to the third division.

Deerfield-Shields High school of Highland Park, Ill., took third place in the second division, scoring 482 in its second match for a total of 230 record points in two matches.

Lane Technical High school, Chicago, has taken third place in the expert division with a total of 140 points, 60 behind the leaders, Western High school of Washington, D. C.

Among the guests of honor will be Bert Metzger and Johnny Wallace, former Notre Dame players; Jay Wyatt, football official, and Freddie Lindstrom of the New York Giants' baseball club.

Boys' Football Teams to Meet in Title Game

The American Boys Commonwealth Wolverines will meet the Beverly Hills Devils for the Chicagoland boys' football championship on Nov. 15 at the 24th Field Artillery armory, 52d street and Cottage Grove avenue.

W. AND J. HEARS MARQUETTE HAS POWERFUL TEAM

Washington, Pa., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—Definite news of Marquette's football strength came to the Washington and Jefferson camp today in a warning from Deb Secrist, former President end, now assistant coach at Wisconsin. He has been scouting the Milwaukee team, which W. & J. meets Saturday. He said to look out for the toughest opponent on the schedule.

Secrist says Marquette has a powerful and deceptive running attack, as well as a splendid aerial offensive. He brands Ronzani, full back, and Sisk, half back, as two of the best he has seen in years.

The W. & J. coaches today had their two team system in full swing during the practice session, employing them during a dummy scrimmage. Today's practice was the last of any consequence before the game, as the squad leaves early tomorrow evening for the west.

JONES LEADS IN CHAMPAIGN CUE TITLE TOURNEY

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—Neal Jones, Indianapolis, went into the lead in the northern division of the southern sectional three-cushion billiard tournament here today, when he defeated Walter Schweitzka, Champaign, 50 to 36, in 41 innings. Frank I. Fleming, Champaign, won over George Sheffer, also of Champaign, 50 to 36, in 61 innings, in tonight's game. Jone's record is two games won and one lost.

Jones and Schweitzka had high runs of six points. Near the finish a run of six, followed shortly by a run of five, gave Fleming a commanding lead in his match with Sheffer.

Maroons Show Improvement on Offense

Accustomed as they are to public beatings, and the anticipatory gloom leading up to each, the Maroon football team regards the prospect of an even match with the University of Arkansas Saturday as the last word in optimism. The necessity for building a defense against superior manpower, which has prevailed the last four weeks, is supplanted now by the opportunity to try some driving of their own, and that's the new spirit.

Yesterday, for the third successive day, the varsity squad did nothing but ram plays against the freshmen. Coach Stagg has reverted to a shift he tried out in practice last spring, and the ball carriers have made more ground, in short consistent smashes, than they accumulated in any week's practice so far.

Beat Back Freshmen.

Against a loud and spritely freshman team, bigger than the varsity and better than the Maroons have had in some years, the first-string men worked grimly and silently and successfully. Wallace, Temple, Summers, Sahlin, Birney and Stagg alternated in carrying the ball, the latter going into the line more frequently than he has before.

None of the injuries or incidents which make useful paragraphs developed in two hours of earnest work under floodlights. But what is more important, and cannot be described, the boys looked good. Against Purdue they showed the beginnings of an effective running offense, and they marched half the length of the field for a touchdown. This week they seem to have learned more about how it's done, and the secret of it is that at the beginning of the season they had more to learn than most teams, and consequently are learning faster.

No Breather.

No game would be a "breather" for the Maroons these days, but Arkansas was not scheduled as a breather. Coach Stagg's last experience with a southwestern team was a 13 to 7 defeat by Oklahoma in 1927, and the game of football has been looking up in that section since then.

ARKANSAS LEAVES TONIGHT

Fayetteville, Ark., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—Coaches Fred Thomsen and Charles Bassett and twenty-two members of the University of Arkansas football squad will leave here tomorrow night for Chicago, where on Saturday the Razorbacks will play the University of Chicago in Arkansas' only intersectional contest of the year.

Shamrocks Play Practice Game Ending 4 to 4

HAMILTON, Ont., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—Manager Babe Dye sent the Shamrock squads, divided into the Reds and Grays, through a scrimmage lasting an hour and a half today. For the second time this season all offsides were called and body checking was unrestricted. The struggle ended in a 4 to 4 tie.

The defense system which Manager Dye put into effect Monday began to function today and did well against the dangerous onslaughts of Brydson, Clayton and Burns, and Wiseman, Riley and Prelesnik. Tip O'Neill was also effective on offense.

Complete Plan for Parade to Cadets' Game

Plans for the parade to precede the St. John's-Culver football game and military pageant at Soldiers' field, Nov. 14, were completed yesterday at a meeting of the American Legion committees in charge. Paul G. Armstrong, chairman of the Cook county council, presided.

The battalions of the two schools, their bands, the Culver black horse troop and units of uniformed Legionnaires carrying the massed colors of the Legion posts will leave the Chicago and North Western station at 12:15 p. m.

The line will march west on Madison to Canal, north on Canal to Washington, east on Washington to La Salle, south on La Salle to Jackson, east on Jackson to the west drive in Grant park, south on west drive to south end of Soldiers' field, entering gate O.

Guests of honor will review the cadets from the Great Northern hotel, where a noon luncheon will be given for distinguished visitors and local officials. The parade will approach Soldiers' field at about 1 o'clock.

In sending its six planes to take part in the aerial demonstration to be held in conjunction with the pageant, St. John's academy feels that it is offering a feature which will be as attractive as that presented by Culver's black horse troop, the most imposing unit in the parade and formations.

The St. John's planes, handled by expert pilots, will fly up and down the lake front while the parade is in progress and will drop hundreds of small parachutes on the stadium.

Layton Beats Lenny for Fifth Straight Cue Win

Johnny Layton defeated Lee Lenny yesterday for his fifth straight victory in his meetings against all comers at three cushions at Bensinger's Randolph street billiard room. Layton won, 50 to 19, in 94 innings, having a high run of 7 to Lenny's 4. Layton will end his three-cushion exhibitions today. He will oppose Joseph Ticka this afternoon and Herbert Hardt tonight.

Bears Regain Grange and Lintzenich

Red Grange and Joe Lintzenich of the Chicago Bears will be in shape to meet the Portsmouth Spartans in their National Professional Football league game at Wrigley field next Sunday afternoon but there is doubt as to whether Carl Brumbaugh will be available.

Grange suffered an injury in the Packer game and until yesterday was a doubtful starter for Sunday, but he began to respond to treatment so rapidly that he is certain to be ready.

An X-ray of Lintzenich's wrist disclosed no broken bones. There is a bruised tendon but it is healing. It was first feared that Brumbaugh had a broken rib but, although the X-ray dispelled that fear, he may not be permitted to get into the Spartan game. However, it will take until Sunday to decide his status.

In the Spartans the Bears realize they will have a foe almost as formidable as the Green Bay Packers, for the former have lost only one game in nine starts.

Coached by Potsy Clark, who made football history at the University of Illinois, the Spartans will present a strong line and a tricky bunch of backs, including Father Lumpkin, who is the team's leading blocker. With him will be Glenn Presnell, former Nebraska star.

The Spartans also will have a field goal threat in Algie Clark, who is in addition a deceptive forward passer and punter. Tony Holm, the University of Alabama's 1929 all-American, will be at full back.

It will be Ladies' day.

they perform very differently. You expect satisfactory performance of your shoes. But price alone can not give it to you. There are many reasons why Miller Cook Shoes, Nettleton made, outwear and outstyle the shoe that only "looks like a good one." One reason is that the fine leather in the uppers, and the strong, smooth linings are cut entirely by hand. Don't let superficial appearances mislead you. Pay at least $10 and you get not merely a promise of satisfactory performance, you get the performance!

$5,000 REWARDS FOR SOLUTION OF MYSTERY CRIMES

New Tribune Serial to Be Broadcast by W-G-N.

Do you enjoy the chilling mystery dramas broadcast by radio? Are you a follower of the creepy crime serials published in current periodicals? Would you find pleasure exercising your own detective talents in connection with a series of mysterious crimes. THE TRIBUNE offers cash rewards totaling $5,000 for just this sort of detective work.

In the women's section of next Sunday's issue THE TRIBUNE will publish the first installment of a novel designed to entertain devotees both of newspaper and radio murder mysteries. The title of the novel is "Five Fatal Words." The authors are two widely known writers, Edwin Balmer and Philip Wylie, who collaborated on the work especially for THE TRIBUNE.

W-G-N to Broadcast Episodes.

To heighten interest in the story and clothe the characters in reality THE TRIBUNE radio station, W-G-N, will dramatize and broadcast crucial episodes of the novel twice weekly as the plot unfolds from week to week in THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE. Two stars of the stage and screen, Herbert Rawlinson and Madge Bellamy, have been engaged to play the principal rôles, assisted by a skillful cast of twelve actors.

"Five Fatal Words" is a story revolving around the heirs of a dour old Yankee, Silas Cornwall, who dies with an estate of $200,000,000. He leaves six elderly sons and daughters.

By the terms of Cornwall's will the income of his estate is to be divided equally among the heirs as long as they live, the last survivor to assume absolute control of the whole vast fortune. Each of the six, naturally, is eager to outlive the others.

One of the heirs is mysteriously murdered. Near the body is found an unintelligible message containing five words. The remaining heirs become aware that a plot is afoot to remove them.

$5,000 Contest Explained.

Somewhere in the story, there will be an unfinished message containing only one of the "Five Fatal Words." The problem is to find the message, complete it by adding four words, and submit your entry to THE TRIBUNE. Full details and rules of this contest will be found in next Sunday's TRIBUNE.

Winners of the $5,000 in rewards will be selected by a committee of judges comprising Judge John P. McGoorty, former chief justice of the Criminal court, an authority on criminal prosecutions; Col. Henry Barrett Chamberlin, managing director of the Chicago crime commission; and Fanny Butcher, literary editor of THE TRIBUNE.

The first radio episode will be broadcast at 9 p. m. next Saturday, the night preceding publication of the first installment. Thereafter W-G-N will broadcast an episode at 9 p. m. each Tuesday and Saturday preceding publication of the next Sunday installment. Contestants for the $5,000 in rewards will find both the radio episodes and newspaper installments essential to the preparation of their entries.

Three Men Killed When Train Hits Their Auto

Cedar Point, Ill., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—Three men were killed here at 9:30 tonight when a west bound Santa Fé passenger train demolished their car. Two of them were identified as Joseph Sheridan, 40, employé of a local factory, and Joseph Merritt, 50, of Lansing, Mich. The third, unidentified, victim had an artificial leg.

PASCALL URGES GOOD WILL AS BUSINESS CURE

Rotary Chief Pleads for World Trade.

Recovery from the world-wide depression depends on international understanding and good will, according to Sydney W. Pascall of London, president of Rotary International, who spoke yesterday before 500 members of the Chicago Association of Commerce at a luncheon in the Hotel La Salle.

S. W. PASCALL.

"The welfare of a nation does not rest on itself alone," said Mr. Pascall, who is a leading British manufacturer. "We must in some way eliminate these periods of depression. We cannot take a selfish attitude. The nations of the world must make it easy to trade with one another. One nation cannot export her products and import nothing."

Mr. Pascall said England will not repudiate her war debts, but he added the nations are approaching the question of a reconsideration of debts and reparations.

"Germany could not have passed her crisis without financial help from Great Britain and the United States," Mr. Pascall stated. "The whole world now faces a crisis. Through trade we must make it easy for debtors to pay. It is only a paramount principle of sound economics."

CANAL DISTRICT GRAFT TRIAL TO BEGIN BY DEC. 1

Trial of the sanitary district graft conspiracy case, in which Timothy J. Crowe, former president of the canal board, and eight of his associates during the "whoopee" days of its administration are defendants, will be started by Dec. 1.

John E. Northup, first assistant state's attorney and chief of the prosecution in the case; Attorney John McInerney of the defense counsel, and Chief Justice Harry M. Fisher of the Criminal court reached that agreement at a conference yesterday.

So far Judge Fisher and Judges John Prystalski and James J. Kelly, who have been sitting en banc with him, have ruled only one of the ten counts in the indictment valid. They did that Monday when they overruled a defense motion to quash the first count of the indictment, charging a general conspiracy though pay roll padding to obtain $5,000,000 from the sanitary district by false pretenses.

WEST POINTER WHO BECAME A GENERAL BY FLUNKNG A QUIZ DIES

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4.—(AP)—The man who became commandant of the Marine corps because he flunked a West Point examination in the presence of President Grant and Gen. George H. Thomas, died today.

He was Maj. Gen. George F. Elliott, retired, who commanded the marines from 1903 until 1910.

Born in Alabama in 1846, Elliott received an appointment to the military academy in 1868. He was given an oral examination in French with the understanding that his stay depended upon the result. In the middle of the quiz in came President Grant and a number of other army officers, including Gen. Thomas, on a tour of inspection.

Excited and embarrassed, young Elliott forgot what little French he knew. He was dropped from the rolls.

In 1870, to his surprise, he was notified that he was eligible for a commission in the marines, then numbering only a few hundred men. He was told that he owed his place to Gen. Thomas.

"I don't know Gen. Thomas," said the astonished marine lieutenant.

"He saw an examination once in which you failed," was the reply, "and said he liked the way that young fellow had failed."

Gen. Elliott distinguished himself during the Spanish-American war and in the Philippine outbreak.

He is survived by his widow and a daughter, Mrs. Harold Reisinger, wife of a colonel in the marines.

CHURCH GROUPS GET ESTATE OF MRS. TEMPLETON

Charities, principally various activities of the Presbyterian church, will eventually receive practically the whole of the $500,000 estate of Mrs. Jessie Gilbraith Templeton, under the terms of a will filed yesterday.

Miss Templeton, who lived at 1128 Forest avenue, Evanston, and was a pioneer resident of the Chicago area, died Oct. 25 at the age of 69. After bequests totaling $47,500 to relatives and charities, she directed that the rest of the estate be held in a life trust for her sisters, Hannah and Mary Templeton, who lived with her.

At their death the trust fund will be divided as follows: 15 per cent each to Presbyterian hospital, the church extension board and the board of foreign missions of the Presbyterian church; 10 per cent each to the Chicago Y. M. C. A., the board of education of the church, and the Chicago Orphan asylum; and 5 per cent each to the board of pensions of the church, the Women's and Children's hospital and the Old People's Home of Chicago.

The immediate bequests included $10,000 to the Central Association of Evanston Charities and the First Presbyterian church of Evanston.

John T. Murphy Funeral Services Will Be Today

Funeral services for John T. Murphy, president of the Illinois Scale company during the last twenty years, will be held at 10 a. m. today at St. Ignatius church. Interment will be in Calvary cemetery. Mr. Murphy died of a heart attack in his home at 6527 Lakewood avenue on Tuesday. He was 68 years old.

Mrs. Annie Besant, Leader of Theosophists, Is Dying

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 4.—News reached London today that Mrs. Annie Besant, famous leader of the theosophical movement, is dying at Adyar, Madras, India. Mrs. Beasant is 84 years of age. Six months ago she had a fall, from which she has never recovered.

LOVED TO EAT, AND NOW SHE CAN!

Much of the suffering from so-called "indigestion" or acid-dyspepsia could be avoided if everyone could know what thousands like Miss Lillian Ralston have learned. This New York City business woman, who lives at 1160 Park Avenue, says:

"I suffered from headaches and heartburn after meals; couldn't sleep like I should; never felt right.

"For five years I experimented with medicines and treatments, until I learned about Pape's Diapepsin. I have used three packages now; have gained five pounds, and feel fine."

If you, too, suffer from sourness, gas, belching, nausea, headaches, dizziness, or pain after eating—either regularly or just at times, get a box of Pape's Diapepsin from your druggist. Then you need never worry again about what you eat.

PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN

ROBERT RIPLEY, STEEL COMPANY EXECUTIVE, DEAD

Robert H. Ripley, senior vice president of the American Steel Foundries, died yesterday in the Evanston hospital following several weeks' illness.

R. H. RIPLEY. [Block-Stoller Photo.]

Mr. Ripley was 55 years old. He was graduated from Cornell university in 1899 and began the practice of law in Chicago. His father, the late Edward P. Ripley, was then president of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad, and Mr. Ripley became identified with the railway supply business.

He joined the American Steel Foundries in 1905, became a vice president the following year, and was made senior vice president in 1929. At the same time, when Robert P. Lamont resigned his industrial positions to become secretary of commerce, Mr. Ripley became chairman of the board of the General Steel Castings company.

Mr. Ripley lived at 29 Indian Hill road, Winnetka. His widow, Mrs. Ada Story Ripley, and three children, Beatrice, Robert Hampton, and Wilder, survive. Funeral services at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow in Brownwood cemetery at Hinsdale will be private.

'GLOOMY' DEAN PREDICTS END OF BRITISH EMPIRE

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Nov. 4.—The end of the British empire was foreseen by Dean Inge in a lecture on the fate of empires at University college, North Wales, Bangor.

After discussing the fall of the Roman and Spanish empires the dean of St. Paul's expressed the opinion that the period for expansion of the British empire had come to an end.

"The profligate expenditures of the world war followed by a kind of government I won't criticize has reduced the richest nation in the world to the verge of bankruptcy and deep humiliation. Although I don't wish to take a pessimistic view altogether, I am afraid our part as a world power is approaching its end. We have been good enough with some luck to achieve a wonderful position in the world but I am afraid we are not good enough to keep it."

Mother Turns on Gas; Dies with 2 Children

Fort Wayne, Ind., Nov. 4.—[Special.]—Mrs. James Hileman, 30 years old, and her children, Betty Jean, 9, and Beverly Lou, 3, were found dead in the gas filled kitchen of their home here late tonight. The discovery was made by Mr. Hileman, operator of a barber shop, on his return home. Coroner E. A. King of Allen county pronounced the deaths due to murder and suicide. He said he was convinced that Mrs. Hileman carried her sleeping children into the room, turned on the gas, and lay down to die with them. Police could find no motive for the act, they said.

GUARD OFFICER AVERS SINKING WAS 'ACCIDENT'

Boston, Mass., Nov. 4.—(AP)—The crew of the coast guard patrol boat Harriet Lane today told a board of inquiry the sinking of the Newfoundland power boat Sophie E. on Monday night was accidental. The Sophie E., long on the list of suspected rum runners in coast guard records, went down 19 miles off Gloucester after a collision with the Harriet Lane.

Boatswain M. D. Jester, in command of the coast guard boat the night of the accident, acted as spokesman for the crew of his boat. Each member corroborated his testimony.

Capt. James Bellman, master of the Sophie E., and members of the crew of the sunken power boat failed to appear at the hearing. Bellman yesterday declared his craft had been deliberately rammed by the Harriet Lane and his counsel today said Bellman and his crew remained away because they did not consider a board composed entirely of coast guard officers an unbiased body. He said Bellman would send his story of the collision to the British embassy at Washington.

Jester denied Bellman's charge of yesterday that he had threatened to sink the Sophie E. if his craft ever came upon her at sea. He said he did not know the Sophie E. was in New England waters until he came on her Monday night.

Finds Husband Dying by Roadside on Auto Journey

Robert J. Ebbert, 26 years old, 6000 Champlain avenue, died early this morning in Washington Park hospital as the result of an unexplained accident Tuesday near Monee. Mr. Ebbert, who was secretary of the Riverdale Products company, 105 West Adams street, was driving in Will county with his wife Alvira when the car ran out of gas about five miles from Monee. Mrs. Ebbert remained in the car and her husband started for a filling station. When fe failed to return she went to hunt him and found him lying at the side of the road, unconscious. The Cook county coroner's office will ask Will county authorities to investigate in an effort to learn whether Mr. Ebbert was struck by an auto or was the victim of robbers.

AUTO BURNING IS MYSTERY.

An automobile, with all marks of identification removed, was burned last night at 71st street and South Crawford avenue. An empty can which had contained kerosene was found on the rear seat.

DEATH NOTICES

In Memoriam.

MAUD—Maude Irene Maud. In loving remembrance of my dear wife, Maude Irene Maud, nee Rucker, who entered into rest Nov. 5, 1926.
Seems to make me happy somehow,
Just to think of you!
Comforts me when I am lonely,
Cheers me when I'm blue—
Almost think you're here beside me,
Smiling as you used to do,
And it makes life's journey brighter
Just to think of you.
FRANK.

MILLER—Max Miller, Nov. 5, 1928.
Deep in our hearts
Your memory lingers
Sweetly loving, tender, and true.
There is not a day, dearest Maxie
That we do not think of you.
YOUR LOVING WIFE AND DAUGHTER.

TOWNSEND—Charlotte Townsend. In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, who passed away one year ago today.
We think of you as one who sleeps,
All freed from grief and pain,
And know the happy day will come
When we shall meet again.
LOVING HUSBAND AND CHILDREN.

WENSTROM—Christine Wenstrom. In loving memory of our beloved wife and mother who passed away 2 years ago today, Nov. 5, 1929.

TRADE REVIEWS EXPECT BETTER STEEL BUSINESS

November Output Is Holding Up.

BY O. A. MATHER.

If the big steel industry, which has been about as hard hit by depression in our major line, can take heart, why shouldn't other industries look forward with greater optimism? The weekly steel trade reviews announce a still further rise in production. Granted that output still is unduly low, this is the first time in several years that the mills haven't declined in November. Therefore, there is a good chance for a belated seasonal pickup.

Although the steel industry is resorting to optimism in view of past disappointments," the Iron Age says, "it has for the first time in months the possibility of better business. A slight improvement in sentiment, resulting partly from rising prices for pig iron and the imminence of a revised automobile manufacturing schedules, has aroused expectation that November may bring a turn in mill operations after a decline that has been continuous since last March.

Expect Auto Gains.

"Steel ingot operations are estimated this week at 39 per cent of capacity, against 38 per cent last week and 39 per cent the week before. Further gains are likely to come from automobile tonnage now being released. Farm implement manufacturers are much encouraged by the advance in grain prices and may increase output soon if the outlook in agricultural sections continues to improve. Other farm buying of steel and its products also may be stimulated.

"A reduction in railroad wages would be regarded by the steel and equipment industries as an important factor in the restoration of the buying power of the carriers. Railroad purchases are lagging far behind seasonal expectations. Building work calling for steel is at low ebb but a considerable number of projects, mostly of a public character, are soon to be started."

Electricity Still Lags.

While consumption of electrical power still lags behind a year ago, its figures last week make a somewhat more favorable comparison. Production was 5.1 per cent under a year ago, whereas in the preceding week it was 5.8 per cent smaller. The figures for the Chicago area are even more favorable, as output last week was only 4.6 per cent under a year ago, whereas in the preceding week the comparative decline was 8.1 per cent.

As significant commentary of through liquidation of securities since the monthly report of the New York Stock exchange on credit being used by its members. Their loans on collateral at the end of October totaled only $794,268,768, a decline of $246,139,111 for the month and bringing the total down to a new low level since compilation of the figures was started in 1926. Such loans a year ago totaled $2,556,124,087.

Bulls Rule Grain Pits; Wheat Futures Advance

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

A bull market was on in all grains yesterday. The March, May, and July deliveries of wheat, corn, and oats and all deliveries of rye sold at a new high for the season as the result of a wave of speculative buying which engulfed the professional operator who has been looked for a recession in prices for several days.

An early break of around 1c in wheat and corn was followed by a bulge of 2¾@4¼c from the low on wheat and 2¾@4c on corn and the close was at the top, with wheat showing 20¾@21¾c above the low figures of Oct. 5. Corn has advanced 12@12¾c during the same period, with oats showing an upturn of 6⅛@6¼c and rye, 13@14c.

Net gains for the day were 2¾@2¾c on wheat, 2¾@3c on corn, ⅝@1c on oats, and 2⅝@2¾c on rye, with July wheat selling at the highest prices since last May when the Stabilization corporation held on the May above 80c, or about 20c above the price prevailing for the July delivery at that time. December wheat closed at 64⅝c to 64½c, March 68¼c to 68⅝c, May 69⅜c to 69⅝c, and July 70c to 70¼c.

No Pressure on Wheat.

The general run of the reports from Europe received by the wheat trade were as bullish as ever, and inspired considerable scattered buying of futures. The latter was largely in small amounts, but more than sufficient to absorb the offerings from profit taking longs and also locals who were inclined to favor the short side on the belief that an advance of around 20c p bu justified a natural reaction in the market. The buying absorbed the surplus in the pit, with the May touching 68¾c at the inside or only 3c under the extreme high of the previous day, and later when short covering and general commission house buying got under way there was little for sale.

So rapid was the upturn in prices, both in wheat and corn, that brokers found it impossible to execute many stop loss orders to protect short sales at the price stated. Many traders who were bullish and had sold out their wheat rushed to reinstate their holdings, and were forced to compete with commission houses in order to get the grain back.

Crop Scare in Southwest.

The strong cash wheat situation which has become the main influence in affecting the trend of the market is being reinforced by prospects of a crop scare in the southwest, especially in Kansas where the new crop is reported as being damaged by continued dry weather, and the specter of severe losses in that section where the bulk of the milling and surplus wheat of the country is raised has started to haunt the short seller.

Exporters were reported as having been free buyers of wheat futures at Winnipeg during the day and a sharp rally in that market had considerable influence on the Chicago market. Winnipeg, however, finished only 2@2¼c higher for the day, with the December quoted at 70⅝c in Canadian currency. Liverpool was easy early on increased offerings of Argentine and Australian wheat, but was unchanged to ¼c per bu lower at the last, with December closing at 66½c on the basis of sterling at $3.74. The quotations from that market showed ½@¾d per cent lower, but this was largely offset by the betterment in exchange. Buenos Aires was up 2½c for the day, with December quoted at 54¼c, a new high for the season, but still around 21c under production costs.

According to the gossip of the trade, a leading local professional sold wheat on the early break and bought it back again at higher prices, which helped along the advance. It is claimed that foreigners are heavily long futures in the local market, but the amounts cannot be approximated. There were no Russian offerings abroad, according to cables from Liverpool. Rotterdam wheat closed 3@⅝c lower yesterday.

Big Market in Corn.

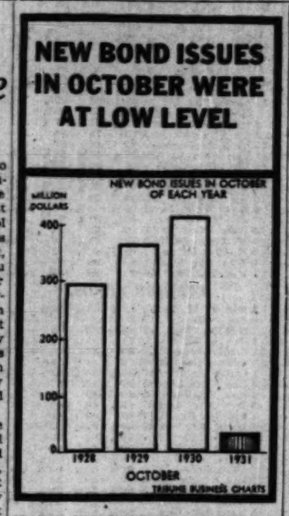
Trade in corn was light early in the day, with the local element inclined to press the selling side, but toward the last there was a stampede to buy which disclosed a lack of offerings, and sellers of offers were forced to protect themselves on the way up. Many stop loss orders were uncovered on the way up, and traders expressed the belief during the day that the market was finally out of the rut in which it has been for sometime past. December sold up to 44⅝c, the highest figure since July 30, and closed at 44⅛@44¼c, with March, 47c; May, 49@49¼c, and July, 51⅛@51⅜c.

There was nothing in the news regarding the cash demand or the crop situation to account for the rapid upturn in prices. Despite the bulge from the recent low point, the May delivery at the last was the lowest for that future since January, 1913. Shipping sales aggregated 51,000 bu, while country offerings were small.

Foreigners Buy Oats.

Buying of oats attributed to foreign account and reinstating of recently sold out holdings of this grain through commission houses absorbed the surplus in the pit on an early break. December finished at 26⅝c and May and July at 29¼c. There were intimations of export inquiry at the seaboard.

Trade in rye was the largest so far, with general buying of futures on the reports of a large export business in Canadian grain with Germany. According to the seaboard Poland and Scandinavia as well as Germany might require so much rye that the latter grain would sell relatively higher than wheat unless Russia was able to furnish considerable grain. There was also closing of spreads with corn during the day. December finished at 47¾c and May at 53c.



NEW BOND ISSUES IN OCTOBER WERE AT LOW LEVEL

GENERAL MOTORS CORP. DECLARES REGULAR QUARTERLY DIVIDEND

New York, Nov. 4.—(AP)—General Motors corporation today declared the regular quarterly dividend of 75c a share on common stock.

The action had been expected in Wall street. The speculative fraternity pointed out that although earnings for the September quarter were equal to but 25c a share and net for the nine months amounted to $2.08 a share as compared with dividend requirements of $2.25, the strong cash position of the corporation supported the regular dividend theory.

The Parker Rustproof company has declared an extra dividend of 50c a share on the common stock in addition to the regular quarterly disbursement of 75c.

The Timken Roller Bearing company declared the regular quarterly dividend of 50c a share, payable Dec. 5 to stock of record Nov. 20. A statement issued by the company said that current reports show a noticeable improvement in its business and while results "for the past quarter are disappointing, we believe that improvement is in sight and our large cash surplus accumulated during past years makes it possible to readily pay this dividend."

The Standard Oil Company of California has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 62½ cents a share. In the previous two years the company declared a stock dividend of 2 per cent in addition in the final quarter of each year.

A. O. Smith company omitted its common dividend, but declared its usual preferred payment of $1.75. Spear & Co. took no action on its second preferred dividend, voting only the regular $1.75 on first preferred.

Railroads Prepare Plan to Present to Commission

BY SCRUTATOR.

Railroad executives expect within the next two weeks to be ready to present to the interstate commerce commission a complete plan for the relief of lines whose low earnings have impaired their credit standing.

This was learned yesterday while the American Railway association was holding its annual meeting at the Blackstone hotel. The association's session was confined to a discussion of operating problems.

The membership of this group, however, is almost identical with that of the Association of Railway Executives, which represents all the railroads in matter of policy. Hopes that this latter organization might also convene yesterday to decide upon the railroads' acceptance or rejection of the interstate commerce commission's proposal for relief of weak roads failed to materialize because the advisory committee had not yet completed its work on a tentative plan.

Conditional Acceptance.

The railroads, according to well informed sources, will accept the commission's proposition that rates be raised on certain commodities and the additional revenues obtained thereby earmarked for a fund to bolster the finances of the roads whose fixed charges are not being satisfactorily covered by current earnings.

Several reservations, however, will be made. The roads on whose traffic the extra revenues are to be made are expected to insist that the money be lent rather than given outright to the weak lines, the loans to be junior to obligations already outstanding. The plan also contemplates preventing borrowing roads from paying dividends as long as the loans remain unpaid.

Point Out Objections.

The executives believe that outright gifts would be stoutly resisted by stockholders of the stronger roads. Many of them have received letters from stockholders warning them that any attempt to give away part of their companies' earnings would be followed by petitions for injunctions.

Most of the rail leaders appear to regard donation of a share of one company's earnings to another as pure socialization of industry. They believe that it would remove incentive to good management.

Indications, therefore, are that the commission's pooling idea will be given a trial, provided the commission is willing to accept the reservations asked by the railroads.

Formal consideration of the thorny subject of wages is being held in abeyance pending a definite settlement of the rate question and the pooling proposition.

The reasoning is something like this: If the railroads start talking about lower wages before every possible means of meeting the emergency in other ways has been given at least a fair trial, labor would be less willing to coöperate than if it could be conclusively demonstrated that there was no alternative.

Heads Committee.

R. H. Aishton is chairman of the advisory committee of the Association of Railway Executives, which is arranging the tentative pooling plan. The other members are Alfred P. Thom, general counsel for the railroads; W. W. Atterbury, E. G. Bucklin, J. J. Bernet, P. E. Crowley, H. R. Cole, L. A. Downs, Carl Gray, Hale Holden, and Fairfax Harrison. Subcommittees are handling accounting, traffic, and legal details.

After it is finally whipped into shape and accepted by the association the plan will be presented to the commission. This, according to the commission's decision in the 15 per cent case, must occur not later than Dec. 1.

Mr. Aishton was reflected president of the American Railway association yesterday. Other officers reflected were: M. J. Gormley, executive vice president; W. G. Besler, first vice president; Hale Holden, second vice president; Alfred P. Thom, general counsel, and H. J. Forster, secretary and treasurer.

OILS LEAD WAY IN BRISK CURB MARKET UPTURN

New York, Nov. 4.—(AP)—The Curb market moved forward briskly in the late trading today, with the oil shares smoothing the way. Utilities and miscellaneous industrials and specialties also recorded substantial gains.

Humble led the oils with a 6 point advance, boosting the price to 59¾. This issue is controlled by Standard of New Jersey, and moves somewhat widely at times, owing to a small floating supply. Gulf and Standard of Nebraska pushed up 2 points, and Standard of Indiana and International Petroleum gained nearly a point.

In the utilities, Electric Bond and Share moved up a point in active trading, and American Gas and Electric gained nearly 2.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 4.—Net profits of the Paramount Publix corporation for the first nine months of 1931 are estimated by the company at $7,293,000 and for the September quarter at $1,500,000. These earnings are equal to $2.33 a share and 50 cents, respectively. They compare with net of $13,546,000, or $4.60 a share, for the first nine months last year, and $5,105,000, or $1.61 a share, for the corresponding three months of 1930.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 4.—Stocks of corporations in line to profit from the current recovery in agricultural prices carried the banner in a brisk little rally on the share exchange this afternoon. International Harvester assumed the leadership of the group, with Case Threshing Machine and the big mail order issues, Sears Roebuck and Montgomery Ward, joining in the "push." Two and three point gains were the rule throughout the section.

Enthusiasm for shares of these corporations was coincident with and largely the result of the new bulge in wheat prices out Chicago way. Bidding waxed quite lively in the last thirty minutes or so and some of the beneficiaries succeeded in registering new highs for the movement.

The buying movement spread through the entire list and the more active stocks of virtually every department closed at their best prices of the day. Due to the belated start of the upswing, however, the total sales of the day were not much in excess of 1,500,000 shares, but observers were inclined to view this itself as a reassuring factor, holding that with fundamental conditions showing no more radical change for the better than they are, an overzealous bull movement might come a-cropper.

Brokers Advise Caution.

The tenor of brokerage house counsel for several days has been to take things cautiously until it is seen just how much basis there may be for all the current predictions of better things "just around the corner." Many veteran observers are convinced that the market is destined to bump its October bottoms before it goes much higher in spite of the impressive performances the list has been putting on for the last week.

Something of this attitude was reflected in the earlier dealings today. The start was uncertain enough and before the end of the first hour definite reactionary tendencies were at

Bright Spots in Business

CHICAGO.—The investment securities market was cheered by the speedy oversubscription which met the public offering by a banking syndicate headed by the First Union Trust and Savings Bank and the Guaranty Company of New York of $5,000,000 state of Missouri 4 per cent highway bonds, dated Nov. 1, 1931, and maturing $1,000,000 each Nov. 1 from 1948 to 1952, inclusive.

CHICAGO.—Several hundred men will be back at work by the end of the week in plants of the International Harvester company, which has resumed active operations in all of its United States and Canada factories. Wages range from 10 to 20 per cent under former rates.

GADSDEN, Ala.—Officials of the Gulf States Steel company announced operations in all departments of the plant here will be resumed next Monday. The plant will continue at fifty per cent capacity. For some time many departments have been shut down while others were working on reduced schedules.

BREVARD, N. C.—After standing idle for almost a year, the Carr Lumber company at Fisgah Forest has resumed operations and placed 200 men at work in the mill and in the woods.

DETROIT.—The Graham Paige Motors corporation reports October retail sales as the largest of any month since June. Sales in October exceeded for the first time this year the corresponding month of 1930 with a gain of 16 per cent.

HARRISBURG, Pa.—Marked improvement in the anthracite fields and continued near capacity operation in the textile industry noted by the bureau of employment of the state department of labor and industry.

MILWAUKEE.—Unfilled orders of the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company as of Oct. 31 totaled $8,101,000, a slight increase over $7,915,000 reported as of Sept. 30.

FOREIGN ISSUES FEATURE BROAD BOND ADVANCE

New York, Nov. 4.—(AP)—The bond market staged a broad advance today as trading increased. Many of the widest gains were scored by foreign issues.

Argentine obligations were particularly strong, the net gains in the issue of the national government ranged from fractions to 5 points, which was the advance in the 6s of 1962. City of Buenos Aires 6s of 1955 closed 8 points higher at 55, but the 6s of April and October, 1960, dropped 10 and 5 points respectively. The turnover in these issues was much larger than most foreign obligations. United Kingdom 5½s of 1937 were unusually active and steady.

United States government loans were quiet but strong until the second half of the session, when some of their gains proved temporary as activity increased.

100 Nebraska Banks Make Credit Pool Subscriptions

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 4.—(AP)—More than 100 Nebraska bankers, meeting here today, subscribed $1,031,865 to bond gold notes of the National Credit corporation, the $500,000,000 credit pool. Wyoming banks, grouped with Nebraska banks in district two, did not report today. The appointment of the two states, based on capital and surplus of all banks, is $4,531,900 of which Nebraska is to raise $3,821,000, and Wyoming $710,900.

BAR SILVER UP QUARTER CENT; NEAR 1931 HIGH

New York, Nov. 4.—(AP)—A fresh rise in the price of bar silver occurred today. The metal in the New York market advanced a quarter of a cent to 21¾ cents an ounce, the highest since the year's high of 21⅝ cents was reached last March.

Since Great Britain suspended the gold standard in September there has been considerable speculation in the form of long purchases of silver against short sales of sterling. The British action also ended Indian government sales of silver, since it removed the necessity of supporting the rupee.

An additional favorable factor has been strong trade buying of silver, both in the United States and in London, on the general principle that the price had seen its worst.

Says Economies Increase Railroad Earning Power

Addressing 150 investment bankers and railroad officials yesterday, John W. Barriger said the railroads of this country had cut operation cost to such an extent that if they could get back only one-half of the traffic lost during the last two years they could show as much net income available for stock distribution as in 1929. Barriger is vice president of International Carriers, Ltd.

London Stocks Irregular; Government Bonds Firmer

LONDON, Nov. 4.—(AP)—The stock exchange showed somewhat irregular tendencies today, although trading was not active. Government bonds were inclined to harden on improvement of the pound sterling, oil shares were weak on the passing of some dividends and transatlantics were dull, awaiting news from Wall street.

Expect Trial to Bring Out Cost of Youngstown Suit

Cleveland, O., Nov. 4.—(AP)—First definite information on costs of the legal fight to enjoin the Youngstown Sheet and Tube-Bethlehem Steel merger is expected Friday when hearings are resumed here before Commissioner John T. Scott of Cleveland. Shortly before hearing recessed tonight until Friday testimony was given that Luther Day, Cleveland attorney, was in possession of an expense account. With Hart Chamberlin, Chicago attorney, he will be called before the commission to present his estimate of costs, which speculation has placed as high as $1,000,000.

Seiberling Sees Business as Now in Swing Upward

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 4.—(AP)—F. A. Seiberling, president of an Akron, O., tire and rubber company, said here today he believed that "right now we are in the process of experiencing a swing upward" in business. "There is distinct evidence of this present improvement," he said, adding that in the tire industry the volume of August sales this year was 42 per cent greater than for August a year ago.

Woolworth Company Sales in October $26,149,841

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 4.—F. W. Woolworth company reports October sales of $26,149,841, compared with $26,423,127 in the month last year, a decline of 1 per cent. For the first ten months sales amounted to $220,947,039, against $222,884,549 in the period last year, a decrease of .8 per cent.

REALTORS MAY NAME KIMBARK AS PRESIDENT

Nominating Committee Is Appointed.

BY AL CHASE.

Unless the unexpected happens, D. Avery Kimbark will be the next president of the Chicago Real Estate board. This was intimated last night following the announcement at the regular monthly meeting of the realtors that the annual nominating committee had been named by the board of directors. Four former presidents and five members at large comprise the committee which will nominate the officers and directors for 1932.

D. AVERY KIMBARK [Wallinger Photo.]

The past presidents are: Frank C. Hoyne, S. Charles Iversen, Edward S. Judd, and John R. Magill. The members at large are: Fred W. Anderson, Grover C. Elmore, J. L. Hess, Henry George Slavik, and Henry G. Zander. Jr. Paul Steinbrecher is the alternate appointed for the group of past presidents on the committee and Lester W. Porter for the members at large.

The nominating committee will meet shortly and select a chairman and make their nominations on Dec. 2. The annual election will be held on Wednesday, Dec. 16. Mr. Kimbark has been in the real estate business on the west side for many years, having his office at 1571 Ogden avenue. He has been a vice president of the realty board.

Farr Made Chairman.

Newton C. Farr, former president of the Chicago Real Estate board, was named chairman of the brokerage division of the National Association of Real Estate boards at an executive session yesterday. He succeeds Max Hamm of Detroit.

Title to the two and a half story residence at 5815 Sheridan road, with 100 feet of frontage extending east to the lake shore, has been conveyed by master in chancery deed by Myron S. Willens to the Northern Trust company, trustee for the estate of James K. Offield, for $118,531. The property originally was purchased for $140,000, of which $40,000 was cash, for use by the Edgewater Athletic club. This was the old Offield residence and as a result of foreclosure proceedings has been bought back by the former owners.

Buys Sheridan Road Corner.

Lawrence E. Dittmar, real estate dealer, who lives at 5254 Melrose street, has purchased the southeast corner of Sheridan road and Irving Park boulevard from Roger E. Williams of Roger E. Williams & Co., real estate, for an undisclosed consideration, subject to a first mortgage of $186,000. The property fronts 105 feet on Sheridan road and 150 feet on Irving Park boulevard.

It is improved with a three story building containing four stores, 21 flats and six offices. The corner store is occupied by what is claimed to be one of the finest Thompson restaurants in Chicago. Mr. Dittmar gave in part payment his summer home on Volts lake, in Kenosha county, Wis., comprising 2.15 acres, and valued at $55,000. Matteson & Veirup, Inc., were brokers.

U. S. Gold Stocks Show Gain of $9,988,200 for Day

New York, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Gold stocks of the United States continued to increase today, the net result of the day's transactions showing a gain of $9,988,200. Stocks of the metal earmarked for foreign account showed a decrease of $3,900,000, while there was received by import $1,177,000 from India and $600,000 from Canada. In addition to these transactions, reported by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, receipt of $7,500,000 at San Francisco from Japan was reported. The day's exports amounted to $3,188,800 and included two interesting withdrawals, $80,000 to England and $3,003,800 to Turkey. Other withdrawals from export were $100,000 to Holland and $5,000 to Switzerland.

Top yesterday, $6.35; average, $5.40.
Estimated receipts at Chicago tomorrow: Cattle, 6,000; hogs, 26,000; sheep, 20,000.

A buying wave on eastern account swept cattle prices to new high levels and boosted the hog average to the highest point since last Friday on yesterday's session. Local interests held back in hopes of putting up some cheap droves near the close, but the supply of both cattle and hogs dwindled rapidly under brisk competition among eastern buyers, and large and small local packers had to hustle to keep from running short of stock at the end of the day. There was a good clean up, and some choice grades of hogs were being held off in hopes of a $5.00 top today.

The advance in prices carried farther down into the list when local buyers realized that the supply was below requirements of the trade. An advance estimate of only 6,000 head for today added zest to the late trade and closing prices were highest of the day. Prime 1,268@1,363 lb beeves from Iowa and South Dakota reached $12.00, putting a new top on the market, which goes back to last January for a higher mark. Early in January top steers sold up to $13.75, and the top last December was up to $14.75.

Cattle receipts at the leading markets this week are running smallest since the last week of September and 20 per cent smaller than two weeks ago. The 20 leading markets have decreased 33,000 head in three days. Gains of 25c were general in the cattle market yesterday, both steers and yearlings showing the full strength. Butcher stock was not so active and showed little improvement in price. Calves advanced 25@50c.

Hogs Are Bid $5.00

Hogs weighing 210@260 lbs. were bid $5.00 for today's delivery on the "to arrive" market. Little change was noted in the futures trade. January light were bid $4.50. The same bid was made on December and January medium and heavy grades, and some offers were down to $5.00. March mediums were offered at $6.20 and heavy grades were offered at $6.00.

Outsiders were in the market for the largest numbers of hogs this season. In three days eastern packers have purchased 28,000 head, or more than 25 per cent of receipts at Chicago. A week ago shippers were buying only 17 per cent of Chicago receipts and at this time in 1930 only 19 per cent went to shippers. Light weights led the advance and closing sales were highest of the day and showed gains of as much as 20@25c compared with the low spot early Tuesday.

The extreme top reached $4.90 late in the day and the general average moved up 10c to $4.70, highest since Friday. Large local packers swung into the market in midseason, with smaller houses competing with eastern buyers carrying late orders. Packing grades were scarce and moved up 10@15c. The range of prices narrowed again, the bulk of good grades of hogs selling at $4.50@4.80.

Lambs Decline Again.

Fat lambs were subjected to another drubbing yesterday and losses of 25c were general when supplies exceeded expectations and stood large for this time of the year. Offerings at leading points were largest for this season in recent years, but a big share of offerings consisted of medium flesh range stock that went to packers and feeder buyers at $4.00@4.80. Choice grades of fat lambs were sorted at $5.75@6.00, city butchers paying up to $6.35 for their selections. Feeding lambs are in good demand, but the supply exceeds requirements and only the very best are eligible to $4.35. Some inferior grades available as low as $3.00@3.75 are attracting more attention from "bargain hunters."

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—(AP)—COTTONSEED OIL—Bleachable closed net unchanged to 4 points lower today. Sales were twenty-six contracts, equivalent to 3,900 bris. Easiness of land and ideal cotton weather were depressing factors. The grain strength had little influence. Crude oil was steady, at 4c in the southeast and the valley and 3.75c in Texas. Bleachable spot closed at 4.85c, December 4.95c, March 5.08c, and May 5.17c. There were no sales in the prime summer yellow contract with closing prices as follows: Spot, 4.85c; December, 4.80c; March, 4.95c; May, 5.00c.

Why pay more than Household's low rate?

The Nationally known Household Loan Plan offers cash loans of $50 to $300 to husbands and wives at reasonable rates.

Household's rate on all loans above $100 is almost one-third lower than the maximum permitted by the small-loan law. We voluntarily established this low rate in 1929, and our customers have benefited ever since. This rate remains the same until the loan is paid off. It does not increase as the unpaid balance decreases.

For example:

The average monthly cost of a $200 loan, repaid in 20 equal monthly payments, is $2.63. This is the lowest cost in Chicago.

Commonwealth Customers Pay LESS for LOANS

$2.93 is the average Monthly Cost of a $225 loan under COMMONWEALTH'S Reduced Rate. This allows 25 months for repayment. There is no lower cost than this in Chicago.

THE personal property which nearly every family owns and the signature of husband and wife enable one to secure any amount up to $300 quickly and easily.

THERE ARE NO fees or deductions. You may take 25 months or pay all or part sooner. Interest, at the Reduced Rate, is charged only while you keep the money.

AUTOMOBILES FOR SALE.

TODAY IS ECONOMY DAY AT STUDEBAKER

Lower prices—bigger trade-in allowance on your old car—better terms—and 5 days' driving trial with each sale!

STUDEBAKER CABRIOLET, 1929 Commander 8 convertible coupe, with a roomy rumble seat. This is one of the sportiest cars you have ever seen. Has wire wheels, side mounts, and many extras. The motor was just properly broken in. Special for $595.

CADILLAC SEDAN, 1927, model 314 that was only used evenings and Sundays for pleasure purposes so it will give new car satisfaction today. The finish, upholstery and tires are A-1. Has a sweet running motor. $445.

CHANDLER SEDAN. Recent Royal 8 that really looks and runs like a brand new car. Has a wealth of extras. Special for $295.

CHEVROLET COACH, 1930 that was oiled and greased every 500 miles by its original owner. Now it looks and runs as though it had never been driven a mile. Very fully equipped. Priced at $345 but worth twice this figure.

HUPMOBILE SEDAN, 1930 Custom 8 with wire wheels, side mounts, metal tire covers, driving light, trunk, etc. This beautiful Hupp was driven only a few months, and now it will satisfy the most exacting buyer. Every detail is still in the original new condition. Cost over $2,500 a short time ago. Now $985.

MARQUETTE COUPE. Late model. Here is one of the snappiest looking cars of its kind in Chicago. It has sparkling performance and every essential extra. A remarkable bargain at our reduced price of $385.

STUDEBAKER COMMANDER. Free wheeling Str. 8 Brougham. It was owned by an official of this company for a short time and checked over every day by our head mechanic. Result is, no one could distinguish it from a brand new car. Has wire wheels, side mounts, driving light, trunk, shock absorbers, etc. $785.
